TRAIN STRIKE POSTPONED

IT'S THE NEAREST THING TO A TURKISH BATH

Kennedy Wins Time To Boost Authority

. . . 'FREEZE' ACCEPTED UNTIL 29TH

Washington (AP)—A nationwide railroad strike was postponed Wednesday 8 hours before it was set to begin. President Kennedy won time to arm himself with authority to meet the threat if it arises again.

The railroads and on-train unions agreed to freeze any rule changes or strike notice until July 29 to permit a new study of their 4-year-old dispute on which Kennedy can base legislative proposals designed to settle the issues.

To Congress

Kennedy said he will send his recommendations, and the report by a special 6-man subcommittee of the labor-management advisory committee, to Congress on July 22.

This would put Congress on a tight one-week schedule if any new authority is needed to prevent a new strike threat.

It was a personal victory for the President who had worked most of the day to head off what seemed like an almost certain shutdown after the unions rejected a proposal he made Tuesday to submit the dispute to compulsory arbitration by U.S. Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg

Principle

The unions said they rejected that route because of a "matter of deepest principle," although they said Goldberg was about the best arbitrator available.

Kennedy announced the agreement personally in a brief and unheralded appearance before television cameras and radio microphones at 2:20 p.m. CST. It took him little over a minute to make his nationally broadcast statement.

It was the climax of a day of intense activity at the White House and in the government agencies that would have to deal with any strike. Negotiators for both sides remained available for call by the President on 30 minutes notice after the unions had delivered their turndown — and the railroads their acceptance—of the arbitration proposal at 10 a.m.

Conferred

The President conferred with several of his Democratic congressional leaders and with government officials before finally calling the two sides together again at the White House at 2 p.m.

At 2:18 p.m. White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger told newsmen "the President will be out here in one minute." It took a little longer for him to arrive at the White House reception room. Then, looking and speaking solemnly, he made his announcement.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson listened from a corridor.

"In view of the unique and all-important nature of this labor-management dispute," Kennedy said he had asked for a new government review by a subcommittee headed by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

Consultation

It will undertake, he said, "immediately in full consultation with the parties, a comprehensive review and report limited to the facts and issues in this case and the respective positions of the parties."

Kennedy said, as result of his talks with congressional leaders, he was asking the parties to withhold any rules changes or strike notice until July 29 "to permit appropriate consideration of the matter." He added that there was an "understanding that no further such request for a continuance will be made by this administration."

He hsted on the subcommittee which will conduct the study with Wirtz: Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges, vice chairman; Joseph Block, board chairman of Inland Steel, Chicago; George Harrison, AFL-CIO vice president and long-time president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks; AFL-CIO President George Meany; Stuart T. Saunders, board chairman of the Norfolk and Western Railroad.

No Strike

In conclusion, Kennedy said: "The railroads and unions have accepted this proposal and there will be no strike this evening."

J. E. Wolfe, chairman of the railroad negotiating committee, said it is the carriers' understanding that the dispute will be settled one way or another by July 29.

He said the railroad and union negotiators will hold a preliminary meeting with Wirtz Thursday to review the facts and issues, but he added:

"I do not think further collective bargaining is contemplated."

Wolfe said the carriers accepted the proposal reluctantly. He said they did so because "private rights must yield to the public interest."

Parole Board Asks Tests Of Pen Editor

. . . HEARING CONTINUED

State Parole Board members balked at granting freedom to 31-year-old Kenneth C. Wells, editor of the Penitentiary newspaper, in his second try for a parole from a 12-year sentence for rape.

Wells' hearing was continued for 30 days until the board could be furnished with a psychological evaluation on the man.

When University of Nebraska representatives noted that the normal NU testing services were too overloaded to permit examination of Wells within the 30-day period, Institutions Director George Morris—who appeared during Wells' hearing — offered the services of the Southeast Mental Health Clinic's psychologist, William Zimmerman.

Sentenced in 1953

Wells was originally sentenced in Lancaster District Court in July, 1953, for raping a Lincoln woman after she stepped from a bus at 33rd and W

He began his sentence at the Reformatory but escaped in September, 1953. When he was recaptured a month later, he was transferred to the Penitentiary and a one-year concurrent term for escape added.

Wells' first parole was granted in April, 1959, but was revoked after he was charged with debauching a 13-year-old Omaha girl. He was sent to the Norfolk State Hospital after pleading guilty to being a sexual psychopath, later transferred to the Lincoln State Hospital, and in April, 1961, returned to finish his sentence at the Penitentiary.

The Board was notified that Omaha District Judge Patrick Lynch issued an order of discharge from the State Hospital for Wells last week.

The Omahan will complete his term at the Penitentiary in May, 1964.

Another 31-year-old inmate, appearing before the board after spending more than 13 years in almost continuous imprisonment, was granted a parole effective Sept. 1.

Raymond Tapia, Denver, originally was sentenced to the Penitentiary in March, 1952, for 7 years for an Omaha robbery.

He later was sentenced to an additional 7-year term for his active participation in the 1955 Penitentiary riots. A Lancaster District Court jury found him guilty of second degree arson in connection with the burning of a shop building at the institution.

Tapia attempted to escape from the Penitentiary in September, 1960, with 9 other inmates and was given another one-year term.

NEW SHRINE BOSS SEEKS YOUNG MEN

Chicago (AP) — Harold C. Close, newly elected imperial potentate of the Shrine, said Wednesday he will try to encourage young men to join the Shrine and to increase Shrine membership generally.

He said the Shrine has a membership problem because young men are spending more years in school and meeting military obligations before joining organizations.

Close, elected at a business meeting of the 89th imperial council session of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Mystic Shrine of North America, is a member of Sphinx Temple, Hartford, Conn.

Illia Would Cancel Oil, Gas Contracts

. . . WITH FOREIGNERS

Cruz Del Eje, Argentina (AP) —Dr. Arturo Illia, the country doctor who led in last Sunday's presidential election, is prescribing cancellation of foreign oil and gas drilling contracts in treatment of Argentina's economic ills.

U.S. firms hold most of these contracts. They include Esso (Standard Oil of New Jersey), American Oil, Union Oil and the Tennessee Gas and Transmission Co. Dutch and Italian companies also have helped in the development of Argentine fields.

"We are not anti-Yankee," Dr. Illia told the Associated Press Wednesday in an interview in his consulting room at Cruz Del Eje, in the Cordoba hills. "We only want to be respected as a sovereign government and have things done in broad daylight . . ."

Benefitted Few

But the 62-year-old physician-politician expressed belief that the contracts, signed since 1958, "were born with the sense they would be annulled," and that they have benefited some merchants and officials rather than the country as a whole.

As a rule the foreign companies sell their output to Argentina's state oil monopoly, Yacimentos Petroliferos Fiscales, for a stipulated contract price in the well-heads.

This process has been in dispute for months. Critics have charged it would be cheaper for Argentina to import oil. Oil men deny it. A typical contract is Esso's, which assumed all risks of exploration and development and sells its oil at $10 a cubic meter at the well-head. This same oil, the company said in a paid advertisement last December, would cost Argentina $16 F.O.B. Venezuela

Dr. Illia indicated that if he becomes Argentina's 29th president the contracts will be nullified even before launching of an economic study in depth. He said foreign capital will still be welcome, "but only on consideration that it comes in legally and not by the back door."

The standard bearer of the moderately leftist Popular Radical Party still faces a test in the Argentine electoral college July 31. He won 25% of the popular vote in leading a 9-man field. But 51% was required.

Installment Selling Measure Amended

. . . TO EXCLUDE RECOVERY

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Wednesday amended the proposed new installment sales act to exclude principal and merchandise from recovery under legal action challenging contracts enacted under the unconstitutional law.

The amendment also provides that any legal action must be filed within 30 days after the bill becomes law.

Then, in a surprise move, lawmakers accepted for introduction two new bills, one of which completely alters interest rates which may be charged by banks for personal loans.

Deadline Reduced

The other reduces from 4 years to one year the deadline for lawsuits challenging contracts signed under invalid time-sales acts.

Both new measures, offered by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, were placed on general file without a public hearing.

All 3 actions grew out of the recent State Supreme Court ruling which declared the 1959 installment sales act unconstitutional.

Some $400 million in time sales paper has been jeopardized by the court action, Sen. Dale Payne of Papillion told lawmakers.

'Black Day'

"I can't paint the picture dark enough," Sen. F. O. Gottschalk of Columbus declared. "It is a black day for Nebraska."

Sen. Michael Russillo of Omaha proposed the amendment to LB811, which re-enacts the 1959 law except for rate sections which the court found objectionable.

The amendment is necessary, he said, to "get some of this money moving again. It is for the benefit of the state and its economy."

Under the provision, those who sue may collect interest and time-sales charges, but would not be entitled to full recovery of principal or merchandise.

"No one is entitled to a windfall because the Legislature made a mistake in 1959," Sen. William Brandt of Unadilla insisted.

Recovery of principal and merchandise would "bankrupt most of the merchants, especially the small ones," Payne said.

Amendment Challenged

Carpenter challenged the amendment, suggesting that it is a means to protect those who have written usurious time sales paper by "taking them off the hook . . . after they have extracted their pound of flesh."

New Bills

The new Carpenter bills:

—LB814, removing the present $3,000 limitation on personal loans by banks; providing that 18% interest may be charged on the first $2,500, 15% on the next $1,000, 12% on the next $1,000 and 9% above $4,500.

At present, 18% may be charged on the first $1,000, with 12% above $1,000.

—LB815, reducing the time limitation for suits from 4 years to one year.

Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth said he was "apprehensive" about placing a new bill which represents "a considerable increase in the cost of money to the public" on general file without a public hearing.

LB814 was accepted on a 31-4 vote; LB815 was introduced on a 29-1 count.

MAJ. OBACZ . . . in West with family.

Polish Pilot Flees With Wife, 2 Kids

Berlin (AP) — A Polish air force major in full uniform crammed his wife and two young sons into a tiny trainer plane Wednesday and streaked across the rooftops to freedom in West Berlin.

Flying 110 miles from Nadarsycе, Poland, at a height of only 160 feet to keep under the radar screen, Maj. Richard Obacz, 34, landed the propeller-driven plane at the U.S. Air Force Base at Tempelhof Airport in downtown Berlin.

Then the happy pilot jumped out of the plane, ran up to the base commander and planted a kiss on each cheek of the astonished American.

Considered

A U.S. spokesman said his plea for asylum is being considered. Since Berlin is traditionally a haven for refugees from the East there is little doubt that it will be granted.

Refugees have used many ingenious methods to get over the wall into West Berlin. They have swum, tunneled, rammed a truck through the wall, hijacked a train and come by boat.

But Obacz, his handsome wife Mary, 27, and the two boys, Lestow, 9, and Kristopher, 5, were the first group to get to West Berlin by plane.

Stocky

The sun-tanned major, stocky with sharp Slavic features, ruffled the hair of his younger son as he talked to reporters at a news conference alongside his plane at the busy airport. His buxom, blue-eyed wife smiled broadly, but had nothing to say.

She still looked somewhat bewildered. When her husband loaded her and the kids into the plane at Nadarsycе he told them they were going to visit relatives at Stettin. He said he was taking the plane because he wanted to make up flying time.

The major was in the pilot's cockpit. His family was crammed into the pupil's cockpit of the trainer. "The two boys were under the instrument board and it was a bit of a squash," he said.

Polish Plane

The plane was a PS-8 Bies, a Polish-made trainer.

Instead of heading for Stettin, on the Baltic Coast, he turned the plane westward and gunned it toward the Polish-East German border 50 miles away. From there it was only another 60 miles to West Berlin.

"I knew where the air defenses were so I had no trouble avoiding them," he said.

Saw No Others

Obacz said he saw no other aircraft during his flight, but heard some on his radio.

As he approached the American base he heard the control tower trying to talk to him. "I took no notice, I couldn't understand, anyway," he said. He spoke through an interpreter.

The little plane made 3 passes to get down. The second almost succeeded but he decided to pull away for another try. The third was successful

Loud Mobs Follow Greeks In London

London (AP) — Loud boos, hissing and the Nazi cry of "sieg heil" from demonstrators greeted Queen Elizabeth II and visiting King Paul of Greece Wednesday night when they arrived at a gala theatrical performance.

The British queen looked astonished at the dense hostile crowd—something she has never encountered before. But she did not falter as she left her car and walked into the Aldwych Theater with King Paul.

A moment later there were even louder boos for Greek Queen Frederika, who arrived with Prince Philip in a second car. Earlier there had even been booing when Queen-mother Elizabeth arrived.

Aimed at Greeks

The demonstration was clearly aimed not at Queen Elizabeth, but at her royal Greek guests.

The demonstrators demand the release of what they call political prisoners in Greece. Earlier in the day, Mrs. Betty Ambatielos, British wife of an imprisoned Greek Communist, made her second attempt to intercept the visiting monarchs. Police lifted her struggling out of the crowd and took her away. But they released her once the royal visitors were out of sight.

That was Wednesday morning. The demonstrators were quiet Wednesday afternoon and then let loose Wednesday night.

Umbrellas

As the royal cars stopped at the theater canopy, black umbrellas covered by sheeting bearing slogans were put up in the crowd. One banner read: "Restore human rights in Greece."

Police stood shoulder to shoulder before the crowd. Sometimes they linked arms. Mounted police were held ready just around the corner in Drury Lane.

Queen Elizabeth and King Paul were followed by the chanting of "sieg heil" and "fascist swine" as they stepped into the theater foyer.

Rare Incident

Rarely can a British queen have witnessed such a reception from her own subjects in her capital.

King Paul was smiling as he walked up the theater stairs with the queen, who was wearing a flashing diamond tiara and a white fur cape over her cream lace and taffeta gown. She wore, too, the Grand Cross of the Greek Order of the Redeemer, which King Paul gave her Tuesday.

Prince Philip seemed amused by the demonstrations. He stood for a moment on the sidewalk at the theater entrance, staring at the crowd and smiling.

Murderers

Organizers of the demonstration were the self-styled "Committee of 100 Against Tyranny" which demands the liberation of what they insist are nearly 1,000 political prisoners in Greece. The Greek government insists the prisoners are in jail for such crimes as murder and treason.

Mrs. Ambatielos has been one of the leaders.

Mrs. Ambatielos said she hoped to see the Greek Prime Minister Panayotis Pipinelis Thursday to put the case for her husband, Tony, whom she claims has been kept in jail for 16 years. The meeting was arranged by Stanley Awbery, a Labor Party member of parliament.

"Mr. Awbery has to phone the embassy Thursday just to make sure the prime minister has not changed his mind about the meeting," she said.

25 Signatures

She claimed she had 25 signatures of member of parliament on a petition to free her husband. They were mostly those of rank-and-file members of the Labor Party.

King Paul made light of Tuesday night's incidents in his speech at an afternoon luncheon.

Referring to the way police —the largest security force assembled in Britain in peacetime—turned back wave after wave of demonstrators trying to march on Buckingham Palace as he and Queen Frederika dined with Queen Elizabeth, King Paul said:

"We were deeply impressed and wish to express our heartfelt thanks for the most impressive display which brushed aside every minor attempt by irresponsible people to cause misunderstanding between our two peoples."

BEECHER . . . goes to work every day.

'Health Age' Keeps 'Old Man' At Work

Reading, Pa. (AP) — When a man reaches 90 it's expected that he'll call it a working day and let others get on with the job.

But to George H. Beecher, who entered the nonagenarian circle last May 1, that doesn't make sense.

Beecher is a machinist, still going to work every day for at least 4 hours, and his boss, Donald M. Davis, president of the Davis Auto Equipment Co., says you'll go a long way to find a better man.

Lives Alone

Beecher, a widower for 30 years, not only stays on the payrolls but lives alone, looks after himself, and is a model of self-reliance.

"A man's health age, not his calendar age, determines his ability," he says.

"I don't want to sit around and gaze at the sun and stars. Besides, work keeps me out of mischief."

Sleeps Late

Since he works in the afternoons, Beecher has perfected a program for personal well-being that suits him to a "T." He seldom goes to bed before midnight, and he enjoys sleeping late in the morning.

If there is any formula for long life, Beecher believes, it is based on a proper diet. He says:

"Forty years ago I decided I was going to eat to live, not eat to die."

No Sweets

To that end, he resolved to eat no more than his body needed to keep fit. He touches no pork, white sugar, pepper and salt, no condiments at all. Carrying about 135 pounds on his 5-foot, 7-inch frame, he has never had a weight problem.

"I take a lot of vitamins as well, and I believe they are one of the chief reasons why I am never sick," he said.

For 10 years he ran his own automotive repair shop, making all his own parts for use in his business. He has been with the Davis Company since 1942, one of his specialties being shock absorber reconditioning.

Fantastic

"The guy's fantastic," says Davis. "You should see the work he does. He does some things the big companies can't do for themselves."

Now and then, Beecher spares the time to relax a little, taking a walk, doing a bit of reading, or enjoying visits with his son, Luther, a granddaughter, grandson and two great-grandchildren.

Cuba Sends Out Potential Subversives

Washington (AP) — The State Department reported Wednesday that 15 to 20 persons from Cuba — potential subversive agents it called them—flew to various Caribbean countries in the past several weeks.

A State Department spokesman said the persons, presumably Cubans, got to San Jose, Costa Rica, and other Caribbean capitals by traveling through British-owned Grand Cayman Island.

He said the U.S. government has called this to the attention of the British — who are supposed to be joining the United States in its effort to isolate the Red Castro regime—but has as yet received no response.

The spokesman, Press Officer Richard I. Phillips, said:

Three Russian-built Ilyushin Cuban Airline planes landed at Grand Cayman in the last several weeks and discharged some 15 to 20 persons who transferred to non-Cuban regularly scheduled commercial airliners bound for other Caribbean points.

"The presumption is that they are potential subversive agents," he said.

The Cuban travelers "are at liberty now," he said, and U.S. authorities do not know just where they are.

Those who landed at the San Jose airport apparently were admitted to Costa Rica in routine order by local authorities who were unaware of their original departure point.

KHRUSHCHEV . . . leads crowd in welcoming Janos Kadar, left.

Nik Pulls Out All Stops To Hail Top Hungarian

Moscow (AP) — Premier Khrushchev pulled out all stops Wednesday to pay conspicuous honor to Hungarian Premier Janos Kadar, his ally in the struggle to prevent Chinese domination of the world Communist movement.

As Chinese and Soviet negotiators battled hot ideological issues in the cool Lenin hills, Khrushchev—all smiles—met Kadar at the train, reviewd a guard of honor with him and gave televised publicity to a unity session the two held in the Kremlin.

Neither made any public mention of the showdown battle going on a few miles away, or that the Chinese had publicly injected their demand for equal rights into the quarrel.

Parties Equal

A Peking radio statement asserted, for the first time, that "the Communist Party of China and the Communist Party of the Soviet Union are equal."

The Chinese have always previously paid lip service, at least, to the theory that the Russians ranked first because they were the direct heirs of Communism's oracle, V. I. Lenin.

Their last public comment on relative party status was in 1960 when they joined 80 other Communist parties in saying:

"The Communist and Workers parties unanimously declare that the Communist Party of the Soviet Union has been and remains the universally recognized vanguard of the world Communist movement, being the most experienced and steeled contingent of the international Communist movement."

But times have changed, and Wednesday Peking said with a sneer that "no genuine unity can be achieved by adopting an attitude of allowing the magistrate to burn down houses while forbidding the common people even to light lamps."

The claim to full equality placed Peking in even more open opposition to Moscow—until now always the acknowledged leader—than has hitherto been the case.

Shifted

The Russians, meanwhile, shifted their public line of attack to the distaff side and brought in the wife of the French Communist Party boss, Maurice Thorez, to help.

The two major Soviet propaganda organs, Pravda and Izvestia, unleashed coordinated attacks on the Chinese delegates to the recent World Women's Congress who grimly fought the Russians at every turn during the week-long meeting.

The Chinese charged that the congress, which relentlessly pressed Khrushchev's view on global peace strategy, was run undemocratically.

"To tell the truth," the party organ Pravda said, "the Chinese delegation itself violated the democratic order, demanded the floor out of turn, violated the regulations on time allowances, and spread their materials among the delegates . . ."

Indignation

"All this could not help causing indignation among the 2,000 participants in the congress, who saw that the effort for a split was being led by the Chinese delegation themselves," it said.

The Soviet government organ Izvestia in turn published a harsh blast at the Chinese congress delegates and their Albanian supporters by Jeanette Vermeersh, Thorez' wife.

"The women's representatives participating in the congress rejected war as a means of deciding disputes between states. Differences must be settled peacefully," she wrote.

"The Chinese delegation turned out to be isolated at the congress," she added.

Harriman Limited To Ban Bargaining

Washington (AP) — W. Averell Harrimen set off for Moscow Wednesday under instructions from President Kennedy to negotiate on a nuclear test ban, but to talk only—not bargain—on other issues the Russians raise.

The undersecretary of state heads a 10-man U.S. team which, along with British negotiators, is slated to meet with Soviet negotiators in Moscow starting Monday, July 15.

Premier Khrushchev has greatly expanded the potentials of the Moscow session, originally slated as a renewal of discussions on a nuclear test ban treaty, by proposing that a partial test ban be coupled with a nonaggression pact between the NATO and Warsaw Military Alliances.

Administration sources said Kennedy told Harriman to focus on the test ban question. If the Russians raise other matters like a European nonaggression pact—and it is expected they will—Harriman was said to be under orders to listen and discuss, but not negotiate or commit. The reason is that any deal in that field would have to be agreed to by all the NATO Allies, not just the United States.

In a broader context, the Harriman trip stood out as a landmark at a time for potential change in East-West relations and as a significant probe of what foreign policy course the Kremlin intends to pursue next.

U.S. authorities combined hope for a successful outcome of the Harriman mission with caution stemming from a lack of any hard evidence of any easing in Soviet positions that have proved unacceptable to the West in the past.

Loud Mobs Follow Greeks In London

London (AP) — Loud boos, hissing and the Nazi cry of "sieg heil" from demonstrators greeted Queen Elizabeth II and visiting King Paul of Greece Wednesday night when they arrived at a gala theatrical performance.

The British queen looked astonished at the dense hostile crowd—something she has never encountered before. But she did not falter as she left her car and walked into the Aldwych Theater with King Paul.

A moment later there were even louder boos for Greek Queen Frederika, who arrived with Prince Philip in a second car. Earlier there had even been booing when Queen-mother Elizabeth arrived.

Aimed at Greeks

The demonstration was clearly aimed not at Queen Elizabeth, but at her royal Greek guests.

The demonstrators demand the release of what they call political prisoners in Greece. Earlier in the day, Mrs. Betty Ambatielos, British wife of an imprisoned Greek Communist, made her second attempt to intercept the visiting monarchs. Police lifted her struggling out of the crowd and took her away. But they released her once the royal visitors were out of sight.

First '63 Estimates:

61 Bushel Corn To Tie Record

...3rd Largest Crop Predicted

By the Associated Press

The Department of Agriculture Wednesday forecast a 1963 Nebraska corn crop of 325,862,000 bushels, a shade larger than the big 1962 yield.

The yield per acre at that rate would be 61 bushels, the same as a year ago.

It was the first estimate of the probable size of the corn crop by federal crop men this season.

With the bulk of Nebraska's winter wheat now cut, the forecasters estimated the total output will be 63,338,000 bushels or 22½ bushels an acre. This was down about two million bushels from the outlook on June 1.

Last year's corn crop amounted to 313 million bushels and was the 3rd largest in history. The 61 bushels an acre yield was the largest ever in the Cornhusker state.

If Wednesday's forecast, based on conditions July 1, were borne out the current crop would replace last year's as the 3rd largest and tie the record for per-acre productivity. There were bigger total yields in 1959 and 1960.

Forecasts for other Nebraska crops:

Oats — 30,101,000 bushels at 31 bushels an acre, down two million bushels from last year.

Barley — 3,360,000 bushels, 21 bushels an acre, down 800,000 bushels.

Rye — 2,366,000, 14 bushels an acre, down from 3,600,000 last year.

Dry beans — 1,548,000 hundred-weight and 1,800 pounds per acre, up 500,000 hundredweight from a year ago.

Sugar Beets—1,296,000 tons at 16 tons an acre, about 400,000 tons under a year ago.

The report indicated Nebraska has 2,004,000 acres of sorghums for harvest and 329,000 acres of soybeans for all purposes.

U.S. Corn Crop Expected To Top '62 Production

Washington (AP)—The Agriculture Department Wednesday forecast this year's production of corn for grain at 3,849,133,000 bushels and of wheat at 1,110,578,000 bushels.

The corn crop estimate, the first of the year, compared with 3,643,615,000 bushels last year and 3,551,952,000 for the 1957-61 average. The crop is being grown under a program offering payments and price supports to farmers reducing their feed grain plantings to help reduce surpluses.

The wheat estimate is 26,483,000 bushels more than last month's forecast of 1,084,095,000 bushels. It compares with 1,091,787,000 last year and 1,225,262,000 for the 5-year average. Wheat is being grown under acreage allotments and marketing quotas and a voluntary acreage reduction plan.

Norfolk Schools Levy Drops .11

Norfolk (UPI) — Norfolk citizens will pay less taxes to support the Norfolk public schools and junior college as a whole in 1963-64 than in the past year.

The Board of Education this week adopted its budget, increased the public schools levy .45 of a mill to 27.04, and reduced the junior college levy .56 to 3.79. This resulted in a total levy of 31.82 mills, or .11 less than a year ago.

The board adopted a budget of $891,314.63 for the public schools and certified $644,189.35 for taxation. Last year's budget was $869,630 and $599,189.35 was certified for taxation.

The board adopted a $172,204.25 budget for the junior college, compared to $171,176.75 a year ago.

The assessed valuation of the Norfolk school district is up $1,265,000 this year, which helped keep down the taxes.

Merritt Dam Completion In '63 Confirmed

. . . By Dominy

Valentine (AP)—U.S. Reclamation Commissioner Floyd Dominy has confirmed that Merritt Dam will be completed late this year making irrigation water available in the Ainsworth area in 1965.

During a visit here Dominy reported that a feasibility study of the proposed O'Neill irrigation project will be ready for the next session of Congress.

Dominy inspected the Ainsworth project and made an aerial survey of the proposed O'Neill project area. He lunched with the Valentine Chamber of Commerce, Ainsworth businessmen and Bureau of Reclamation representatives.

Merritt Dam is being built on the Snake River 25 miles southwest of Valentine. Dominy said it will start impounding water this winter.

The O'Neill project would use a dam to be built about 30 miles east of Valentine, near Norden, on the Niobrara.

Unique Window Display Depicts Early Day Cook

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Cook—Naturally, it took an optometrist to treat this town to the spectacle of its 19th-century self.

It also took a Diamond Jubilee and several hours' carving by Lincoln brother Martin. But 6 weeks' spare time helped chairman Lloyd Scherer formally open the festivities, aided by gubernatorial assistant Norman Otto. Eldon Nieman of Minnesota returned to the hometown as master of ceremonies.

Nebraska News

to Eldon D. Miller O.D. was the main makings of the miniature window wonder.

"We wanted a display different from everyone else, so months ago began looking at old photos and testing old-timers' memories," explained the Cook native. "As nearly as we could reconstruct them, these are the 17 businesses—from buggy shop to opera house—of 1898 in Cook.

Recalls Mill Fire

Father J. B. R. Miller, likewise an O.D. and "the same age as the town," shed light on such vanished landmarks as the old Robertson Mill. He recalled how it burned on April 1, 1922, as some skeptics laughed at the initial alarm as an April fool joke.

The Tuesday-Wednesday celebration, incidentally, reminded visiting Brock residents of their town's contribution to early-day Cook. A number of their flood stricken families threw in with Andrew Cook Sr. and his 4 sons soon after the Missouri Pacific started service in 1888.

Beef Replaced Cake

Replacing a 75th anniversary cake were some 1,500 pounds of beef and 84 gallons of beans as the sponsoring Commercial Club hosted a free barbecue. Even more than the anticipated 5,000 persons hiked the town's 315 population for such highlights as a mile-long parade, horseshoe tournament and square dancing.

Ambulance, Car Crash Hurts 6

Omaha (AP) — Six persons were injured, two seriously, when a car and an Army ambulance on an emergency run collided here early Wednesday.

The ambulance was rushing a youth to Offutt Air Force hospital for an emergency operation. The youth, Conrad E. Hotvedt, 18, of the radar base at the northwest outskirts of the city, was not seriously hurt and as it turned out, didn't need the operation, an appendectomy.

Severe injuries were suffered by occupants of the car, Airman Milton F. Riggs, 22, and his wife, Marjorie, 20, of Omaha.

Silent Prayers Offered By Negroes At City Hall

Omaha (AP) — Almost 100 Negroes went to Omaha's city hall Wednesday to pray in a civil rights demonstration.

Forty-five minutes later they left as quietly as they had come, but their leaders termed the demonstration a success.

The "pray-in" was the second demonstration in Omaha so far this week in protest against what Negro leaders called factor discrimination.

Monday about 140 Negroes and whites marched in front of Omaha's Sheraton-Fontenelle Hotel to protest the size of a bi-racial committee appointed by Mayor James Dworak to tackle human rights problems.

The Rev. Rudolph McNair, 40, pastor of Zion Baptist Church, and one of the leaders of both demonstrations, said the mayor's committee was just too large to accomplish anything.

The marchers called for open housing, more Negro teachers in public schools and equal job opportunities.

The Rev. Mr. McNair led the first contingent of "pray-in" demonstrators Wednesday to the office of Mayor Dworak, but the mayor was out of the city on a previously scheduled trip. Without a word the little group of about 17 began their silent prayers, some kneeling some standing with bowed heads.

A half hour later another 75 marchers, most of them Negroes, arrived by car, walked two-abreast into the city hall and up the stairway for the main demonstration.

One group, led by State Sen. Edward Danner, Nebraska's only Negro legislator, formed a long line in the city clerk's office and prayed in silence.

The other group, led by the Rev. Kelsey Jones, co-chairman with the Rev. Mr. McNair of the Citizens Co-ordinating Committee for Civil Liberties, made a turn around the balconies and then returned to take up their positions on either side of the stairway. They did not attempt to block the stairway.

Danner Read Psalms

Save for the reading of Psalms from the Bible by Sen. Danner toward the end of the demonstration, not a word was spoken by the participants, although their leaders talked quietly to newsmen.

Some of the supplicants remained kneeling throughout—and in the case of the mayor's office it was an hour and a quarter instead of the 45 minutes scheduled for the main demonstration. Many more stood with heads bowed or with eyes uplifted.

First '63 Estimates:

61 Bushel Corn To Tie Record

...3rd Largest Crop Predicted

By the Associated Press

The Department of Agriculture Wednesday forecast a 1963 Nebraska corn crop of 325,862,000 bushels, a shade larger than the big 1962 yield.

The yield per acre at that rate would be 61 bushels, the same as a year ago.

It was the first estimate of the probable size of the corn crop by federal crop men this season.

With the bulk of Nebraska's winter wheat now cut, the forecasters estimated the total output will be 63,338,000 bushels or 22½ bushels an acre. This was down about two million bushels from the outlook on June 1.

Last year's corn crop amounted to 313 million bushels and was the 3rd largest in history. The 61 bushels an acre yield was the largest ever in the Cornhusker state.

If Wednesday's forecast, based on conditions July 1, were borne out the current crop would replace last year's as the 3rd largest and tie the record for per-acre productivity. There were bigger total yields in 1959 and 1960.

Forecasts for other Nebraska crops:

Oats — 30,101,000 bushels at 31 bushels an acre, down two million bushels from last year.

Barley — 3,360,000 bushels, 21 bushels an acre, down 800,000 bushels.

Rye — 2,366,000, 14 bushels an acre, down from 3,600,000 last year.

Dry beans — 1,548,000 hundred-weight and 1,800 pounds per acre, up 500,000 hundredweight from a year ago.

Sugar Beets—1,296,000 tons at 16 tons an acre, about 400,000 tons under a year ago.

The report indicated Nebraska has 2,004,000 acres of sorghums for harvest and 329,000 acres of soybeans for all purposes.

U.S. Corn Crop Expected To Top '62 Production

Washington (AP)—The Agriculture Department Wednesday forecast this year's production of corn for grain at 3,849,133,000 bushels and of wheat at 1,110,578,000 bushels.

The corn crop estimate, the first of the year, compared with 3,643,615,000 bushels last year and 3,551,952,000 for the 1957-61 average. The crop is being grown under a program offering payments and price supports to farmers reducing their feed grain plantings to help reduce surpluses.

The wheat estimate is 26,483,000 bushels more than last month's forecast of 1,084,095,000 bushels. It compares with 1,091,787,000 last year and 1,225,262,000 for the 5-year average. Wheat is being grown under acreage allotments and marketing quotas and a voluntary acreage reduction plan.

Norfolk Schools Levy Drops .11

Norfolk (UPI) — Norfolk citizens will pay less taxes to support the Norfolk public schools and junior college as a whole in 1963-64 than in the past year.

The Board of Education this week adopted its budget, increased the public schools levy .45 of a mill to 27.04, and reduced the junior college levy .56 to 3.79. This resulted in a total levy of 31.82 mills, or .11 less than a year ago.

The board adopted a budget of $891,314.63 for the public schools and certified $644,189.35 for taxation. Last year's budget was $869,630 and $599,189.35 was certified for taxation.

The board adopted a $172,204.25 budget for the junior college, compared to $171,176.75 a year ago.

The assessed valuation of the Norfolk school district is up $1,265,000 this year, which helped keep down the taxes.

The Rev. Mr. McNair led the first contingent of "pray-in" demonstrators Wednesday to the office of Mayor Dworak, but the mayor was out of the city on a previously scheduled trip. Without a word the little group of about 17 began their silent prayers, some kneeling some standing with bowed heads.

A half hour later another 75 marchers, most of them Negroes, arrived by car, walked two-abreast into the city hall and up the stairway for the main demonstration.

One group, led by State Sen. Edward Danner, Nebraska's only Negro legislator, formed a long line in the city clerk's office and prayed in silence.

The other group, led by the Rev. Kelsey Jones, co-chairman with the Rev. Mr. McNair of the Citizens Co-ordinating Committee for Civil Liberties, made a turn around the balconies and then returned to take up their positions on either side of the stairway. They did not attempt to block the stairway.

Danner Read Psalms

Save for the reading of Psalms from the Bible by Sen. Danner toward the end of the demonstration, not a word was spoken by the participants, although their leaders talked quietly to newsmen.

Some of the supplicants remained kneeling throughout —and in the case of the mayor's office it was an hour and a quarter instead of the 45 minutes scheduled for the main demonstration. Many more stood with heads bowed or with eyes uplifted.

Always Another Day

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The name of Janet Travell, M.D., will ring a bell in the minds of most people. They will recall that she is the personal physician of President John F. Kennedy. But she is also a Washington, D.C., housewife and this part of her life is one she has not forgotten. And because of the M.D. and housewife combination, she is in a unique position to give other women a few words of helpful advice. This she does in a recent issue of the Journal of the American Medical Women's Association.

As a starter, Dr. Travell advises the housewife to scramble the work instead of finishing arduous tasks, one at a time, so as to use different sets of muscles—"The world won't come to an end if you don't finish the job in one day." Are the men listening? They, too, might profit a little from this advice. The use of different muscles might be the medical reason for not driving to the end of every job but there are other reasons, too. We like the thought that the world isn't going to end if a job isn't finished. It isn't intended to encourage laziness but overexertion is as bad for your state of mind as for the state of your body.

Mixing The Tasks

And the longer a person pushes himself, the less efficient he becomes. Thus, the work you do in excess of that you should normally be expected to do will be done with less efficiency and the entire job will suffer as a result. If you laid the chore over until the next day, you could get it done in half the time and do it better.

This is something that a lot of students come to know when the subjects get tough in the upper levels of education. After cramming for hours of an evening, they find it wise to put the books aside as they reach a saturation point, a point of diminishing return. They find that the mind can function well only for a limited period of time and that they are much better off to get a few hours sleep and start over again than to continue for too long in an unbroken grind.

Then comes the advice from Dr. Travell to cultivate rhythm of movement—"When you push a carpet sweeper, run it first on your right side, then on your left, as if to do a dance step." This one we will have to reserve pretty much for the ladies as running a carpet sweeper is, happily, out of our line of experience. We can note, however, that polishing the car calls for use of the right arm for awhile and then the left as one arm alone can't take the strain of a full wax and polish job. The alternative, of course, is a professional job for the men or a housekeeper for the ladies but this is not always the preference and prerogative of the individual.

On to more advice, this time the welcome warning to avoid hurrying. "A few minutes of rest every hour," says the good doctor, "is more likely to prevent muscle exhaustion than lying down for a couple of hours at a time after a long period of work." Hurry, of course, is a close cousin to staying on or at the job for too long a time. It comes from the creeping conviction that your work is getting away from you, that to lift your nose from the grindstone would put you hopelessly behind. For one thing, this probably isn't the case and if it is, who cares? The little time of rest throughout the day can be counted now in minutes but can be added up in years as the birthdays roll by.

Comes now a piece of advice that just about everyone ignores at one time or another—don't move objects that are too heavy for you. A lot of people think the male ego gets the man of the house into a lot of trouble on this score and sometimes it does but the woman of the house has her ego, too, and likes to give it a boost now and then.

There she is in the middle of scrubbing the kitchen floor and she thinks of how dirty it must be under the refrigerator. Maybe once or twice she lets the thought slide by without action but then she decides to do something about it. Out comes the refrigerator from its corner by virtue of muscle never intended and certainly never trained to do such work.

The strain either puts the housewife down at once or takes its toll in ways that will show up unknowingly in the future. The next words of wisdom are not to sit too long in one position. Applying her prescription for alleviating President Kennedy's back condition, she advises: "Sit in a rocking chair when you read for a long time." The advice must be good as we noticed that President Kennedy was on the golf course this week after a two-year layoff.

Paid Off For JFK

Muscle strain by the wife in her daily tasks is no trivial matter, Dr. Travell insists. Summing things up, she philosophizes: "It isn't housework that's really important. It's homemaking." Dr. Travell, it would seem, must have her own work cut out for her in putting her ideas into practice with the energized Kennedy family.

Russian-Chinese Break Is Basic

WASHINGTON—To understand the great debate now going on between the Russian and Chinese exponents of communism it might be well to go back to the 22nd party congress held in Moscow in October, 1961. The differences between the two brands of communism had started well before this, but they were brought into sharp focus in this party meeting.

Shortly before the congress, Vaycheslav Maximilianovic Molotov, then Soviet ambassador to the International Atomic Commission in Vienna, wrote a letter to party leaders in Moscow containing this significant statement: "Without adversity, without war there can be no real advance toward communism."

This highlighted the basic difference between the old die-hard Stalinists and the Khrushchev moderates. It also highlights the basic difference between the Soviet and the Chinese today. Molotov came from the old school which believed the Russian people were getting too prosperous, too forgetful of the early revolutionary principles and in effect, were drifting toward capitalism.

"Without adversity, without war," he argued, they would forget the original principles which Lenin fought for in 1917.

Molotov had been one of those early 1917 Bolsheviks, later served as a tough, stony-faced foreign minister at the San Francisco Conference which established the United Nations in 1945 and at the Paris peace conference which tried unsuccessfully to work out peace terms among the victors in 1946.

Later when Khrushchev came into power after Stalin's death, it was Molotov who kept arguing against the Khrushchev policy of giving the Russian people a higher standard of living, more housing, more consumer products. Molotov was persistent. Even when demoted to Vienna, he kept on arguing.

Finally, at the time of the 22nd party conference in October, 1961, he was summoned back to Moscow and fired. Molotov has been living in retirement in the suburbs of Moscow ever since.

But at that October conference, the Red Chinese agreed with Molotov that without adversity, without war, there can be no real advance toward communism. They walked out.

This remains the essential ideological difference between the two great communist nations.

And when you compare the Chinese economy with the Russian, you can understand why they have to believe in adversity and in the inevitability of war. Compared to the Chinese, the Russians are living in a capitalist Utopia. True, the Russians are a long way from having the luxuries of the average American. But compared to Czarist days, or the early days of Bolshevism, or the standard of living in China, the Russian economy is booming. Food last year was expensive, but, unlike China, nobody starved. The housing shortage has gradually been licked. Apartments are rationed out according to the size of the Russian family, but there is adequate housing.

To Your Good Health

Today's problem involves a particular type of baldness, and what I write about it may have little or no bearing on general loss of hair.

Dr. Molner

However, this special kind is frequent enough to bring quite a few questions. Here's one:

Dear Doctor: I have bare spots on my head that appeared only recently. I use no dye or rinses, and only mild shampoos. The spots are the size of a 50-cent piece. Can anything be done for this? — Mrs. A. B.

Possibly yes. In fact, probably yes.

The description precisely fits a condition called alopecia areata—localized loss of hair.

Two widely different approaches are employed.

The first is to look for some local disease of the scalp — fungus infections, ringworm. A dermatologist (skin specialist) is the proper specialist for this aspect.

If no such skin infection is found, then nervous tension is frequently the cause, and sedatives or tranquilizers are used.

An example of this was an attractive but highly tense office worker who was on the verge of getting a wig because of such bald spots.

The hair trouble in turn made her nerves worse.

In her case, reassurance that such things happen and are corrected, plus giving her some tranquilizers, got her nerves under control. The hair grew back normally, and she hasn't had any further trouble in that regard.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Molner: I have extremely hard calluses or "pump bumps" on each heel. How can they be removed?—MISS L. R.

The calluses formed as a result of pressure or chafing. The heels or heel straps of your shoes caused the pressure.

You can keep the area softer with a lanolin ointment. You may be able to reduce the size a bit by rubbing with a block of pumice.

Remember that if you wear the kind of shoes that make "pump bumps," new calluses will keep forming. Consider a different style.

Dear Dr. Molner: I fell heavily on the sidewalk, and a week afterward an abcess (So the doctor called it) built up. It was lanced and disappeared. Several months later it swelled up again, and another doctor drained it but said the same trouble will recur every few months, or even weeks, unless I have surgery. He says there is a sac or duct which should be removed when quiescent. Is he right? I am 82. —E. W.

Infected cysts behave just as you described. It may well be that your fall brought on the trouble, but the cyst must have been forming before then.

Your doctor gave you the right advice. Cysts can drain (either from being lanced, or the painful process of forcing a way through from pressure inside), but they then close up again, only to do the same thing all over. Surgical removal is the permanent solution.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a polyp in my nose. I'm so nervous that I couldn't have a local anesthetic for its removal and the doctor says if I am put to sleep a tube would be inserted. I gag so easily I would hate for that to be done. Is it dangerous to leave the polyp alone? It doesn't bother me at all. — J. C. L.

Not likely "dangerous," but it can grow and interfere with your breathing or with drainage from the sinuses and thus invite congestion.

Chances are that it already is causing some interference even though you do not notice it; otherwise I wonder how the doctor discovered the polyp in the first place.

A local anesthetic is simpler and more economical than a general one (being "put to sleep"), and with the help of sedation you might be surprised to find that you aren't as nervous as you think.

If you do have a general anesthetic, I can almost guarantee that you will not have the trouble you fear with the tube. It is inserted deftly and even people who have worried about gagging find it in place readily. You are worrying too much.

Dear Doctor: I recently bought my sister, with whom I live, a plastic bowl in which to feed her dog, figuring she should use it instead of one of our tableDishes. I claim that feeding a pet from our dishes is very unsanitary and not in good taste. Am I right? — M. M.

In the matter of taste, yes. I think dogs should have their own feeding bowls. Besides, it's good training for a pet to learn to eat from its own dish. As to the question of being unsanitary, I see no great danger. Tests have shown that human mouths harbor many more germs. At any rate, I think you chose a tactful way of getting the idea across.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

On Achieving

It took just two items of news to start all Nebraska breathing hard.

One was that a new electric scoreboard will grace the playing field at the University of Nebaska stadium this fall. The other was that football season tickets are selling like hot cakes.

This brought Nebraska to the heady realization that the 1963 Cornhusker football season is hardly more than 60 days off.

Cornhusker enthusiasm never really declines. It simply gets thinly papered over during the off season. It is even more so at this juncture, because Coach Devaney's hearties cracked off a 9-2 season last year. The fans are hoping for more of the same this autumn.

Nebraska football is the state's great prophylactic, its opportunity to live grandly. It is the one place we enjoy a united front, the area where we contemplate success and spurn the petty regards of mediocrity.

Politically we may be a people in knee britches and three cornered hats still trying to mint and pass Pine Tree shillings, viewing with alarm everything originating in the field of economics since 1780, but not so in football.

We wouldn't diminish the enthusiasm, the dedication and the drive that goes into the Cornhuskers one bit. But it is a wistful thought that some of the same sort of yeast be dropped into our other fields of endeavor. Growth and success are compounded of enthusiasm and hard application. Except for football we listen too much to counsels of despair. It would be nice to go for a 9-2 season in water conservation, tourism, economic diversification and education.

Regents Serve Pap

The University of Nebraska Board of Regents invited the public in and then served it a nice dish of pap. If the only thing it can say about the appropriation it now expects to get from the Legislature is what it said in an official statement this week, then we can conclude only that it has been treated with overt generosity.

Whom do the regents expect to do their fighting for them? A nicely insulting statement was issued in addition and personally from Regent Val Peterson but he neglected to back it up with any facts. The university left far out on a limb Gov. Frank Morrison who was challenged in the Legislature on his statement that he might call a special session if the loss of federal funds appears imminent due to lack of matching capital by the institution.

Either the governor didn't know what he was talking about, a situation we rather doubt, or the university has been cowed beyond all hope. Why does not the university back up the governor and specify those places where a loss of federal funds appears likely in view of the pending appropriation for the institution?

The university is going to get exactly nowhere with such mealy-mouthed statements as "dynamic leadership," "growth and development" and "properly upgrading." All of these things are high-sounding but they don't cut any ice when it comes to looking for an appropriation of tax money.

Tax funds will and should be appropriated on the basis of exactly what they will be used for and you would never know this use from reading the statement of the Board of Regents. Let Sen. Richard Marvel crow if he wants to about Madison Avenue techniques but let the Board of Regents inform the public of the facts as it has a responsibility for doing.

Extra Curricular Reformer

People who work in the substructure of our government are largely out of reach of sight and sound. A neighbor gets a high appointment. He gets a banquet, a flurry of going-away oratory. And that is generally the last heard of him until he returns home a few years later.

In Washington attention is focused only on those at the top.

James J. Saxon is an exception. He is the present Comptroller of Currency, a job usually noted for noiselessness and absence of drama.

If Mr. Saxon gets much more public attention he will be on his way to becoming either Public Enemy No. 1 or a greater breaker of tradition than all others. He has stirring thoughts about American banking.

He makes big banks mad by opposing their mergers when it appears that it would reduce competition. He makes other bankers glad by his enthusiasm for granting new charters, an average of 10 a month when par for the course for many years has not been more than three. He believes national banks should be allowed to underwrite municipal, highway and other kinds of revenue bonds. He is giving small independent community banks nightmares by outspoken support of branch banking. He also thinks the bigger banks should quit relying on the Federal Reserve to set the pattern for interest rates, and should let feverish competition keep them in line.

Most of Saxon's ideas constitute heresies. But there are some obvious facts. One is that if the banks are required to run harder the menace of government intrusion would decline. Since we are committed to private enterprise it isn't really wrong to magnify it. Certainly, if the banks were unleashed the economy would lurch forward with new vigor.

Hot Weather Is Best Time For Family Row; Love Will Follow

NEW YORK — This is the sticky season. The days are long and tempers are short. It is a perfect time to blow off steam.

Remember the new psychoanalytical credo:

Giving someone a piece of your mind can lead to peace of mind for yourself.

Now, the psychoanalysts do not suggest that you unleash your aggressions on your friends or your boss. This would be ridiculous. It could lead to ulcers and unemployment.

What one psychoanalyst does suggest is that you tell your loved one exactly what you think of him (or her). This will clear the air. And the summer air these days, hazy with humidity, could use a bit of clearing.

What the analyst, Dr. Catherine Bacon, has said specifically is that nothing destroys the love between a husband and wife more effectively than "repressed anger."

☆ ☆ ☆

On the face of it, this all sounds simple and logical. You go home tonight, send the children to the neighbors, and let go with the vitalizing vituperation. The little woman vitupes a bit herself, and you wind up purged of your irritabilities and in a warm connubial embrace.

But is it really that simple?

I'm afraid that most "repressed anger" between man and wife goes too deep for a one-night blow-up to handle. Of course, some couples are malleable enough to really change, I suppose. But before you let your wife have it for wearing curlers to bed—better be prepared to give up the fourth martini and/or Sunday golf with the boys. Each family has its own battle of Berlin, and sometimes it's easier to live with anger than give up a prized possession.

☆ ☆ ☆

The analyst, however, is more optimistic. She has claimed that most couples have resolvable differences that a good spat can straighten out.

The only large problem, as Dr. Bacon saw it, is that couples are afraid to tell each other what they think—fearful it will destroy the mate's picture of them as the potentially "ideal spouse."

Foolish attitude, she claims.

Honest anger is good for the soul, the spirit, the circulation and the spouse—and is in no way incompatible with love.

Well, if she is right, then go to it.

Certainly, in this season, it is easier to blow up than in any other season. Perhaps a well-thought-out domestic explosion will leave you feeling cool and calm.

And if it doesn't, you can always take off for an air-cooled double feature . . .

Plenty Of Water

Columbus, Neb.

Your editorial, "Handwriting On The Wall," was an objective appraisal of the situation facing Nebraska. We need comprehensive, overall planning on our Nebraska streams and we need it now. The state must assume its rightful role in guiding the development.

On the Loup River there is plenty of water available for all existing and potential projects—if we store the run-off. We are allowing a shameful waste of water on the Loup River. Last spring, 1962, 500,000 acre-feet of water went by Columbus that was not put to beneficial use by anyone. The people at Valley, Nebraska, pumped some of it out of their basements. The piecemeal planning should cease. This is 1963 and modern over-all comprehensive planning must be employed. There is plenty of water for both agriculture and industrial purposes on the Loup River if we store the freshet and flood flows.

University Needs

Aurora, Neb.

The Legislature will adjourn in a few days. Again we find the university left without sufficient funds to carry on a program worthy of the state of Nebraska.

It is too late to do anything about this year's budget but it is not too early to begin thinking about two years hence. If we want our state university to take its rightful place among the schools of the nation, we will have to elect men to the Legislature and to the office of governor who will give more than lip service to the university when the chips are down.

Let us look at one or two instances where the university is not able to furnish the state with the services it could with a more realistic budget. It is ironic that the "Beef State" must give its veterinary students scholarships so that they can attend veterinary schools in Oklahoma and Iowa. Also, Nebraska suffered greater losses from the corn borer last year than any other state. These losses amounted to over $26 million, about 7% of the total crop and about 25% of the profit. Yet we cannot afford a few thousand dollars for a concerted research program on the insects and diseases of corn. There are many other instances where the university could be working for us, if it had sufficient funds to do the job.

We want to attract industry to Nebraska. It is a proven fact that industry is attracted to areas with outstanding research facilities. Agriculture and industry both depend more and more on research each year.

Let us look a little more closely at the cost of operating our university. Instead of talking about 600% increases, let's look at the mill levy which is a more realistic indicator. The state general levy, which includes the University of Nebraska budget, is less today, 1962, than it was in 1955.

How much would it cost to give the university funds for a realistic program? Less than an extra mill or one dollar per thousand dollars assessed valuation. For the average home-owner, this would be between two and three dollars annually. I am as reluctant as anyone to add even one dollar to the present burden of the tax-paying property owner, but I feel sure that most everyone would go along with this small increase in order to have a university that we could really be proud of and that would be able to do the job it should be doing. It is time to stop being "penny wise and pound foolish."

This 73rd Legislature is a sad one. With the exception of a few, this Legislature is nothing more than a group of pompous, self-centered, pretentious censors of public morals. The senators we have in Lincoln are nothing to be proud of. Sunday closing was defeated in Lincoln, with one senator not even voting. If there are those who do not want to represent the wishes of the people, the people should remember this when it is time for electing our senators.

Nebraska is becoming a police state. Some businesses are governed as to the days that they can operate, by LB710. The hours of pleasure are curtailed by LB21. Night clubs or bottle clubs have to close at 1:00 a.m. because these self-righteous censors of public morals say so. We are not of such intelligence that we have to be guided and governed even when it comes to pleasure.

"SH—H—H—H!"

Always Another Day

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The name of Janet Travell, M.D., will ring a bell in the minds of most people. They will recall that she is the personal physician of President John F. Kennedy. But she is also a Washington, D.C., housewife and this part of her life is one she has not forgotten. And because of the M.D. and housewife combination, she is in a unique position to give other women a few words of helpful advice. This she does in a recent issue of the Journal of the American Medical Women's Association.

As a starter, Dr. Travell advises the housewife to scramble the work instead of finishing arduous tasks, one at a time, so as to use different sets of muscles—"The world won't come to an end if you don't finish the job in one day." Are the men listening? They, too, might profit a little from this advice. The use of different muscles might be the medical reason for not driving to the end of every job but there are other reasons, too. We like the thought that the world isn't going to end if a job isn't finished. It isn't intended to encourage laziness but overexertion is as bad for your state of mind as for the state of your body.

Mixing The Tasks

And the longer a person pushes himself, the less efficient he becomes. Thus, the work you do in excess of that you should normally be expected to do will be done with less efficiency and the entire job will suffer as a result. If you laid the chore over until the next day, you could get it done in half the time and do it better.

This is something that a lot of students come to know when the subjects get tough in the upper levels of education. After cramming for hours of an evening, they find it wise to put the books aside as they reach a saturation point, a point of diminishing return. They find that the mind can function well only for a limited period of time and that they are much better off to get a few hours sleep and start over again than to continue for too long in an unbroken grind.

Then comes the advice from Dr. Travell to cultivate rhythm of movement—"When you push a carpet sweeper, run it first on your right side, then on your left, as if to do a dance step." This one we will have to reserve pretty much for the ladies as running a carpet sweeper is, happily, out of our line of experience. We can note, however, that polishing the car calls for use of the right arm for awhile and then the left as one arm alone can't take the strain of a full wax and polish job. The alternative, of course, is a professional job for the men or a housekeeper for the ladies but this is not always the preference and prerogative of the individual.

On to more advice, this time the welcome warning to avoid hurrying. "A few minutes of rest every hour," says the good doctor, "is more likely to prevent muscle exhaustion than lying down for a couple of hours at a time after a long period of work." Hurry, of course, is a close cousin to staying on or at the job for too long a time. It comes from the creeping conviction that your work is getting away from you, that to lift your nose from the grindstone would put you hopelessly behind. For one thing, this probably isn't the case and if it is, who cares? The little time of rest throughout the day can be counted now in minutes but can be added up in years as the birthdays roll by.

Comes now a piece of advice that just about everyone ignores at one time or another—don't move objects that are too heavy for you. A lot of people think the male ego gets the man of the house into a lot of trouble on this score and sometimes it does but the woman of the house has her ego, too, and likes to give it a boost now and then.

There she is in the middle of scrubbing the kitchen floor and she thinks of how dirty it must be under the refrigerator. Maybe once or twice she lets the thought slide by without action but then she decides to do something about it. Out comes the refrigerator from its corner by virtue of muscle never intended and certainly never trained to do such work.

The strain either puts the housewife down at once or takes its toll in ways that will show up unknowingly in the future. The next words of wisdom are not to sit too long in one position. Applying her prescription for alleviating President Kennedy's back condition, she advises: "Sit in a rocking chair when you read for a long time." The advice must be good as we noticed that President Kennedy was on the golf course this week after a two-year layoff.

Paid Off For JFK

Muscle strain by the wife in her daily tasks is no trivial matter, Dr. Travell insists. Summing things up, she philosophizes: "It isn't housework that's really important. It's homemaking." Dr. Travell, it would seem, must have her own work cut out for her in putting her ideas into practice with the energized Kennedy family.

"We're Doing 70 And He's Still There"

On Achieving

It took just two items of news to start all Nebraska breathing hard.

One was that a new electric scoreboard will grace the playing field at the University of Nebaska stadium this fall. The other was that football season tickets are selling like hot cakes.

This brought Nebraska to the heady realization that the 1963 Cornhusker football season is hardly more than 60 days off.

Cornhusker enthusiasm never really declines. It simply gets thinly papered over during the off season. It is even more so at this juncture, because Coach Devaney's hearties cracked off a 9-2 season last year. The fans are hoping for more of the same this autumn.

Nebraska football is the state's great prophylactic, its opportunity to live grandly. It is the one place we enjoy a united front, the area where we contemplate success and spurn the petty regards of mediocrity.

Politically we may be a people in knee britches and three cornered hats still trying to mint and pass Pine Tree shillings, viewing with alarm everything originating in the field of economics since 1780, but not so in football.

We wouldn't diminish the enthusiasm, the dedication and the drive that goes into the Cornhuskers one bit. But it is a wistful thought that some of the same sort of yeast be dropped into our other fields of endeavor. Growth and success are compounded of enthusiasm and hard application. Except for football we listen too much to counsels of despair. It would be nice to go for a 9-2 season in water conservation, tourism, economic diversification and education.

Regents Serve Pap

The University of Nebraska Board of Regents invited the public in and then served it a nice dish of pap. If the only thing it can say about the appropriation it now expects to get from the Legislature is what it said in an official statement this week, then we can conclude only that it has been treated with overt generosity.

Whom do the regents expect to do their fighting for them? A nicely insulting statement was issued in addition and personally from Regent Val Peterson but he neglected to back it up with any facts. The university left far out on a limb Gov. Frank Morrison who was challenged in the Legislature on his statement that he might call a special session if the loss of federal funds appears imminent due to lack of matching capital by the institution.

Either the governor didn't know what he was talking about, a situation we rather doubt, or the university has been cowed beyond all hope. Why does not the university back up the governor and specify those places where a loss of federal funds appears likely in view of the pending appropriation for the institution?

The university is going to get exactly nowhere with such mealy-mouthed statements as "dynamic leadership," "growth and development" and "properly upgrading." All of these things are high-sounding but they don't cut any ice when it comes to looking for an appropriation of tax money.

Tax funds will and should be appropriated on the basis of exactly what they will be used for and you would never know this use from reading the statement of the Board of Regents. Let Sen. Richard Marvel crow if he wants to about Madison Avenue techniques but let the Board of Regents inform the public of the facts as it has a responsibility for doing.

Extra Curricular Reformer

People who work in the substructure of our government are largely out of reach of sight and sound. A neighbor gets a high appointment. He gets a banquet, a flurry of going-away oratory. And that is generally the last heard of him until he returns home a few years later.

In Washington attention is focused only on those at the top.

James J. Saxon is an exception. He is the present Comptroller of Currency, a job usually noted for noiselessness and absence of drama.

If Mr. Saxon gets much more public attention he will be on his way to becoming either Public Enemy No. 1 or a greater breaker of tradition than all others. He has stirring thoughts about American banking.

He makes big banks mad by opposing their mergers when it appears that it would reduce competition. He makes other bankers glad by his enthusiasm for granting new charters, an average of 10 a month when par for the course for many years has not been more than three. He believes national banks should be allowed to underwrite municipal, highway and other kinds of revenue bonds. He is giving small independent community banks nightmares by outspoken support of branch banking. He also thinks the bigger banks should quit relying on the Federal Reserve to set the pattern for interest rates. and should let feverish competition keep them in line.

Most of Saxon's ideas constitute heresies. But there are some obvious facts. One is that if the banks are required to run harder the menace of government intrusion would decline. Since we are committed to private enterprise it isn't really wrong to magnify it. Certainly, if the banks were unleashed the economy would lurch forward with new vigor.

Russian-Chinese Break Is Basic

WASHINGTON—To understand the great debate now going on between the Russian and Chinese exponents of communism it might be well to go back to the 22nd party congress held in Moscow in October, 1961. The differences between the two brands of communism had started well before this, but they were brought into sharp focus in this party meeting.

Shortly before the congress, Vaycheslav Maximilianovic Molotov, then Soviet ambassador to the International Atomic Commission in Vienna, wrote a letter to party leaders in Moscow containing this significant statement: "Without adversity, without war there can be no real advance toward communism."

This highlighted the basic difference between the old die-hard Stalinists and the Khrushchev moderates. It also highlights the basic difference between the Soviet and the Chinese today. Molotov came from the old school which believed the Russian people were getting too prosperous, too forgetful of the early revolutionary principles and in effect, were drifting toward capitalism..

"Without adversity, without war," he argued, they would forget the original principles which Lenin fought for in 1917.

Molotov had been one of those early 1917 Bolsheviks, later served as a tough, stony-faced foreign minister at the San Francisco Conference which established the United Nations in 1945 and at the Paris peace conference which tried unsuccessfully to work out peace terms among the victors in 1946.

Later when Khrushchev came into power after Stalin's death, it was Molotov who kept arguing against the Khrushchev policy of giving the Russian people a higher standard of living, more housing, more consumer products. Molotov was persistent. Even when demoted to Vienna, he kept on arguing.

Finally, at the time of the 22nd party conference in October, 1961, he was summoned back to Moscow and fired. Molotov has been living in retirement in the suburbs of Moscow ever since.

But at that October conference, the Red Chinese agreed with Molotov that without adversity, without war, there can be no real advance toward communism. They walked out.

This remains the essential ideological difference between the two great communist nations.

And when you compare the Chinese economy with the Russian, you can understand why they have to believe in adversity and in the inevitability of war. Compared to the Chinese, the Russians are living in a capitalist Utopia. True, the Russians are a long way from having the luxuries of the average American. But compared to Czarist days, or the early days of Bolshevism, or the standard of living in China, the Russian economy is booming. Food last year was expensive, but, unlike China, nobody starved. The housing shortage has gradually been licked. Apartments are rationed out according to the size of the Russian family, but there is adequate housing.

Hot Weather Is Best Time For Family Row; Love Will Follow

NEW YORK — This is the sticky season. The days are long and tempers are short. It is a perfect time to blow off steam.

Remember the new psychoanalytical credo:

Giving someone a piece of your mind can lead to peace of mind for yourself.

Now, the psychoanalysts do not suggest that you unleash your aggressions on your friends or your boss. This would be ridiculous. It could lead to ulcers and unemployment.

What one psychoanalyst does suggest is that you tell your loved one exactly what you think of him (or her). This will clear the air. And the summer air these days, hazy with humidity, could use a bit of clearing.

What the analyst, Dr. Catherine Bacon, has said specifically is that nothing destroys the love between a husband and wife more effectively than "repressed anger."

☆ ☆ ☆

On the face of it, this all sounds simple and logical. You go home tonight, send the children to the neighbors, and let go with the vitalizing vituperation. The little woman vitupes a bit herself, and you wind up purged of your irritabilities and in a warm connubial embrace.

But is it really that simple?

I'm afraid that most "repressed anger" between man and wife goes too deep for a one-night blow-up to handle. Of course, some couples are malleable enough to really change, I suppose. But before you let your wife have it for wearing curlers to bed—better be prepared to give up the fourth martini and/or Sunday golf with the boys. Each family has its own battle of Berlin, and sometimes it's easier to live with anger than give up a prized possession.

☆ ☆ ☆

The analyst, however, is more optimistic. She has claimed that most couples have resolvable differences that a good spat can straighten out.

The only large problem, as Dr. Bacon saw it, is that couples are afraid to tell each other what they think—fearful it will destroy the mate's picture of them as the potentially "ideal spouse."

Foolish attitude, she claims.

Honest anger is good for the soul, the spirit, the circulation and the spouse—and is in no way incompatible with love.

Well, if she is right, then go to it.

Certainly, in this season, it is easier to blow up than in any other season. Perhaps a well-thought-out domestic explosion will leave you feeling cool and calm.

And if it doesn't, you can always take off for an air-cooled double feature . . .

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

To Your Good Health

Today's problem involves a particular type of baldness, and what I write about it may have little or no bearing on general loss of hair.

Dr. Molner

However, this special kind is frequent enough to bring quite a few questions. Here's one:

Dear Doctor: I have bare spots on my head that appeared only recently. I use no dye or rinses, and only mild shampoos. The spots are the size of a 50-cent piece. Can anything be done for this? — Mrs. A. B.

Possibly yes. In fact, probably yes.

The description precisely fits a condition called alopecia areata—localized loss of hair.

Two widely different approaches are employed.

The first is to look for some local disease of the scalp — fungus infections, ringworm. A dermatologist (skin specialist) is the proper specialist for this aspect.

If no such skin infection is found, then nervous tension is frequently the cause, and sedatives or tranquilizers are used.

An example of this was an attractive but highly tense office worker who was on the verge of getting a wig because of such bald spots.

The hair trouble in turn made her nerves worse.

In her case, reassurance that such things happen and are corrected, plus giving her some tranquilizers, got her nerves under control. The hair grew back normally, and she hasn't had any further trouble in that regard.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Molner: I have extremely hard calluses or "pump bumps" on each heel. How can they be removed?—MISS L. R.

The calluses formed as a result of pressure or chafing. The heels or heel straps of your shoes caused the pressure.

You can keep the area softer with a lanolin ointment. You may be able to reduce the size a bit by rubbing with a block of pumice.

Remember that if you wear the kind of shoes that make "pump bumps," new calluses will keep forming. Consider a different style.

Dear Dr. Molner: I fell heavily on the sidewalk, and a week afterward an abcess (So the doctor called it) built up. It was lanced and disappeared. Several months later it swelled up again, and another doctor drained it but said the same trouble will recur every few months, or even weeks, unless I have surgery. He says there is a sac or duct which should be removed when quiescent. Is he right? I am 82. —E. W.

Infected cysts behave just as you described. It may well be that your fall brought on the trouble, but the cyst must have been forming before then.

Your doctor gave you the right advice. Cysts can drain (either from being lanced, or the painful process of forcing a way through from pressure inside), but they then close up again, only to do the same thing all over. Surgical removal is the permanent solution.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a polyp in my nose. I'm so nervous that I couldn't have a local anesthetic for its removal and the doctor says if I am put to sleep a tube would be inserted. I gag so easily I would hate for that to be done. Is it dangerous to leave the polyp alone? It doesn't bother me at all. — J. C. L.

Not likely "dangerous," but it can grow and interfere with your breathing or with drainage from the sinuses and thus invite congestion.

Chances are that it already is causing some interference even though you do not notice it; otherwise I wonder how the doctor discovered the polyp in the first place.

A local anesthetic is simpler and more economical than a general one (being "put to sleep"), and with the help of sedation you might be surprised to find that you aren't as nervous as you think.

If you do have a general anesthetic, I can almost guarantee that you will not have the trouble you fear with the tube. It is inserted deftly and even people who have worried about gagging find it in place readily. You are worrying too much.

Dear Doctor: I recently bought my sister, with whom I live, a plastic bowl in which to feed her dog, figuring she should use it instead of one of our table dishes. I claim that feeding a pet from our dishes is very unsanitary and not in good taste. Am I right? — M. M.

In the matter of taste, yes. I think dogs should have their own feeding bowls. Besides, it's good training for a pet to learn to eat from its own dish. As to the question of being unsanitary, I see no great danger. Tests have shown that human mouths harbor many more germs. At any rate, I think you chose a tactful way of getting the idea across.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Plenty Of Water

Columbus, Neb.

Your editorial, "Handwriting On The Wall," was an objective appraisal of the situation facing Nebraska. We need comprehensive, overall planning on our Nebraska streams and we need it now. The state must assume its rightful role in guiding the development.

On the Loup River there is plenty of water available for all existing and potential projects—if we store the run-off. We are allowing a shameful waste of water on the Loup River. Last spring, 1962, 500,000 acre-feet of water went by Columbus that was not put to beneficial use by anyone. The people at Valley, Nebraska, pumped some of it out of their basements. The piecemeal planning should cease. This is 1963 and modern over-all comprehensive planning must be employed. There is plenty of water for both agriculture and industrial purposes on the Loup River if we store the freshet and flood flows.

University Needs

Aurora, Neb.

The Legislature will adjourn in a few days. Again we find the university left without sufficient funds to carry on a program worthy of the state of Nebraska.

It is too late to do anything about this year's budget but it is not too early to begin thinking about two years hence. If we want our state university to take its rightful place among the schools of the nation, we will have to elect men to the Legislature and to the office of governor who will give more than lip service to the university when the chips are down.

Let us look at one or two instances where the university is not able to furnish the state with the services it could with a more realistic budget. It is ironic that the "Beef State" must give its veterinary students scholarships so that they can attend veterinary schools in Oklahoma and Iowa. Also, Nebraska suffered greater losses from the corn borer last year than any other state. These losses amounted to over $26 million, about 7% of the total crop and about 25% of the profit. Yet we cannot afford a few thousand dollars for a concerted research program on the insects and diseases of corn. There are many other instances where the university could be working for us, if it had sufficient funds to do the job.

We want to attract industry to Nebraska. It is a proven fact that industry is attracted to areas with outstanding research facilities. Agriculture and industry both depend more and more on research each year.

Let us look a little more closely at the cost of operating our university. Instead of talking about 600% increases, let's look at the mill levy which is a more realistic indicator. The state general levy, which includes the University of Nebraska budget, is less today, 1962, than it was in 1955.

How much would it cost to give the university funds for a realistic program? Less than an extra mill or one dollar per thousand dollars assessed valuation. LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Majority Of Elders Have Sound Minds And Bodies

By ROBERT PETERSON

We need to banish ancient attitudes causing us to assume that elders as a group are a sorry lot. As stated by writer Arthur Herzog, "The public thinks there must be ragged hordes of helpless old people hidden away in charity hospitals, nursing homes, residence-care homes and mental hospitals, but the fact is that no more than 3 to 5% of persons over 65 are in institutions of any kind.

"Another 5 to 10% of older people are disabled at home and are cared for by relatives . . . this leaves between 95 and 90% of the population over 65 sound in body and mind . . . quite capable of functioning normally despite personal difficulties. This is the group one ought to mean, unless one qualifies otherwise, when talking of older people."

☆ ☆ ☆

Readers sometimes write indicating genuine concern about their rising forgetfulness. They may say that they simply cannot remember as well as they once could.

Here's a retired school superintendent who says, "I keep my body in good shape through physical exercise. But I found I wasn't exercising my mind and that it was losing its retentiveness.

"One night at a party the host asked if anyone could recite Rudyard Kipling's great poem, 'If.' My wife nudged me, and while I was once able to do it I could not get beyond the opening line that goes, "If you can keep your head when all about you."

"Well, I resolved to memorize the poem when I got home, and managed the trick within a few minutes. I recited it to my wife the next morning, and she decided to memorize it, too.

"Then we called several friends and planned a poetry recitation party at which everyone in turn stood and recited two or three classical poems from memory. This has opened a new era of interest, and we find that using the mind in simple memory feats not only strengthens the connections between the brain cells but stimulates a more alert mental attitude. Based on our experiences, I'd say that forgetfulness is due to lack of practice rather than loss of retentive ability."

Good letter. More of us should try memorizing poems, not only to convince ourselves that our memory skills are intact but also to stimulate our cultural appreciation and entertain others. What are some good poems to start with? I'd vote for "Chareg of the Light Brigade" by Alfred Tennyson, "Old Ironsides" by Oliver Wendell Holmes, "Paul Revere's Ride" by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow "The Raven" by Edgar Allen Poe, and "Sonnets from the Portuguese" by Elizabeth Browning.

Failure To Ship Government Grain Brings 31 Suspensions

Some 31 grain elevator operators in Nebraska have had their authorizations suspended by the Commodity Credit Corporation for failure to ship government owned grain within a 90-day period, the state office of the Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation Service (ASCS) reported.

As a result, farmers who store grain in these warehouses after the date of suspension will not be able to get government loans until the suspension is lifted, according to Jim Newton, commodity loan supervisor for the state ASCS office.

Newton said he doesn't think insurance on the grain itself is involved in the suspensions.

Newton attributed the suspensions mainly to a failure by railroads to provide boxcars for the elevator operators to ship the grain ordered.

Most of the elevators affected are in the wheat area, from Hastings, Grand Island and Kearney east, he noted.

Newton said he knows of one operator who had ordered 5 boxcars a day, but was only getting around 3 a week.

There has been a boxcar shortage in the midwest despite an order recently by the Interstate Commerce Commission for eastern railroads to return boxcars owned by railroads which serve the midwest.

Newton said he doesn't consider the suspensions serious. He said warehouse operators can get their suspension lifted in 5 or 10 days by showing that they had placed the orders for the boxcars but weren't receiving them.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Majority Of Elders Have Sound Minds And Bodies

By ROBERT PETERSON

We need to banish ancient attitudes causing us to assume that elders as a group are a sorry lot. As stated by writer Arthur Herzog, "The public thinks there must be ragged hordes of helpless old people hidden away in charity hospitals, nursing homes, residence-care homes and mental hospitals, but the fact is that no more than 3 to 5% of persons over 65 are in institutions of any kind.

"Another 5 to 10% of older people are disabled at home and are cared for by relatives . . . this leaves between 95 and 90% of the population over 65 sound in body and mind . . . quite capable of functioning normally despite personal difficulties. This is the group one ought to mean, unless one qualifies otherwise, when talking of older people."

Readers sometimes write indicating genuine concern about their rising forgetfulness. They may say that they simply cannot remember as well as they once could.

Here's a retired school superintendent who says, "I keep my body in good shape through physical exercise. But I found I wasn't exercising my mind and that it was losing its retentiveness.

"One night at a party the host asked if anyone could recite Rudyard Kipling's great poem, 'If.' My wife nudged me, and while I was once able to do it I could not get beyond the opening line that goes, "If you can keep your head when all about you."

"Well, I resolved to memorize the poem when I got home, and managed the trick within a few minutes. I recited it to my wife the next morning, and she decided to memorize it, too.

"Then we called several friends and planned a poetry recitation party at which everyone in turn stood and recited two or three classical poems from memory. This has opened a new era of interest, and we find that using the mind in simple memory feats not only strengthens the connections between the brain cells but stimulates a more alert mental attitude. Based on our experiences, I'd say that forgetfulness is due to lack of practice rather than loss of retentive ability."

Good letter. More of us should try memorizing poems, not only to convince ourselves that our memory skills are intact but also to stimulate our cultural appreciation and entertain others. What are some good poems to start with? I'd vote for "Chareg of the Light Brigade" by Alfred Tennyson, "Old Ironsides" by Oliver Wendell Holmes, "Paul Revere's Ride" by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow "The Raven" by Edgar Allen Poe, and "Sonnets from the Portuguese" by Elizabeth Browning.

A young couple wrote that they ran out of gas on the highway outside Phoenix, Ariz. Car after car whizzed past. Finally, an old gentleman drove up, took a two-gallon can of gas from the back seat of his car, poured the gas into the stalled auto, and refused to accept any money or give his name. Said he, "I carry gasoline all the time for stranded motorists. It's just my way of feeling useful."

Failure To Ship Government Grain Brings 31 Suspensions

Some 31 grain elevator operators in Nebraska have had their authorizations suspended by the Commodity Credit Corporation for failure to ship government owned grain within a 90-day period, the state office of the Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation Service (ASCS) reported.

As a result, farmers who store grain in these warehouses after the date of suspension will not be able to get government loans until the suspension is lifted, according to Jim Newton, commodity loan supervisor for the state ASCS office.

Newton said he doesn't think insurance on the grain itself is involved in the suspensions.

Newton attributed the suspensions mainly to a failure by railroads to provide boxcars for the elevator operators to ship the grain ordered.

Most of the elevators affected are in the wheat area, from Hastings, Grand Island and Kearney east, he noted.

Newton said he knows of one operator who had ordered 5 boxcars a day, but was only getting around 3 a week.

There has been a boxcar shortage in the midwest despite an order recently by the Interstate Commerce Commission for eastern railroads to return boxcars owned by railroads which serve the midwest.

Newton said he doesn't consider the suspensions serious. He said warehouse operators can get their suspension lifted in 5 or 10 days by showing that they had placed the orders for the boxcars but weren't receiving them.

Angry Negroes Are Dispersed

Cambridge, Md (UPI) — State troopers and Negro leaders using a loudspeaker Wednesday night broke up an angry crowd of Negroes threatening to march into the white section of Cambridge after white men driving through the Negro section hurled bricks at pedestrians.

The incident interrupted a meeting between Cambridge integrationist leaders and a Justice Department representative. It occurred only about two hours after a taunting, jeering crowd of whites tried to break up a Negro anti-segregation demonstration, the third in 3 nights.

There were no immediate reports of anyone being injured by the tossed brickbats, but a crowd of Negroes gathered and they were discussing whether to march into the white section of town when local police, state troopers and NAACP official Stanley Branche rushed to the scene. The men persuaded the Negroes to disperse but not before some of the Negroes began taunting a white policeman they charged has been rough on Negroes.

Bottles Heaved

Several bottles were thrown at the policeman in question before the crowd broke up.

"I can't send my police home just because they don't like one of them," Assistant Chief James Leonard told a reporter after the incident.

"The hell with civil rights. For my money they can march downtown without police protection and then we'll see what will happen."

Earlier Wednesday 3 Negro men and a white girl who sought service at a Cambridge lunch counter were arrested when they refused the owner's request to leave. One of the four, James Louis, said he was manhandled by police during the incident and was taken to a doctor after being released from jail. Police charged him with assaulting an officer.

A determined crowd of about 250 Negroes marched to downtown Cambridge Wednesday night to pray and sing in front of the courthouse. About 300 whites surrounded them as they sang, chanting, "Two, 4, 6, 8; we don't want to integrate." Despite the interference, the Negroes kept on singing and finished the demonstration.

Transient, 32, Dies As Result Of RR Mishap

A 32-year-old transient worker died at Veterans Hospital Wednesday of injuries suffered when a boxcar ran over him June 28.

The man, James H. Sutherland, was sleeping under the boxcar when a train hooked to it and rolled over his body, dragging him several feet.

He sustained a severed arm, back and chest injuries, and shock.

The victim's original home was Evansville, Ind. Relatives there had come to Lincoln after the mishap.

WARD'S TRIAL IS POSTPONED

London (UPI) — The vice trial of osteopath-artist Stephen Ward, a key figure in Britain's mushrooming sex scandals, Wednesday was postponed until July 22.

Ward, charged with procuring women for illegal purposes, and other vice offenses, originally was scheduled to stand trial next Monday.

He has pleaded innocent and has been free on $8,400 bond.

The postponement was granted after Ward's attorney, James Burge, said he had not received details of the charges until June 24 and "no defense can be properly presented in such a short space of time."

Secretary Of State Sees U.S. Nearing Deep Race Crisis

Washington (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Wednesday the United States is heading into a deep racial crisis as President Kennedy's program to meet it edged forward in Congress under some Southern and Republican shelling.

There were these major developments:

—A Senate Judiciary subcommittee approved 5 to 1 a 4-year extension of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission.

—Legislation creating a Fair Employment Practices Commission with strong enforcement powers survived 17 to 13, in a House Education and Labor Committee, a GOP attempt to transfer the powers to the courts. This clears the way for final committee action, probably Thursday.

—Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the House Judiciary Committee set a July 3 deadline for completing House hearings on civil rights. Night sessions will be held if necessary, he said.

—Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze, testifying before Celler's committee, endorsed a proposal authorizing withdrawal of federal aid for any program in which racial discrimination is practiced. His department administers over 100 programs disbursing some $3.7 billion in funds.

—Chairman John H. Dent, D-Pa., of a House Education subcommittee, postponed a final vote on legislation agreed upon Tuesday providing for a mandatory cutoff of federal aid to schools discriminating against Negroes.

Discrimination Aids Reds

Rusk, appearing before the Senate Commerce Committee, said racial discrimination in the U.S. is one of the "most valuable assets" of the communists, is incompatible with American ideals and humiliates African diplomats.

Failure to pass anti discrimination legislation would be "a great setback" and "a great disappointment throughout the free world," Rusk said, adding:

"The present racial crisis divides and weakens and challenges the nation both at home and in the world struggle in which we are engaged."

He appeared in behalf of the administration's key civil rights plank — outlawing of discrimination in stores, hotels, restaurants, theaters and other establishments in interstate commerce that serve the public.

Long Clapping

When Rusk finished, the jammed caucus room broke into prolonged applause. Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., demanded heatedly that the applause be stopped as a violation of Senate rules.

"This audience was packed by civil righters and left-wingers and it just shows the pressure being put on to pass this unconstitutional legislation, Thurmond said.

Thurmond, an opponent of the bill, questioned Rusk sharply and did not join other committee members of both parties in praising Rusk's presentation.

The Senate Judiciary subcommittee vote on extending the Civil Rights Commission sends that bill to the full Senate Judiciary Committee for hearings beginning Tuesday.

Chairman Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., cast the only "no" vote. Voting for it were Sens. Edward V. Long, D-Mo.; Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass, the President's brother; Birch Bayh, D-Ind.; Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., and Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb.

Angry Negroes Are Dispersed

Cambridge, Md (UPI) — State troopers and Negro leaders using a loudspeaker Wednesday night broke up an angry crowd of Negroes threatening to march into the white section of Cambridge after white men driving through the Negro section hurled bricks at pedestrians.

The incident interrupted a meeting between Cambridge integrationist leaders and a Justice Department representative. It occurred only about two hours after a taunting, jeering crowd of whites tried to break up a Negro anti-segregation demonstration, the third in 3 nights.

There were no immediate reports of anyone being injured by the tossed brickbats, but a crowd of Negroes gathered and they were discussing whether to march into the white section of town when local police, state troopers and NAACP official Stanley Branche rushed to the scene. The men persuaded the Negroes to disperse but not before some of the Negroes began taunting a white policeman they charged has been rough on Negroes.

Bottles Heaved

Several bottles were thrown at the policeman in question before the crowd broke up.

"I can't send my police home just because they don't like one of them," Assistant Chief James Leonard told a reporter after the incident.

"The hell with civil rights. For my money they can march downtown without police protection and then we'll see what will happen."

Earlier Wednesday 3 Negro men and a white girl who sought service at a Cambridge lunch counter were arrested when they refused the owner's request to leave. One of the four, James Louis, said he was manhandled by police during the incident and was taken to a doctor after being released from jail. Police charged him with assaulting an officer.

A determined crowd of about 250 Negroes marched to downtown Cambridge Wednesday night to pray and sing in front of the courthouse. About 300 whites surrounded them as they sang, chanting: "Two, 4, 6, 8; we don't want to integrate." Despite the interference, the Negroes kept on singing and finished the demonstration.

Transient, 32, Dies As Result Of RR Mishap

A 32-year-old transient worker died at Veterans Hospital Wednesday of injuries suffered when a boxcar ran over him June 28.

The man, James H. Sutherland, was sleeping under the boxcar when a train hooked to it and rolled over his body, dragging him several feet.

He sustained a severed arm, back and chest injuries, and shock.

The victim's original home was Evansville, Ind. Relatives there had come to Lincoln after the mishap.

WARD'S TRIAL IS POSTPONED

London (UPI) — The vice trial of osteopath-artist Stephen Ward, a key figure in Britain's mushrooming sex scandals, Wednesday was postponed until July 22.

Ward, charged with procuring women for illegal purposes, and other vice offenses, originally was scheduled to stand trial next Monday.

He has pleaded innocent and has been free on $8,400 bond.

The postponement was granted after Ward's attorney, James Burge, said he had not received details of the charges until June 24 and "no defense can be properly presented in such a short space of time."

Secretary Of State Sees U.S. Nearing Deep Race Crisis

Washington (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Wednesday the United States is heading into a deep racial crisis as President Kennedy's program to meet it edged forward in Congress under some Southern and Republican shelling.

There were these major developments:

—A Senate Judiciary subcommittee approved 5 to 1 a 4-year extension of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission.

—Legislation creating a Fair Employment Practices Commission with strong enforcement powers survived 17 to 13, in a House Education and Labor Committee, a GOP attempt to transfer the powers to the courts. This clears the way for final committee action, probably Thursday.

—Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the House Judiciary Committee set a July 3 deadline for completing House hearings on civil rights. Night sessions will be held if necessary, he said.

—Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze, testifying before Celler's committee, endorsed a proposal authorizing withdrawal of federal aid for any program in which racial discrimination is practiced. His department administers over 100 programs disbursing some $3.7 billion in funds.

—Chairman John H. Dent, D-Pa., of a House Education subcommittee, postponed a final vote on legislation agreed upon Tuesday providing for a mandatory cutoff of federal aid to schools discriminating against Negroes.

Discrimination Aids Reds

Rusk, appearing before the Senate Commerce Committee, said racial discrimination in the U.S. is one of the "most valuable assets" of the communists, is incompatible with American ideals and humiliates African diplomats.

Failure to pass anti discrimination legislation would be "a great setback" and "a great disappointment throughout the free world," Rusk said, adding:

"The present racial crisis divides and weakens and challenges the nation both at home and in the world struggle in which we are engaged."

He appeared in behalf of the administration's key civil rights plank — outlawing of discrimination in stores, hotels, restaurants, theaters and other establishments in interstate commerce that serve the public.

Long Clapping

When Rusk finished, the jammed caucus room broke into prolonged applause. Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., demanded heatedly that the applause be stopped as a violation of Senate rules.

"This audience was packed by civil righters and leftwingers and it just shows the pressure being put on to pass this unconstitutional legislation, Thurmond said.

Thurmond, an opponent of the bill, questioned Rusk sharply and did not join other committee members of both parties in praising Rusk's presentation.

The Senate Judiciary subcommittee vote on extending the Civil Rights Commission sends that bill to the full Senate Judiciary Committee for hearings beginning Tuesday.

Chairman Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., cast the only "no" vote. Voting for it were Sens. Edward V. Long, D-Mo.; Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass, the President's brother; Birch Bayh, D-Ind.; Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., and Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb.

Retired Executive Kills Blonde, Self

Massena, N.Y. (AP) — A retired business executive Wednesday shot and killed a blonde, former beauty queen who had once been his stenographer and then took his own life, state police reported.

Albert R. Berry, 63, shot Mrs. Mary Jane Logan, 43, an attractive mother of 4, in the head and heart as she walked in the driveway of her home after returning from a night out with friends, investigators said.

About 7 hours later, Berry turned a small caliber revolver on himself near the Countryside Inn, about 20 miles south of the scene of the slaying, state police said.

Divorce Talk

Berry was said to have pleaded with Mrs. Logan to divorce her hsuband, Fay, a coordinator in the planning department of the Aluminum Co. of America here.

Berry had been a project manager during construction of the Robert Moses Power dam in the late 1950s at the nearby St. Lawrence Seaway and Mrs. Logan was employed as a pool stenographer for a number of contractors at the project.

Only last Friday, Mrs. Logan told police Berry had threatened to make a scene at the wedding of her oldest son and she had asked for police protection.

Logan told a reporter he and his wife, who was named Miss Massena in 1937, had a happy marriage but that Berry "kept bothering her."

Budget Slash May Cut Library Time

The "Closed on Sundays" sign is likely to remain a permanent fixture on the Bennett Martin Public Library doors.

And, Friday night closing of the entire library system is likely to result from the proposed revisions in the 1963-64 city library budget.

Director Charles Dalrymple said the service cut is a result of Mayor Dean Petersen's request that the library board reduce the originally proposed budget which wuld have provided Sunday operation and continued Friday night service.

The library board, meeting Wednesday, complied by making a $33,733 cut, leaving the new budget at $327,878.

No Choice

Dalrymple noted that if the board had a choice, it would prefer Friday night closing to dropping the "excellently received experimental Sunday opening earlier this year."

"But we had no choice . . . both were eliminated to meet the reduction asked by the mayor."

He explained that Sunday the reduction asked by the was usually the only time family groups could make use of library facilities.

He added, however, that the library budget is only one part of the total city budget problem and that Mayor Petersen is "quite aware and sympathetic of our constantly growing registration and book circulation—and the problems we have in supplying the demand during our weekday hours."

In All Departments

The shortage exists in all departments, due to the growing population, he said, but he indicated that the children's section feels the demand "most acutely."

Dalrymple said the board is still hopeful that a Sunday opening will be made possible.

"The revised library budget is only a proposal at the present time, and is subject to further change by the council members or at the citizens' hearing."

Sunday operation would add $5,000 to the budget for 12 months, or $3,750 for 9 months. Continued Friday evening service for the entire system would total $1,600.

Also axed in the revised budget was lighting of the Bennett Martin exterior solar screening, which would initially cost $3,000, with an additional $225 for maintenance.

The revised budget also eliminates salary increases.

Bad Check Artists Sought By Police

Police were searching for two men Wednesday who reportedly left Lincoln after fraudulently obtaining $3,334 in merchandise from 3 downtown stores and gave $1,355 in bad checks to two firms.

Police believed the pair to be traveling in cars towing a 15 foot fiber glass boat, trailer and 40 horsepower motor, and a camping trailer.

Firms reporting losses were: Montgomery Ward & Co., $855 in bad checks and $1,798 in merchandise charged and unpaid for; Sears, Roebuck & Co., $500 in bad checks and $866 in unpaid for goods; and Golds, $670 in merchandise unpaid but charged.

Library Positions Due To Be Filled Soon, Board Told

Charles Dalrymple, Lincoln City Library director, Wednesday told the library board he soon will be recruiting personnel for several professional posts on the staff.

A replacement for Roland F. Scott, associate librarian on a 6-months' probationary status, will be sought at the American Library Association convention July 14-21 in Chicago, Dalrymple said.

Scott, who has served since March 1 and who will leave Aug. 1, came to Lincoln from Mays Landing, N.J., where he was an Atlantic County librarian.

Other professional posts open include: chief of informational services; audio-visual assistant; children's or reference assistant; fine arts assistant.

These jobs, now serviced by part-time workers, were created in the revised budget also read at the board meeting.

In other business, the board announced that main library and all branches will close at noon next Wednesday with other city agencies to participate in the annual city employes picnic at Antelope Park.

The board also learned that construction on the courtyard work for the Bennett Martin facility is expected to begin by the end of the week.

Stiff New Liquor Fines Not Felt Yet In Lincoln

Provisions for stiff, increased liquor fines for minors and their adult friends who purchase them liquor, in effect in Nebraska since July 1, have yet to take their toll in the Lincoln area.

No case has arisen under the new law, LB109, according to Municipal Court Judge John Jacobson.

Some pre-July offenses have been prosecuted in the past 10 days, but these did not come under the new fines set up by the Unicameral.

Fines Raised

The new law, applicable only to state-prosecuted cases and not ones brought by city attorneys, raises the fine for a minor convicted of purchasing or attempting to purchase liquor from $25-$100 limits to $100-$250.

The existing law retains the "and/or 60 days in jail" possible penalty.

Minors convicted of liquor purchases or attempts to buy liquor with falsified or fraudulent identification cards also will draw a mandatory 3 to 5 day jail sentence, one of the most significant innovations of the new law.

Adults convicted of purchasing liquor for minors will find the old $50-$200 limits for fines increased to $250-$500.

A mandatory 15-day jail sentence accompanies the adult penalty.

Non-Existent

The old state law included an "and/or 120 days in jail." This is now non-existent.

City Atty. Ralph Nelson said that although the new legislation does not affect Lincoln's existing ordinances, which parallel the old state law, persons convicted on liquor charges will still be subject to the heavier fines.

This is because those cases will be referred to the County Attorney and be prosecuted by him under the state law, Nelson explained.

Nelson cited the obvious intention of the Legislature to curb minor liquor traffic as the city's reason for such a shift in prosecutions.

Adjournment Before 18th Is Unlikely

The Legislature virtually made certain Wednesday that it won't adjourn before Thursday of next week.

The lawmakers accepted for introduction two new bills, LB814 and LB815, and the constitution won't permit their final passage until 5 days have intervened between introduction day and final passage day.

Barring a Saturday session, the new bills thus can't be ready for final passage until Thursday, July 18.

The Legislature already has broken all records for session length. No previous unicameral session has lasted beyond July 8.

Wednesday was the 126th legislative day, to equal the old record for session days, set in 1961. The 815 bills received top by 76 the previous record of 739, set in 1959.

Budget Slash May Cut Library Time

The "Closed on Sundays" sign is likely to remain a permanent fixture on the Bennett Martin Public Library doors.

And, Friday night closing of the entire library system is likely to result from the proposed revisions in the 1963-64 city library budget.

Director Charles Dalrymple said the service cut is a result of Mayor Dean Petersen's request that the library board reduce the originally proposed budget which wuld have provided Sunday operation and continued Friday night service.

The library board, meeting Wednesday, complied by making a $33,733 cut, leaving the new budget at $327,878.

No Choice

Dalrymple noted that if the board had a choice, it would prefer Friday night closing to dropping the "excellently received experimental Sunday opening earlier this year."

"But we had no choice . . . both were eliminated to meet the reduction asked by the mayor."

He explained that Sunday the reduction asked by the was usually the only time family groups could make use of library facilities.

He added, however, that the library budget is only one part of the total city budget problem and that Mayor Petersen is "quite aware and sympathetic of our constantly growing registration and book circulation—and the problems we have in supplying the demand during our weekday hours."

In All Departments

The shortage exists in all departments, due to the growing population, he said, but he indicated that the children's section feels the demand "most acutely."

Dalrymple said the board is still hopeful that a Sunday opening will be made possible.

"The revised library budget is only a proposal at the present time, and is subject to further change by the council members or at the citizens' hearing."

New York Negroes Wanting Job Equality Sit In

New York (AP) — Negro demands for equal job opportunities resulted Wednesday in sitins at the offices of the absent governor and mayor, picketing and some disorder.

Policemen of a force especially trained to handle public demonstrations reinforced regular patrolmen in potentially troublesome areas to keep the peace, forcibly if necessary.

Civil rights pickets, defying police orders, lay prostrate in the paths of building equipment vehicles at a Brooklyn hospital site and 3 Negroes were arrested.

'Not Mississippi'

"This is New York, not Mississippi," one cried repeatedly as he was lifted from the ground by uniformed patrolmen.

Pickets also returned to the diner in the Bronx where demonstrations sparked 4 nights of violence, and to the city housing construction project on Manhattan's Lower East Side.

Four white and 3 Negro demonstrators slipped past a security guard into Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's private offices in New York City, but afterwards received a courteous reception from the governor's staff. Rockefeller is vacationing in Seal Harbor, Maine.

They vowed to sit in until they get satisfaction on their demands for more job opportunities for minority group members. After a conference with the governor's cousin and staff members, the Rev. Robert Kinloch, a Negro minister from the Bronx, said:

"The discussion did not accomplish anything. Only the governor or the lieutenant governor can help and they are not here."

More Jobs

Rockefeller recently announced acceleration of $4 billion in state construction work, primarily to provide more jobs for Negroes whose unemployment rate is considerably higher than whites.

It was the second day of a sitin at the entrace to Mayor Robert F. Wagner's office at City Hall. The mayor met with the demonstrators Tuesday, then flew to Paris to visit his sick son.

About 15 pickets, representing the Congress of Racial Equality, showed up at the Downstate Medical Center in Brooklyn, where a 350-bed hospital is being constructed. They protested discrimination in building trades.

Extra policemen patrolled the neighborhood of the White Castle Diner in the Bronx where CORE pickets seek to force the diner chain to alter its hiring policies.

Whites Heckle

White hecklers clashed with pickets there Tuesday night. Twenty policemen, swinging nightsticks as they waded into the melee, broke up the disorder and arrested two young white men for assault.

Alfred Mathew Jr., a white, 30-year-old high school history teacher whose glasses were broken during the fighting, said he had joined the picket line after he learned of the troubles the demonstrators had been having with rowdy white youths there.

"And after seeing this," he continued, "I'm going to be here every day . . . We've got our own Birmingham right here."

More Jobs

Rockefeller recently announced acceleration of $4 billion in state construction work, primarily to provide more jobs for Negroes whose unemployment rate is considerably higher than whites.'

It was the second day of a sitin at the entrace to Mayor Robert F. Wagner's office at City Hall. The mayor met with the demonstrators Tuesday, then flew to Paris to visit his sick son.

About 15 pickets, representing the Congress of Racial Equality, showed up at the Downstate Medical Center in Brooklyn, where a 350-bed hospital is being constructed. They protested discrimination in building trades.

Extra policemen patrolled the neighborhood of the White Castle Diner in the Bronx where CORE pickets seek to force the diner chain to alter its hiring policies.

Whites Heckle

White hecklers clashed with pickets there Tuesday night. Twenty policemen, swinging nightsticks as they waded into the melee, broke up the disorder and arrested two young white men for assault.

Alfred Mathew Jr., a white, 30-year-old high school history teacher whose glasses were broken during the fighting, said he had joined the picket line after he learned of the troubles the demonstrators had been having with rowdy white youths there.

"And after seeing this," he continued, "I'm going to be here every day . . . We've got our own Birmingham right here."

Power Board Will Arbitrate Developing Feud

The Nebraska Power Review Board served notice Wednesday that it will attempt to arbitrate a developing feud over future power supply.

The board is empowered to approve or reject all future generation construction plans other than those of municipalities within their service areas.

The board invited rural members of the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooperative and officials of the Nebraska Public Power System (NPPS) to meet with it Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. to discuss future power needs of the state.

To Supply Own Needs

The developing dispute came to the forefront Monday when a letter to Gov. Morrison and 3 state senators active in power legislation was made public. The letter affirmed that the rurals will supply their own electrical needs after 1965 above what they have now contracted for from the NPPS.

This notice could set the stage for a battle on who will build the next steam generation plant in Nebraska.

Clair Callan of Odell, board chairman, had this comment on the letter:

"The quicker we can get to work on this thing and the faster we resolve the question the more lawsuits will be avoided and the matter of future generation solved."

He noted the board has not taken a stand on who should supply the state's future power needs. "For this reason," he added, "we must sit down with both sides and hear the problem out."

Others Invited

Callan also invited any agency or individual interested in power in the state to attend the meeting, adding, "they will be heard."

The primary thing the board is interested in, Callan said, is providing the state with adequate power at the cheapest possible rate to the consumer.

"We want to be sure two years from now Nebraska is not short on power due to disputes," he said.

The rurals have contracts with the NPPS to supply all rural energy needs until the so-called equity month—when the availability of power meets the demand of the rurals.

The rurals say this will be reached by the summer of 1965 and new sources of electricity will have to be supplied to meet demands.

But one of the owners of the NPPS, Loup River Public Power District, has challenged the rurals' position that equity month will occur in 1965. It says studies show equity month will not occur until 1967.

The rurals have notified Loup it need not construct a thermal plant at its Columbus industrial site to provide electricity for the rurals after equity.

Loup is planning a new multi-million dollar steam generation plant at Columbus.

The board also agreed to meet July 24 with Vern Livingston, Nebraska City utilities manager, about power problems related to municipalities.

In other action, the board agreed to allow Consumers Public Power District to continue to provide routine service operation improvements to present customers within Lincoln's city limits without prior board approval.

Such action was jointly requested by Public Works Director Dave Erickson, representing the city, and CPPD District Manager Dale Renner.

The board requested the city to prepare a letter of consent waiving objections to such improvements.

Unicam Upholds Secret Vote

. . . KLAVER'S RULE CHANGE BEATEN, 14-26

Nebraska lawmakers Wednesday decided to continue to keep their executive session committee votes unrecorded.

The Legislature turned down on a 14-26 vote a proposed rules change offered by Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha and amended by the Rules Committee.

In its amended form, the rule would have provided for standing committees to record and report the votes of individual senators on disposition of bills.

Not Pinned Down

Votes in executive session are now recorded only on a total count basis, without pinning down individual senators. Newsmen may report individual votes only with permission of the senator involved.

Klaver had proposed that executive session discussion also be open to public view, but the Rules Committee knocked out that provision.

"We have no right to do public business behind closed doors," Klaver argued. "The public has a right to know, especially when they pay for it."

Klaver said the change would reduce "wheeling and dealing, and vote-trading." Such practices, which he said were exercised in executive sessions, are "shameful and wrong."

But Sen. Don McGinley of Ogallala said the proposal is "not necessary. We are rather free and open as it is."

It would be a "rare" occasion when a reporter couldn't obtain permission to report a vote, he suggested, and the proposal that individual votes not be revealed until the committee report was submitted t the floor would "take all the news value out of the vote."

Sen. William Moulton of Omaha said the change would provide "no legislative benefit. It would only benefit the press."

If the press is "against secrecy," Sen. Harold Stryker of Rising City said, then it should require that all letters published in a newspaper be signed by name.

Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth pointed to a legislative rule which now requires recording of individual votes in committee upon demand of two committee members.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff had the last word: "I stand convicted as a wheeler and a dealer. If anyone has anything to trade here, I want to look at it."

Vote on the motion to adopt:

For: Brandt, Carpenter, Forrester, Foster, Klaver, Marvel, Nelson, Orme, Payne, Russillo, Stromer, Syas, Thompson, Wylie.

Against: Adamson, Bahensky, Bowen, Burbach, Claussen, Craft, Damrow, Erlewine, Fleming, Gerdes, Gerhart, Gottschalk, Kiar, Kremer, Lysinger, Mahoney, McGinley, Moulton, E. Rasmussen, R. Rasmussen, Reeves, Ruhnke, Skarda, Stalder, Stryker, Warner.

Not Voting: Bridenbaugh, Danner, Hasebroock.

4-5 Story State Office Building Recommended

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

A space-utilization report which recommends construction by 1973 of a 4-or 5-story state office building to be located south of the State Capitol was submitted to the Capitol Building Commission Wednesday.

The commission withheld formal approval of the plan pending further study of the report and of the proposal that members of the Legislature be offered an opportunity to have it explained to them before they adjourn.

The report was presented by the Lincoln architectural-engineering firm of Clark & Enersen, Olsson, Burroughs & Thomsen which has been studying space utilization and needs of the Capitol for the past 6 months.

Deficiencies Explained

L. A. Enersen explained to the commission current space deficiencies, adjustments which can be made to relieve some of the overcrowded conditions in the Capitol in coming years, and to take care of the estimated growth of 31½% in the next 10 years.

Current space requirements for state agencies in Lincoln total 219,836 square feet. The Capitol provides 182,940 square feet, and another 20,191 square feet are provided through rented areas outside the Capitol, leaving a working deficiency of 16,705 square feet.

Enersen noted that the State Highway Department has authorization to construct a general office building at 14th and Burnham into which it can move by 1966.

Removal of Highway Department offices from the Capitol will add 41,424 square feet of available space, and Enersen also recommended that the State Labor Department offices in the Capitol be moved to its new building at 16th and J to add another 1,059 square feet.

By moving laboratories of the Agriculture and Health Departments now occupying first floor space to the Capitol basement, relocating some Supreme Court stacks to the basement, and moving out of the capitol the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Spanish American War Veterans offices, approximately 13,000 more square feet can be realized.

3,000 Feet Short

This would still leave a space deficiency of 3,000 square feet by 1966, Enersen said, but the adjustments would have improved the situation considerably.

On the basis of the 6 months' study, the firm estimates the state's space needs will have grown 31½% by 1973, necessitating construction of the additional building.

Enersen recommended that it be known as the Agriculture and Commerce Building and that it house the departments of Agriculture, Insurance, Banking, Aeronautics and the Railway Commission.

Construction of the building, which the firm recommends be located on the south half of the block between 15th and 16th and H and G, would give the state a surplus of 1,857 squre feet for office space.

Shifting Envisioned

The firm's report envisions considerable shifting of departments within the Capitol in the coming years to make better utilization of the space available.

In its relocation recommendations, the firm sought these objectives:

— Departments generating the least traffic would be located in the Capitol tower.

— Departments which can utilize an entire floor would be so located.

— Departments having definite functional relationships with another would be located in adjacent areas.

— Space on the 4th and 5th floors would be reserved for the additional help required during legislative sessions with one elevator to be used exclusively for senatorial purposes.

— Departments having strong ties with legislative or executive branches of government would be located permanently in the Capitol.

— Undesirable uses such as laboratories either should be removed from the Capitol completely or relocated in the basement.

—Since the state has such a space shortage, there should be no allocation of office space to agencies which have no connection with state government, thus the recommendation that American Legion, VFW and Spanish War Veterans offices be vacated.

Commission members indicated they would like department heads to study the plans also, and have the chance to offer their views on the proposals.

Sen. Don McGinley, legislative representative on the commission, said he would offer legislators the opportunity to have Enersen explain the proposal prior to adjournment.

Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, who is sponsoring an interim study for office needs, attended the meeting also, and said the report would be a valuable aid to the study.

Gov. Frank Morrison commended Enersen for having "done" a real fine job of analyzing the problem."

Harsh Begins His Murder Sentence

Olathe, Kan. (AP) — Eighteen-year-old Lloyd Lee Harsh was taken to the Kansas Reformatory to begin a sentence for murder.

The Olathe boy was convicted of the shotgun slaying of Donna Dee Busby, 17, of Olathe and the wounding of her fiance, Thomas Thorp, 20, of Endicott, Neb. He was given two concurrent terms not to exceed 20 years.

Just before leaving for the reformatory, Harsh was arraigned on burglary and larceny charges. Along with 6 other youths, he is charged with some thefts committed prior to last March 2, date of the slaying.

3,000 Feet Short

This would still leave a space deficiency of 3,000 square feet by 1966, Enersen said, but the adjustments would have improved the situation considerably.

On the basis of the 6 months' study, the firm estimates the state's space needs will have grown 31½% by 1973, necessitating construction of the additional building.

Enersen recommended that it be known as the Agriculture and Commerce Building and that it house the departments of Agriculture, Insurance, Banking, Aeronautics and the Railway Commission.

Construction of the building, which the firm recommends be located on the south half of the block between 15th and 16th and H and G, would give the state a surplus of 1,857 squre feet for office space.

Shifting Envisioned

The firm's report envisions considerable shifting of departments within the Capitol in the coming years to make better utilization of the space available.

In its relocation recommendations, the firm sought these objectives:

— Departments generating the least traffic would be located in the Capitol tower.

— Departments which can utilize an entire floor would be so located.

— Departments having definite functional relationships with another would be located in adjacent areas.

— Space on the 4th and 5th floors would be reserved for the additional help required during legislative sessions with one elevator to be used exclusively for senatorial purposes.

— Departments having strong ties with legislative or executive branches of government would be located permanently in the Capitol.

— Undesirable uses such as laboratories either should be removed from the Capitol completely or relocated in the basement.

—Since the state has such a space shortage, there should be no allocation of office space to agencies which have no connection with state government, thus the recommendation that American Legion, VFW and Spanish War Veterans offices be vacated.

Commission members indicated they would like department heads to study the plans also, and have the chance to offer their views on the proposals.

Sen. Don McGinley, legislative representative on the commission, said he would offer legislators the opportunity to have Enersen explain the proposal prior to adjournment.

Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, who is sponsoring an interim study for office needs, attended the meeting also, and said the report would be a valuable aid to the study.

Gov. Frank Morrison commended Enersen for having "done" a real fine job of analyzing the problem."

Hospital Addition Permit Approved

. . . BY PLANNING COMMISSION

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The City-County Planning Commission Wednesday recommended approval of a special permit for an estimated $400,000 addition to Providence Hospital at 48th and Valley Road.

Dr. R. C. Olney of the Olney Foundation said the 4-story addition would include approximately 58 additional beds, a new surgical suite and new administrative offices.

The 44-by-158 foot addition, adjoining the present hospital structure on the west, would increase its capacity to 125 beds.

Other commission action included:

—Approval of commercial zoning for one lot west of Chubbyville Restaurant at 27th and Pear to provide 16 additional off-street parking spaces.

—Approval of local business zoning of 3 lots at the northeast corner of 48th and vacated Colby as requested by owner James Arrigo.

—Approval of a special permit to Wendell W. Harding for parking lot near Cotner Blvd. and N, adjoining an office building property at Cotner and O.

—Approval of vacation of part of 66th between South and Van Dorn in the Antelope Creek Dam area.

—Deferral of preliminary plats of Valley View Addition, Wedgewood Manor Second Addition and Rosemont First Addition for lack of required reports from the city engineer.

—Approval of final plats of Keenan's Addition to Bethany Heights near 70th and Colby, Skyline Terrace Fifth Addition near 81st and Skyway Road and Woodland Terrace Subdivision near 48th and Woodland Ave.

—Deferral of final plats of North Side Village Addition near 14th and Benton and Bel Mar Second Addition near 14th and Atlas.

—Deferral of preliminary plat of Trendwood Addition between A and South and 70th and 84th for lack of a required report from the city engineer.

The Commission set its next meeting for July 31 because City Hall will be closed the afternoon of July 24 for the city employes' picnic.

Action Delayed On Zoning Request At 84th, Fletcher

The City-County Planning Commission deferred action on requested heavy industry zoning for a 100-acre tract at the southwest corner of 84th and Fletcher Ave. extended.

The commission requested that Planning Director Douglas Brogden confer further with the tract's owner, Fred Berniklau, regarding sewage disposal plans.

It suggested the possibility of tying water and sewage utilities into a preliminary plat of the proposed industrial tract be explored prior to zoning action.

Brogden said he was concerned that septic tanks might be used on the tract rather than a package sewage treatment facility.

In Watershed

He noted that the tract partially lies in the Stevens Creek watershed and extension of city sewage facilities hasn't been determined.

Jack Stewart, Berniklau's attorney, said that there are no industrial prospects for the tract, but its developers want to be prepared.

He urged that the commission grant heavy industrial zoning, leaving the developers to get city utilities or "build our own."

Brogden noted that the property is proposed for light industry in the Comprehensive Plan, but Stewart urged heavy industry zoning as an adjoining tract had recently been zoned "heavy."

He said light industry is interested in heavy industry tracts because of future possible plant conversion to other uses requiring the additional zoning.

Little Chance For 2nd Span Before 1968

State Engineer John Hossack reiterated Wednesday he sees little likelihood Nebraska will be able to participate in construction of a second Interstate bridge between Omaha and Council Bluffs before 1968.

The Nebraska highway department chief, however, said the two states ought to get together soon and begin planning for it.

Iowa highway officials are eager to get started on the bridge, which would be located about midway between the downtown Omaha bridge and the South Omaha bridge. The Iowa officials want to route traffic from U.S. 6 and Iowa 64 around Council Bluffs and into the proposed new bridge.

Hossack said the structure would connect the high bluffs area in Omaha with fairly open country in Iowa.

Construction is expected to begin shortly on a 6-lane Interstate bridge between the two cities. The second bridge will only be 4-lanes.

Hossack said the second bridge will provide quite a bit of relief for traffic in Council Bluffs, by permitting the diversion of vehicles around the city.

Suburban Days, Weeks, Months Busy

EASTRIDGE

Busy day, busy day—busy night, busy week, busy life in Suburbia! How so many poeple manage to so do many things in such a short time we'll never understand; but we do know that Suburban residents, as usual, have managed to run up another long list of neighborhood activities.

From the Eastridge home of Mr. and Mrs. William Zeitz comes news of visitors in the neighborhood this past weekend. Those guests at the Zeitz home were former Lincoln residents and Eastridge neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sim.

Mr. and Mrs. Sim, who are now living in Omaha, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Zeitz and their sons, Bill, Curt, and David.

More news from the neighborhood is of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Sondregger and their children, Kurt, Ted, and Julie, who drove to Beatrice to spend the just-past holiday.

In Beatrice, they were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tremain, who entertained 150 Beatrice and Lincoln friends with a picnic at their home that day.

Eastridge residents planning a Saturday morning brunch this week are Mrs. George Christopulos, Mrs. Howard Rose, Mrs. Fred Swihart, and Mrs. Warren Englehardt, who will be honoring two of their neighbors, Mrs. Mannus Toughill and Mrs. David Tews, with baby shower courtesies.

Invited guests for the morning brunch are Mrs. Robert Kinsey, Mrs. Eugene Kruse, Mrs. T. Al Evans, Mrs. Marvin Nelson, Mrs. Herman Wiebers, Mrs. Joseph Biggs, Mrs. P. E. Macek, Mrs. Joseph Kuause, Mrs. E. L. Reeker, and Mrs. John Hedges.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Yeutter were among the guests on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Yeutter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Vierk, on the occasion of honoring family members visiting in Lincoln.

Those special guests were Mrs. Vierk's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ekberg, and their daughter, Elaine, who are presently houseguests at the Vierk home. They are residents of South Gate, Calif.

And the Cub Scouts in the neighborhood are back in commission for the summer, or so we hear from Mrs. Dean L. Peterson who hosted the young men at her home on Tuesday afternoon for their first summer program meeting.

This was a "strictly fun-type" meeting, and the boys spent the afternoon roasting wieners and playing games. These Eastridge Cubs will meet every-two-weeks for the rest of the summer, and the boys' mothers will take turns as hostesses.

Den Two members on hand on Wednesday at the Peterson home were Mrs. Peterson's son, Mark, Jon Kreimer, Mark Schaefer, Gary Fenstra, and Paul Burner, whose mother is the group's regular den mother. Todd Waddle, Gary Groff, and Reggie Nissen were not able to attend.

And no doubt a young lady who was missed on Wednesday at the Peterson home was Mr. and Mrs. Peterson's daughter, Shirley, who wasn't on hand to help with the young charges since she was spending the week out of town.

Since the Fourth of July, Shirley has been visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Bolin, in Gibbon.

WEDGEWOOD MANOR

Neighborhood residents Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lind will be returning to Lincoln this weekend from Chicago, Ill., where they have been attending the Shrine Convention.

Making the trip with them to the 89th Imperial Council were other Lincoln residents, Dr. and Mrs. Wallace Lamphere.

A birthday celebrated recently in Wedgewood Manor was that of young Miss Shannon Lynn Buettow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Buettow.

The occasion of her first anniversary was celebrated with her parents, her grandmother, Mrs. George B. Johnson, and great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Walters.

Club Dinner

The members of the Nifty Northeast 4-H Club met recently for their annual "demonstration" dinner. Hostesses were Nancy Holm. Marilyn Carlson, Jan Holm and Nancy Craft.

To mark the observance of 4-H Rural Life Sunday, the group participated recently in the Sunday services of the Prairie Home Methodist Church.

News Of The August Brides-Elect

Announcing plans this morning for a late summer wedding is Miss Susan Ruppert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed J. L. Ruppert, whose betrothal to Harold Madsen of Chicago Heights, Ill. was revealed last winter.

The bride-elect has chosen Saturday, Aug. 3, as the date for the ceremony, which will be solemnized at 2 o'clock at the home of her parents.

A series of prenuptial courtesies have been planned in honor of Miss Ruppert, and included among the parties will be the miscellaneous shower for which Miss Patricia Johns and her mother, Mrs. L. C. Johns, will be hostesses on Sunday afternoon, July 21, at their home.

An August bride-elect is Miss Susan Sanger, who has chosen Friday, Aug. 16, for her marriage to Dave Wohlfarth. The ceremony will be solemnized at 10 o'clock in the morning at St. Teresa's Church.

Honoring Miss Sanger recently was Miss Carolyn Hahn who entertained informally at her home. The guests, all former school classmates of the bride-to-be, presented a miscellaneous shower to the honoree.

Miss Sanger will be an August graduate of St. Elizabeth Hospital School of Nursing. Her fiance is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

A bride-to-be of early August is Miss Victoria Jane Seymour who will become the bride of Frederick Albert Langille, Jr., on Saturday, Aug. 3.

For the ceremony, which will be solemnized at the Unitarian Church, the bride-elect has chosen Miss Gail Elizabeth Reedy of Denver, Colo., as her maid of honor. Her bridesmaids will be Miss Marjorie Langille and Miss Barbara Langille, sisters of her fiance.

William F. Munn will serve Mr. Langille as best man, and seating the guests will be Thomas Seymour, brother of the bride-to-be, and Bernard Arthur.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor R. Seymour, Miss Seymour will be honored Thursday evening at a courtesy to be held at the home of Mrs. Naomi Brill. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Brill will be Mrs. Robert Koch and Mrs. Melvin Boykin, and during the evening, a hostess gift will be presented to the honoree.

On Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Ronald Graham and her mother, Mrs. Dale Moxham will entertain for Miss Seymour at a late afternoon dessert to be held at the Moxham home. The guests will present a personal shower to the bride-elect.

Both Miss Seymour and her fiance, who is the son of Maj. and Mrs. Frederick Albert Langille, are students at the University of Nebraska.

Revealing plans this morning for her approaching marriage is Miss Genevieve Olson, whose marriage to Lee Heusinkvelt will be an event of Saturday, Aug. 3.

For the service, which will be solemnized at 10 o'clock in the morning at Blessed Sacrament Church, the bride-to-be has named Mrs. Jerry Williams as her matron of honor. Mrs. Leroy DeVries of Hickman will be the bridesmatron, and the bridesmaid will be Miss Fern Heusinkvelt of Princeton, sister of her fiance.

Miss Janice Madden, Princeton, will be the flower girl, and ringbearer will be Merlin Ebers, Adams.

Calvin Heusinkvelt of Princeton will serve his brother as best man, and the corps of ushers will include Paul Olson, brother of the bride-elect, and Leroy DeVries, Hickman; Don Ebers, Cortland; and Marvin DeVries.

On Sunday afternoon, July 21, Miss Olson's aunts, Mrs. Iven May of Hickman, and Mrs. Jake VerMaas will entertain at the home of Mrs. VerMaas in Cheney honoring their niece.

A miscellaneous shower was presented to Miss Olson last Sunday when Mrs. Warren Ebers, Mrs. Fred Ebers and Mrs. Harvey Ebers were hostesses at the home of Mrs. Warren Ebers in Adams.

Also entertaining recently for the bride-to-be were Mrs. Bernie Ebers, Mrs. Herbert Pape and Mrs. Howard Bowma who were co-hostesses at a shower held at the home of Mrs. Ebers.

And included among other recent parties honoring Miss Olson was the shower given by Mrs. Carl Lahn and Mrs. Earl Robinson at the home of Mrs. Lahn in Hickman.

And announcing plans for a late August wedding is Miss Susan Diane Selvig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin D. Selvig, whose engagement to Richard A. Albright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Albright of Monroe, Wis., was revealed recently.

The bride-to-be, a former coed at Wisconsin State College, Eau Claire, Wis., has chosen Friday, Aug. 30, as the date for her wedding, which will take place in Madison, Wis.

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Aren't there men in this world who shave twice a day? My husband shaves at 7 a.m. and by 6 p.m. he needs another shave. If we are going out in the evening I have to beg him to shave again. It's always a battle. He says he'd rather stay home. In all our nine years of marriage, this is the only thing we've ever fought about. He says if I loved him I wouldn't nag him about shaving. I DO love him, but I don't want to be seen with a man who looks like he's on his way to hold up a bank! Can you suggest something?

MARCIE

DEAR MARCIE: Many men shave twice a day and don't mind it a bit. If your man is one of those unfortunate fellows with a heavy beard and a tender face, lay off. If he's just lazy, promise him anything, but give him persuasion.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: Did you ever see a grown man cry? Well, I just did and it's enough to break your heart. I'm stationed in Germany and one of my buddies here just got a "Dear John" from his girl back home. They'd been engaged two years. He was nuts about her and talked about her day and night. He used to "dance" with her picture and sleep with it under his pillow. He never looked at any other girl, and he had plenty of chances. His girl just wrote and said she was giving his engagement ring to his mother because she was marrying another guy. Please, Abby, tell girls back home not to write guys news like that, but to wait until they get home to break the news. My buddy says he doesn't want to live any more.

A BUDDY'S BUDDY

DEAR BUDDY: I've said it many times, but I'll say it again. When a girl promises to "wait" for her man who's gone in the service, she should keep that promise. Frequently, that's the only thing that keeps a guy going.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of people who invite you to their home for a visit and have the TV going full blast all the time you are there? By the time the evening is over your throat is sore from trying to outshout the television.

SORE THROAT

DEAR SORE: Guests who are asked to compete with the television all evening should decline the second invitation.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: A neighbor of mine dumbfounded me this morning when she told me she had picked my vegetables while I was on vacation so my plants wouldn't die. She expected some gratitude if I can judge a voice. Abby, I couldn't thank her, because I had agreed with a friend to pick those vegetables in exchange for watering my plants! Before going on a trip next time, should I set up a sign, or canvass the neighborhood and explain the arrangement?

VACATIONER

DEAR VACATIONER: It appears that only ONE of your neighbors needs to have the "arrangement explained". So next time, explain it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO FRANK: When someone says, "Not to change the subject . . ." — depend on it. That is exactly what he wants to do.

CONFIDENTIAL TO EDDIE AND PAUL: Get the lettuce together, boys, and you'll have no trouble finding the tomatoes.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

EASTRIDGE

Busy day, busy day—busy night, busy week, busy life in Suburbia! How so many people manage to so do many things in such a short time we'll never understand; but we do know that Suburban residents, as usual, have managed to run up another long list of neighborhood activities.

From the Eastridge home of Mr. and Mrs. William Zeitz comes news of visitors in the neighborhood this past weekend. Those guests at the Zeitz home were former Lincoln residents and Eastridge neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sim.

Mr. and Mrs. Sim, who are now living in Omaha, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Zeitz and their sons, Bill, Curt, and David.

More news from the neighborhood is of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Sondregger and their children, Kurt, Ted, and Julie, who drove to Beatrice to spend the just-past holiday.

In Beatrice, they were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tremain, who entertained 150 Beatrice and Lincoln friends with a picnic at their home that day.

Eastridge residents planning a Saturday morning brunch this week are Mrs. George Christopulos, Mrs. Howard Rose, Mrs. Fred Swihart, and Mrs. Warren Englehardt, who will be honoring two of their neighbors, Mrs. Mannus Toughill and Mrs. David Tews, with baby shower courtesies.

Invited guests for the morning brunch are Mrs. Robert Kinsey, Mrs. Eugene Kruse, Mrs. T. Al Evans, Mrs. Marvin Nelson, Mrs. Herman Wiebers, Mrs. Joseph Biggs, Mrs. P. E. Macek, Mrs. Joseph Kuause, Mrs. E. L. Reeker, and Mrs. John Hedges.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Yeutter were among the guests on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Yeutter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Vierk, on the occasion of honoring family members visiting in Lincoln.

Those special guests were Mrs. Vierk's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ekberg, and their daughter, Elaine, who are presently houseguests at the Vierk home. They are residents of South Gate, Calif.

And the Cub Scouts in the neighborhood are back in commission for the summer, or so we hear from Mrs. Dean L. Peterson who hosted the young men at her home on Tuesday afternoon for their first summer program meeting.

This was a "strictly fun-type" meeting, and the boys spent the afternoon roasting wieners and playing games. These Eastridge Cubs will meet every-two-weeks for the rest of the summer, and the boys' mothers will take turns as hostesses.

Den Two members on hand on Wednesday at the Peterson home were Mrs. Peterson's son, Mark, Jon Kreimer, Mark Schaefer, Gary Fenstra, and Paul Burner, whose mother is the group's regular den mother. Todd Waddle, Gary Groff, and Reggie Nissen were not able to attend.

And no doubt a young lady who was missed on Wednesday at the Peterson home was Mr. and Mrs. Peterson's daughter, Shirley, who wasn't on hand to help with the young charges since she was spending the week out of town.

Since the Fourth of July, Shirley has been visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Bolin, in Gibbon.

WEDGEWOOD MANOR

Neighborhood residents Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lind will be returning to Lincoln this weekend from Chicago, Ill., where they have been attending the Shrine Convention.

Making the trip with them to the 89th Imperial Council were other Lincoln residents, Dr. and Mrs. Wallace Lamphere.

A birthday celebrated recently in Wedgewood Manor was that of young Miss Shannon Lynn Buettow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Buettow.

The occasion of her first anniversary was celebrated with her parents, her grandmother, Mrs. George B. Johnson, and great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Walters.

Club Dinner

The members of the Nifty Northeast 4-H Club met recently for their annual "demonstration" dinner. Hostesses were Nancy Holm. Marilyn Carlson, Jan Holm and Nancy Craft.

To mark the observance of 4-H Rural Life Sunday, the group participated recently in the Sunday services of the Prairie Home Methodist Church.

Wardrobe Planning By The Experts

These are great days in the New York Couture set —New fashions are on display by some of the world's greatest creators of women's clothes — Patricia McCormack, United Press International's fashion writer, gives us food for thought as she describes the suits, coats, daytime and evening gowns the best dressed women will be wearing — come autumn.

Fur shapes up as the softest touch in fall and winter fashions.

For those elegant at heart and plentiful at the bank, one designer even offered a white mink shirtwaist dress.

The fur touches included the zoo's cast of characters —fox, lynx, leopard, opossum, persian, seal, chinchilla, jaguar, ermine and mink.

Also represented were the man-made or synthetic furs that ape the real thing.

One of the most amusing fur coats: a kidskin printed as a pony and trimmed with an enormous collar of tibetian goat. It looked like an unclipped poodle.

Typical of the furry accents was an elegant white satin brocade gown from the Hannah Troy collection. The full-length gown had a foot-deep band of fluffy white fox on cuffs and hemline.

Fur accents for daytime included broadtail and mink vests shown with tweedy suits, detachable fur collars on little velvet suits, and fur-lined jackets.

Long-haired fur — fox and lynx — was used frequently as trimming on hoods.

Designer Pauline Trigers showed a black sheath cocktail dress with a six-inch border of white ermine tails at the hem. Miss Trigers also topped a slinky black crepe formal with a white vest.

This night-blooming floral print—pink and green flowers on a black background—was fashioned into a ball gown by Goethe. It has shoestring shoulder straps, and is worn with a long satin stole, also pink and green.

Illuminating elegance — fashioned of closely sewn crystals, is this overblouse worn over a satin skirt—It's a Samuel Winston offering.

Highlights of other designers collections of clothes which will be in stores by the end of the month:

—PATTULO—JO COPELAND widened shoulders and gave skirts fullness via concealed deep pleats or ingenious arrangement of folds Designer Jo Copeland also advocated the extended torso and lengthened waistline. But in line with her credo of variety this season, she posed some waistlines high and under bosem seams, high sashes or in-curved shaping.

—JUNIOR SOPHISTICATES advanced the sporting look for day and a soft, feminine, often ruffled look after dark. Designer Anne Klein and her associate, Chuck Howard, used huge plaids, giant checks and sturdy tweeds for daytime suits. Great capes in the collection went to all lengths. Some were leather bound or buckled. The jumper look was touted as important for fall. Fur vests over long-sleeved shirts epitomized the sporting look with matching tweed skirts.

—ARTHUR JABLOW put forth coats with bulky widened shoulders. Designer David Kidd also offered the skimmer coat. This slim, slightly shaped coat skimmed along the contour of the body, yet allowed room underneath for its own little companion dress. Kidd's latest brainchild: the Scottish country group which combined menswear felt, feathers, corduroy, cable-knit stockings, tweeds for the "sportive" look. Some of the accessories included solid 14-karat gold buttons and real pebble jewelry.

COUNTESS ALEXANDER highlighted softness via cowl-draped necklines, full sleeves in day and evening dresses. Accents were via braid, hand embroidery, ostrich and hand-worked jewels and jet. The distinctive signature of this collection was in the lavish embellishments of fine fabric. Sample: chandelier beading on the lifted waistline of a white brocade bodice over black chiffon.

—ANTHONY BLOTTA introduced the loafer jacket, a stretched silhouette in grey flannel, low belted and with shirt sleeve styling. It topped a skirt that gained walking room via side pleating. His "zip-zip" suits had jackets looking like throwbacks to windbreakers, lumber and Eisenhower jackets. The zip-zip suit skirt: pleated. Blotta's evening drama: a long black satin great coat with opera-cape fullness in back. Underneath: a white satin and black and white velvet dress.

—HERBERT SONDHEIM endorsed the four-part jerkin costume for day and evening. Street length versions were in tweed with fur jerkins or velvet with velvet jerkins. The evening jerkin costume had an all-over sequinned jerkin. These costumes were shown with open jackets and long-sleeved silk chiffon blouses.

His wool day dresses introduced the soft winged bodice bloused in back. Another favorite silhouette: the long sashed pullover dress shown in a featured color, vicuna. His full length evening dresses introduced this season's newest place for jeweled embroidery: on the sleeves of dresses and jackets.

Opening lead — ten of diamonds.

Suppose, in a given case, the result of a contract depends upon how the opponents' cards are divided. There is certainly nothing unusual about such a situation — it happens all the time — but how should declarer deal with such hands?

The most he can do is try to protect against bad distribution. He prepares for the worst but hopes for the best. He may forego a finesse which has a 50% chance of success, in favor of another line of play which give him say, a 75% chance of success. In some cases, he may even be able to increase that chance to 100% by proper play.

Examine this hand from a par contest. South wins the diamond with the queen and draws three rounds of trumps. He sees that the contract is sure to make if the clubs are divided 3-2, so he therefore concentrates all his thoughts on guarding against the possible 4-1 (or 5-0) division.

If he considers the matter carefully, he finds that the contract is certain to make regardless of how the clubs are divided. He therefore adopts the line of play that gives him the 100% chance, rather than stake the contract on a club finesse that might — and would — lead to defeat.

After drawing trumps, he cashes the A-K of diamonds, plays a heart to the ace, and ruffs the queen of hearts. Then he cashes the ace of clubs and returns a low club.

In the actual case, West wins the club and is forced to concede a ruff and discard or else return a club. Either way, South wins the rest of the tricks. The same result would obtain if East had the club length.

It is true that South may cost himself a 30-point trick by giving up the chance to make four club tricks instead of three (for example, if East had Q-x alone). But this is an insignificant loss alongside what he could lose — 1,530 points — if he failed to make the safety play.

August Bride-Elect

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth D. Sherwood make announcement this morning of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Ruth, to Adolph Firley, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Firley of Chester.

The wedding will take place on Sunday, Aug. 4.

Chapel Ceremony

In the presence of members of the family and a small group of friends, the marriage of Miss Sharon Lou Smith, daughter of Mrs. Howard Loomis of Oakland, Calif., and of George Smith, Lincoln, to James Kramer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kramer, took place on Saturday afternoon, July 6. The service was solemnized at 2 o'clock in the chapel of Westminster Presbyterian Church by the Rev. William F. Puls, and Donald Maul, organist, played the wedding music.

Mrs. Richard Dewey was the bride's only attendant and wore an afternoon frock of yellow cotton eyelet. She carried a nosegay of white carnations tipped in yellow.

Serving Mr. Kramer as best man was Mr. Dewey.

For her wedding, the bride chose a costume suit of white silk shantung. A long-sleeved jacket of the silk covered the basque bodice, and the slim lines of the sheath skirt were emphasized by a narrow cummerbund. Her pillbox cap of shantung was briefly veiled with illusion, and a small bouquet of white roses completed her ensemble.

Upon their return from a Colorado wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Kramer will make their home at 4801 South.

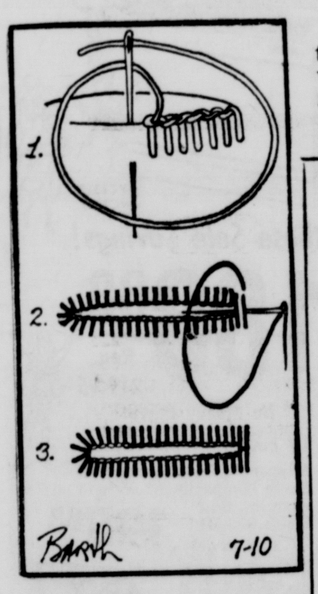
Some Pertinent Questions and Answers

Patricia Scott

Q. I'm getting married at the end of September and want to start making my gown and the dresses for my bridesmaids. I have my heart set on velvet for the bridesmaids but a friend claims it is too early for that material. Who is right? Miss J. H.

A. It isn't too early to wear velvet. But September is a tricky month and it may be very hot. If you decide on velvet, choose a style that is as cut-out as is permissible and with short sleeves.



A reader writes that people who sew like to take advantage of fabric sales. But she asks, is it a bargain when you don't know how much yardage is required and you buy a little extra only to find you didn't need it after all? She solved this problem with a little notebook, purse size. She copied yardages of her favorite patterns and cut a small sketch from the guidesheet to paste opposite them. At a glance she can pick the exact amount of material needed.

Q. How do I make the stitch used for hand-worked buttonholes, also the squared off corner at one end?—Mrs. B. K.

A. Leaving the thread unknotted, bring your needle up to the tip of the buttonhole, and about ⅛ inch from the cut edge. Figure 1:Before you make the next stitch, form a circle with the thread by flipping it a bit to the right, then up and around to the left. Hold the lower strand of the loop down with your left thumb until you start to pull the stitch up. Place the needle under the cut edge and bring it up next to the starting point. Pull the stitch up, drawing the thread away from you. A purl should form along the cut edge of the buttonhole. Do this, making stitches all along one side. Then you radiate the stitches at the corner and stitch along the opposite side of the buttonhole. For the bar (figure 2), make two or three straight stitches from the edge of the first stitch and the last stitch. These stitches should be twice the length of the stitch on the buttonhole and should run across exactly at the buttonhole tip. Figure 3 is finished buttonhole.

Wardrobe Planning By The Experts

These are great days in the New York Couture set —New fashions are on display by some of the world's greatest creators of women's clothes — Patricia McCormack, United Press International's fashion writer, gives us food for thought as she describes the suits, coats, daytime and evening gowns the best dressed women will be wearing — come autumn.

Fur shapes up as the softest touch in fall and winter fashions.

For those elegant at heart and plentiful at the bank, one designer even offered a white mink shirtwaist dress.

The fur touches included the zoo's cast of characters —fox, lynx, leopard, opossum, persian, seal, chinchilla, jaguar, ermine and mink.

Also represented were the man-made or synthetic furs that ape the real thing.

One of the most amusing fur coats: a kidskin printed as a pony and trimmed with an enormous collar of tibetian goat. It looked like an unclipped poodle.

Typical of the furry accents was an elegant white satin brocade gown from the Hannah Troy collection. The full-length gown had a foot-deep band of fluffy white fox on cuffs and hemline.

Fur accents for daytime included broadtail and mink vests shown with tweedy suits, detachable fur collars on little velvet suits, and fur-lined jackets.

Long-haired fur — fox and lynx — was used frequently as trimming on hoods.

Designer Pauline Trigers showed a black sheath cocktail dress with a six-inch border of white ermine tails at the hem. Miss Trigers also topped a slinky black crepe formal with a white vest.

This night-blooming floral print—pink and green flowers on a black background—was fashioned into a ball gown by Goethe. It has shoestring shoulder straps, and is worn with a long satin stole, also pink and green.

Illuminating elegance — fashioned of closely sewn crystals, is this overblouse worn over a satin skirt—It's a Samuel Winston offering.

Highlights of other designers collections of clothes which will be in stores by the end of the month:

—PATTULO—JO COPELAND widened shoulders and gave skirts fullness via concealed deep pleats or ingenious arrangement of folds Designer Jo Copeland also advocated the extended torso and lengthened waistline. But in line with her credo of variety this season, she posed some waistlines high and under bosem seams, high sashes or in-curved shaping.

—JUNIOR SOPHISTICATES advanced the sporting look for day and a soft, feminine, often ruffled look after dark. Designer Anne Klein and her associate, Chuck Howard, used huge plaids, giant checks and sturdy tweeds for daytime suits. Great capes in the collection went to all lengths. Some were leather bound or buckled. The jumper look was touted as important for fall. Fur vests over long-sleeved shirts epitomized the sporting look with matching tweed skirts.

—ARTHUR JABLOW put forth coats with bulky widened shoulders. Designer David Kidd also offered the skimmer coat. This slim, slightly shaped coat skimmed along the contour of the body, yet allowed room underneath for its own little companion dress. Kidd's latest brainchild: the Scottish country group which combined menswear felt, feathers, corduroy, cable-knit stockings, tweeds for the "sportive" look. Some of the accessories included solid 14-karat gold buttons and real pebble jewelry.

COUNTESS ALEXANDER highlighted softness via cowl-draped necklines, full sleeves in day and evening dresses. Accents were via braid, hand embroidery, ostrich and hand-worked jewels and jet. The distinctive signature of this collection was in the lavish embellishments of fine fabric. Sample: chandelier beading on the lifted waistline of a white brocade bodice over black chiffon.

—ANTHONY BLOTTA introduced the loafer jacket, a stretched silhouette in grey flannel, low belted and with shirt sleeve styling. It topped a skirt that gained walking room via side pleating. His "zip-zip" suits had jackets looking like throwbacks to windbreakers, lumber and Eisenhower jackets. The zip-zip suit skirt: pleated. Blotta's evening drama: a long black satin great coat with opera-cape fullness in back. Underneath: a white satin and black and white velvet dress.

—HERBERT SONDHEIM endorsed the four-part jerkin costume for day and evening. Street length versions were in tweed with fur jerkins or velvet with velvet jerkins. The evening jerkin costume had an all-over sequinned jerkin. These costumes were shown with open jackets and long-sleeved silk chiffon blouses.

His wool day dresses introduced the soft winged bodice bloused in back. Another favorite silhouette: the long sashed pullover dress shown in a featured color, vicuna. His full length evening dresses introduced this season's newest place for jeweled embroidery: on the sleeves of dresses and jackets.

Opening lead — ten of diamonds.

Suppose, in a given case, the result of a contract depends upon how the opponents' cards are divided. There is certainly nothing unusual about such a situation — it happens all the time — but how should declarer deal with such hands?

The most he can do is try to protect against bad distribution. He prepares for the worst but hopes for the best. He may forego a finesse which has a 50% chance of success, in favor of another line of play which give him say, a 75% chance of success. In some cases, he may even be able to increase that chance to 100% by proper play.

Examine this hand from a par contest. South wins the diamond with the queen and draws three rounds of trumps. He sees that the contract is sure to make if the clubs are divided 3-2, so he therefore concentrates all his thoughts on guarding against the possible 4-1 (or 5-0) division.

If he considers the matter carefully, he finds that the contract is certain to make regardless of how the clubs are divided. He therefore adopts the line of play that gives him the 100% chance, rather than stake the contract on a club finesse that might — and would — lead to defeat.

After drawing trumps, he cashes the A-K of diamonds, plays a heart to the ace, and ruffs the queen of hearts. Then he cashes the ace of clubs and returns a low club.

In the actual case, West wins the club and is forced to concede a ruff and discard or else return a club. Either way, South wins the rest of the tricks. The same result would obtain if East had the club length.

It is true that South may cost himself a 30-point trick by giving up the chance to make four club tricks instead of three (for example, if East had Q-x alone). But this is an insignificant loss alongside what he could lose — 1,530 points — if he failed to make the safety play.

Germany Wants To Build Hunter-Killer Subs

London (AP) — West Germany plans to seek Allied permission for a fleet of hunter-killer submarines up to about 1,000 tons each, Allied diplomats reported Wednesday night.

The maximum tonnage now allowed the Germans for submarines under the amended 1954 Paris agreements is 450 tons.

The informants said also they understand federal German defense planners are considering building a fleet of ocean-going submarines for the first time since World War II. These, too, would be for a hunter-killer role and up to a size of 1,700 tons.

Construction facilities for these submarines are believed to be in preparation at Kiel.

The Paris agreements laid down a series of definite curbs on West Germany's weapons industry as a means of guarding against runaway German rearmament. These limitations have been eased from time to time by the council of the Western European Union (WEU) on the advice of the supreme Allied commander in Europe, Gen. Lyman D. Lemnitzer. He has the right to judge whether a bigger German weapons contribution serves the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) interests.

Information reaching Allied diplomats here suggests the Germans, in consultation with NATO have accepted a more active antisubmarine role in the Baltic in the event of a conflict.

For this purpose it has been agreed informally between West German and NATO planners that antisubmarine subs of at least 750 tons or so would be essential. This would allow the vessels to be equipped with electronic rocket-launchers and other equipment that cannot effectively be mounted on smaller craft.

The Bonn government advised the WEU council last January of its intention to seek authority to build bigger submarines. The council took note of this intention without granting a go-ahead. The Germans were advised to put in their formal application just as soon as they had drawn up the plans for the new craft, decided on the numbers needed and had gotten the approval of the supreme Allied commander.

For several months the Germans have been studying the problem and now are preparing to submit their formal application. This process is expected to take place around September.

Informants here reported the West Germans thus far have made no formal or informal bid for an antisubmarine role in the Atlantic or any other ocean. But such a move is expected in time.

One reason is that the Soviet killer-submarine armada today is about the strongest in the world, approaching a 500-vessel level.

POSTCARD — by Stan Delaplane

American guide books usually reassure travelers that "nearly everybody speaks English."

So I was interested to read in the Michelin Guide to Spain — (Michelin prints for French readers in French) — "Don't worry. In Spain nearly everybody speaks French."

This is as unlikely as that in China nearly everybody speaks Arabic.

☆ ☆ ☆

In Spain, like all countries, what people speak is the native language. The most interesting way to speak this is over a telephone.

The Spanish long distance conferencia is a noble thing —it requires a noble nature to commence it and noblesse oblige to keep from heaving it through the window.

It appears my gallant Rosinante, my Land Rover, a vehicle designed to stop the charge of a rhinoceros, has arrived. F.O.B. Madrid.

"Agencia Land Rover, Madrid?"

"Digame!" says the faint voice from Madrid. The voice passes over the plains of Old Castille and loses some force when it reaches the northern coast.

"About that Land Rover. Can I get it sent to Santander?"

At this point, the connection switches. We get a recording that repeats over and over: "Mr. Fernandez will return at 5 o'clock on Saturday. Mr. Fernandez will return at 5 o'clock on Saturday. Mr. Fernandez etc. etc."

"Land Rover Madrid! Telefonista! Ay Dios!"

☆ ☆ ☆

My guide book does not argue that nearly everybody speaks French or anything else.

My guide book will recommend a quiet corner, a good cry and a dry sherry.

I had a Land Rover — (it is sort of a British jeep with a rhinoceros charging kit)— in France. That is, French Customs had it at Le Touquet. They would not part with it — I imagine French Customs never knows when they may have to stand for a charging rhinoceros. Maybe they wanted it handy.

I came to Madrid. The day I left Madrid for the north, the Land Rover followed me. Something like Mary and the little lamb. Wherever I go, the Land Rover is sure to go. One day behind me.

While we waited for the telephone to cool, I took a try at the government tobacco stand.

It is pretty hopeless. For weeks now, Spain has been short of American cigarettes —either legal or on the open street contrabando market.

"You wouldn't have American cigarettes, would you?"

"Certainly. What brand?"

"Do you have many?" I cried.

"All you want," said the tobacco man. He reached down cartons of L and M's, Kents, Viceroys, Salems, Oasis. "Plenty, plenty," he said.

"Mon Dieu," I said — (in Spain nearly everybody speak French) — "give me 5 cartons."

☆ ☆ ☆

A light rain was falling on the green north coast and it was cool enough for a sweater.

Santander is a pleasant town, the sea outlet of Old Castille. There are a number of big hotels at seaside Sardinero.

"Agencia Land Rover calling." (Pretty good connection.)

"We will have your Land Rover at Santander tomorrow — or the next day."

"But I am leaving this part for the mountains, 200 kilometers away!"

"I cannot hear you." (The line has faded.) "Again. We will have your Land Rover to you in Santander tomorrow."

The line breaks and a voice says: "Mr. Fernandez will return at 5 o'clock on Saturday. Mr. Fernandez will return . . ."

Don't worry. In Spain nearly everybody speaks French. So they don't know what you are saying in English anyway.

Stromer Hits Peterson 'Attack' On Legislature

State Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln Wednesday accused former Gov. Val Peterson of making an "unwarranted attack" on the Legislature by a statement Tuesday that "this has been a sad session for publicly supported education."

Speaking from the legislative floor on a point of personal privilege, Stromer charged Peterson with contradicting his own statements made as governor.

Peterson, presently a Hastings business man and member of the University of Nebraska Board of Regents, has done a disservice to Chancellor Clifford Hardin and Vice Chancellor Adam Breckenridge who have endeavored throughout to cooperate with the Legislature, Stromer said.

The ex-governor's statement "indicates contempt for this body, rather than cooperation," Stromer said.

The Legislature "is not in a mood for arm twisting force," he warned.

"I would hope that the people don't want servants of common sense to be displaced by hob-goblins of confusion," he declared.

Touching off the attack was Peterson's statement Tuesday that in the current appropriations bill, "the state teachers colleges were clobbered, university progress hobbled and the outstate public school teachers were informed that a $55 to $60 pension was adequate for 35 to 40 years of service. In addition, the Milford School of Vocational Education and the State Board of Education were elbowed."

Stromer said he was not himself completely satisfied with the treatment accorded the university but realizes Nebraska has money limitations.

The senator then read from Peterson's 1947 message to the Legislature in which the then governor noted that Nebraska "is not a wealthy state," that "money does not grow on bushes or spout out of the ground," and that in appropriations for higher education, the state must "cut the pattern according to our cloth."

Asked Stromer: "Are priorities now to be displaced by emotion?"

Stromer then quoted figures showing that during his three terms as governor, Peterson recommended less money for the university than the Legislature allowed.

"Who then wore the cloak of Scrooge?" Stromer asked.

These were figures from which Stromer quoted:

In 1947, the university asked $7,010,600, Gov. Peterson recommended $5,825,600 and the Legislature appropriated $6,597,600.

In 1949, the university asked $10 million, Gov. Peterson recommended $7.8 million and the Legislature appropriated $8 million.

In 1951, the university asked $13,582,639, Gov. Peterson recommended $11 million, and the Legislature appropriated $12.5 million.

Although the Legislature normally does not applaud floor speeches, there were a couple of hand claps when Stromer finished.

Sen. Fred O. Gottschalk of Columbus stood up to say he wished the senators "were allowed to applaud for good sensible statements. If so, I sure would applaud."

Father, Son Plan 425-Mile Bicycle Trip To Rockies

North Platte (AP)—Roger Peters and his 12-year-old son David got off a plane in North Platte and prepared for a 425-mile bicycle trip which will end up in Rocky Mountain National Park.

The father and son said they would go by way of Stapleton, Thedford, Alliance, Sterling and Fort Collins, Colo. They will meet the rest of the family in the park. Bicycling is one of the exercises recommended for David, who has cerebral palsy.

Fellow workers at television station KMTV, Omaha, where Roger Peters is an engineer, say the father and son bicycle trips have been going on for years.

Stumpf Appointed

Omaha (UPI) — The Rev. Edmund J. Stumpf, instructor and jesuit counselor in the dental school, has been named spiritual director for Creighton University. He succeeds the Rev. Leonard Piotrowski who will join the Marquette University faculty in September.

Eastern Suburbs Will Have Less Water Pressure

East Lincoln residents in the Wedgewood, Eastborough and Meadow Lane area will have reduced water pressure for approximately 18 hours Thursday.

Woodrow Livengood, city utilities business manager, said a 24-inch water feeder main will be out of service from 2 a.m. until about 9 p.m. while it is being lowered in connection with East O construction.

Livengood said area residents will have sufficient water during the period, but the decreased pressure may be noticeable.

Pospishil Sentenced

Ralston (AP) — Douglas County Judge Robert Troyer sentenced Don Pospishil, a former Ralston policeman, to 15 days in jail after finding the former officer guilty of procuring alcoholic liquor for a minor. Pospishil was charged with procuring the liquor for a 15-year-old girl. He resigned from the Ralston force after the incident.

Citizens Protest Group Hits 'Inhumane' Laws In Guiana

Georgetown, British Guiana (UPI) — A citizens protest group organized by lawyers Wednesday urged the government to revoke new laws providing sentences of life imprisonment and public flogging for looters.

The laws were called inhumane.

They were invoked by Marxist Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan to curb the violence which is continuing following the just ended 80-day general strike.

(At the United Nations, Britain Wednesday refused to permit a U.N. mission to visit British Guiana. The U.N. Colonialism Committee called for such a step two weeks ago to study ways of speeding up Guiana's independence.

(British Representative Cecil E. King told the committee that Britain has sent Commonwealth Relations Secretary Duncan Sandys to British Guiana and added, "We cannot share our responsibilities in any of our territories . . . with the United Nations.")

Bakery Bombed

A bomb exploded in a bakery shop this morning, seriously injuring the baker. Another bomb damaged a sluice gate at a dam at Providence on the east bank of Demerara, 7 miles from Georgetown.

Both blasts were considered the work of anti-government terrorists.

The citizens committee urged the "immediate revocation" of the new anti-looting laws in resolutions sent to the government, the governor, the British colonial secretary, the United Nations and the International Council of Jurists.

Chamber Attack

On another front, the government was under attack by the chamber of commerce for banning importation of petroleum products, wheat, flour, coffee and prepared milks without government permission.

One sign of the slow return to normal was the reopening of the Georgetown airport Wednesday. West Indian Airways and Pan American flights arrived and departed as usual.

The strike was called by the anti Communist Trades Union Council (TUC) to kill Jagan's labor relations bill. The bill would have allowed the secretary of labor to name bargaining agents for each industry.

Italians To Watch

Rome (AP) — A 4-man Italian scientific team will be on hand in Canada to watch a total eclipse of the sun expected there next week, the government reports.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. ... NORTH WON'T DEFEND

By DAVE WOHLFARTH
Star Sports Writer

There will be plenty of new champions crowned when the city tennis tournament winds up this weekend at the Lincoln Tennis Club.

Bill North, defending men's singles champion, will not defend his title in the tourney starting Thursday and running through Sunday.

North, a graduate student at the University of Nebraska, is busy working on a thesis and will be unable to compete. He had won 3 of the last 4 singles championships and had shared the men's doubles crown for 4 years straight.

His absence leaves the field for the men's singles title wide open with University of Nebraska players Dick Gibson and Dave Wohlfarth the top threats.

Gibson, number one man at NU, is seeded first, followed by Wohlfarth. Lou Orloff, veteran LTC performer, is seeded 3rd and Don Grant 4th. Gibson and Wohlfarth are also top ranked in men's doubles with Orloff-Ed Rowley second.

The women's singles crown will be awarded to a newcomer also as Carol French, defending women's champ, did not enter. Miss French, has won 4 of the last 5 city tourneys and the girl who interupted her domination — Sherrill Geistlinger in 1961—is out of town this summer.

Top-seeded in the women's is Ellie Lee Beckman with Carmen Hill second.

New Vet's Champ

The veterans division will have a new champ too. The age limit for the senior men's division has been upped to 45 years or older, thus eliminating Jim Porter, who has won the vet's singles trophy the last 3 years. Porter, who snared many a men's title in the early 1950's and beat North for the men's crown in 1958, is not 45 yet.

Barry Jackman, who won two vet's titles before Porter took over, appears to be the favorite in the vet's chase.

The junior boy's singles (18 and under) will have a new champ. Kile Johnson, 1962 champ, is out of the junior class and last year's runner-up, Henry Cox, leads a tough field that includes Roger Galloway, number one man at Lincoln Northeast, Rob Hurlbutt, last year's boy's (15 and under) titlist, and Howard Mann, newcomer to Lincoln from Santa Monica, Calif.

Linda Wisen , last year's junior girls winner, is too old this year and will be competing in the women's division.

The tourney will begin with junior action today at 9 a.m. Seniors will begin play at 4:30 p.m. Friday and finals are slated for Sunday at the LTC's clay courts.

There are 50 total entries in the 4-day tourney. If it rains play will be switched to the university courts.

Schwartzkopf Gals Enjoy Winning Day

... ALL 3 CAPTURE CITY GOLF MATCHES

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

A proud husband and father watched as his wife and two daughters finished their matches Wednesday in the Lincoln City Women's Golf Tournament—and all were victorious.

Wednesday was a big day for Sam Schwartzkopf and family at the Lincoln Country Club course as wife Dorothy and daughters Christie and Sue all scored victories in first round matches with Christie's win ranking high in the upset category.

"You think it was an upset?" Sam asked when he learned Christie had defeated Miriam Sanders, 2 and 1. "I knew she would do it all the time," he continued. But then the beaming father admitted that his optimism was triggered more by a father's pride than by any mystic powers.

Regardless of Sam's "I knew it would happen" attitude, his 14-year-old daughter's win over Mrs. Sanders was definitely an upset after Miriam had qualified 3rd Tuesday with an 83 while Christie came in with a 94 in qualifying for the championship flight.

Top-Notch Round

Christie had earned a spot in the regular tourney this year by winning last year's junior championship and she shot near-championship golf in winning Wednesday.

The young Lincoln golfer was only one stroke over her mother's score with a 41 for the front 9 in Wednesday's play and was only two over Dorothy's total at the end of 15 where Dorothy's match ended.

Christie's front 9 score was only 3 over par and only her mother, who is reigning state champion, had a better front 9 Wednesday as Mrs. Schwartzkopf turned in a 40.

Had Christie and Dorothy been playing each other in match play the younger Schwartzkopf would have been only one down after 15 holes which is where her mother's match with B. Jo Stiner ended with Mrs. Schwartzkopf a 5 and 3 victor.

Sue Joins Winners

Sue Schwartzkopf, the youngest of the 3 gal golfers in the family, scored a 5 and 3 win over Patsie Lynch in the junior first flight to join her mother and sister in the winners' circle.

And the 12-year-old Schwartzkopf has kept the rest of the family busy chasing her practice balls nightly.

"Sue has really gotten enthused over this tournament," Sam explained. "We have spent most of the past few evenings running down those plastic practice balls.

"She has been trying to correct her faults and is really working at it," Sam continued.

Sue then appeared and explained all the problems she had encountered with her swing during the match and after a comforting word from father was turned over to her mother.

"We'll let mother work with you this afternoon," Sam informed the 12-year-old who is taking the game seriously.

Other Winners

Joining the two Schwartzkopf's as winners in the championship bracket were Jean Hyland, Liz Murray, Mary Ann Liggett, Lou Vermass, Thelma Wood and Sara Lehman.

Two of the championship flight matches weren't decided until the final hole and another went 19 holes before ending.

Mary Ann Liggett scored a mild upset when she defeated Jane Dobson, 1-up, and Thelma Wood had to go to the final hole before winning a 1-up victory over Dorothea Gore.

Rachael Carveth forced Lou Vermass to go 19 holes before losing, 1-up.

Jean Hyland, defending champion, scored a 3 and 2 win over Vivian Black and Sara Lehman, a 3-time champion, had the easiest match of the day, taking an 8 and 7 decision over Margaret Wise.

Sisters Play

In the only match played in the juniors championship flight Wednesday, Kay Stiner won a 2 and 1 decision over her sister, Sue Stiner. The loss automatically gave Sue the consolation championship for the juniors.

Others in the juniors championship flight—Tish Walker, Pam Hilton and Barbara Hamilton—drew byes Wednesday.

The junior first flight championship will be decided today when Sue Schwartzkopf meets Melanie Bates, a 2 and 1 winner over Lynn Boyer.

Today's action starts at 8 a.m. with Jean Hyland and Liz Murray teeing off in the first match.

RODGERS, THOMSON TIE Two Shoot 67s In British Open

... PALMER FADES WITH 76

St. Anne's, England (AP)—Phil Rodgers, a wise-cracking former United States Marine, and Peter Thomson, a 4-time winner from Australia, tied for the first round lead in the British Open Golf Championship Wednesday with 3-under-par 67s—9 shots ahead of defending champion Arnold Palmer.

Palmer, a 2-1 favorite to grab his 3rd successive title, couldn't control his tee shots and wound up with a frustrating 35-41—76. This means he will be pressed to survive the second round cut Thursday when the field is reduced to the low 45 and ties.

Jack Nicklaus, the beefy U.S. Masters champion, remained in contention with 32-39—71, but the other 4 Americans, like Palmer, had trouble staying close to the par 34-36—70 of the 6,757-yard Royal Lytham and St. Anne's course.

Starting out in rainy, blustery weather and finishing in bright sunshine, Doug Sanders, the telephone-booth swinger from Ojai, Calif., and Herman Barron, U.S. U.S. seniors champion from White Plains, N.Y., each shot 75. Jack Isaacs of the Langley Air Force Base in Virginia matched Palmer's 76 and Bob Marshall, an outsider from Huntingdon Beach, Calif., shot a 79.

Potent Putter

Spectacular putting produced the brilliant pace-setting rounds by Rodgers, a 25-year-old regular of the U.S. tour, and Thomson, a diminutive stylist from Melbourne who won 4 British Opens in the space of 5 years between 1954 and 1958.

They had a stroke lead over Tom Haliburton, 48-year-old former English Ryder Cup player, and Bob Charles, a left-handed New Zealander who has won some $18,000 this year on the American tour, tied at 68.

Only two other players were able to beat St. Anne's rugged par on the wild day, which saw the weather switch abruptly from miserable rain and wind to almost absolute calm.

They were Kel Nagle, of Australia, the florid, husky Aussie who beat out Palmer by a stroke for the championship in 1960 at St. Andrews, and dark horse Ramon Sota of Spain, each with 69. Nagle shot 32-37 and Sota 34-35.

Player Has 75

Frank Phillips of Australia was even par 70 and Sewgolum Sewsunker of South Africa was close with 71. Gary Player of South Africa also had his problems and fired a scattershot 36-39—75.

Palmer's miseries were caused by a balky driver—the implement which has been principally responsible for projecting him to the pinnacle of the sport and producing all-time money-winning records.

Palmer, playing with a realigned driver, took a bogey 5 at the 4th hole, where he missed a 3-foot putt, and went over par again at the 6th. He got a stroke back with a birdie at the 8th but ran into all sorts of trouble on the tough incoming 9.

Rodgers, a sensation of the 1962 U.S. winter tour, used only 29 putts on his spectacular round.

He knocked in a 22-footer at the second hole, nailed additional birdies at the 8th and 11th with putts of 5 and 4 feet and saved his pars at the 14th and 15th with long, pressure putts. He sank from 20 feet on the 14th and from 9 feet at the 15th after scrambling to reach the green.

Leaders and U.S. scores in the first round:

Phils Bury Giants With 10-2 Setback

Philadelphia (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies, helped by loose San Francisco fielding, walloped the Giants 10-2 Wednesday night for their 3rd straight victory.

With Willie McCovey hitting his 23rd homer and Orlando Cepeda his 17th, the Giants led 2-1 after 4 innings—but their defense began to fall apart in the 5th.

Chuck Hiller missed a throw on an easy double play ball after a pair of walks, loading the bases. Roy Sievers then singled home two runs and Don Demeter singled in another, routing left-hander Billy O'Dell.

Then in the 6th, with two out and runners at first and second, McCovey dropped John Callison's high fly in left for a two-base, two-run error. Tony Gonzalez singled home Callison for a 3rd unearned run off relief pitcher Jack Fisher.

The Phillies completed the rout in the 7th off Billy Hoeft, with Tony Taylor singling home one run and Callison two more with a single.

Yanks' Maris To Undergo Surgery

New York (AP) — New York Yankee slugger Roger Maris will undergo rectal surgery later this week it was learned Wednesday and Manager Ralph Houk said the star outfielder will be out of action a week to 10 days.

"Gee, isn't this a terrible thing to happen at this time," Houk said in Los Angeles.

A club spokesman said Maris will be hospitalized 5 days following surgery Friday and will be able to play as soon after that as he feels he is ready.

Maris is scheduled to be operated on Friday by Dr. John Donaldson, a specialist, at Lenos Hill Hospital.

Oakland Exec Visits Chavez

Oakland, Calif. (AP) — The president of Stadium, Inc., Robert T. Nahas, went to Los Angeles Wednesday to study the Dodgers Chavez Ravine Stadium.

Owner Charles O. Finley of the Kansas City Athletics of the American Baseball League is reported considering a move to Oakland.

Nahas wants to see what Chavez features might be included in final plans for a 48,500-seat Oakland Coliseum complex.

The earliest completion date would be 1965.

Nahas flew to Los Angeles from Cleveland, site of Monday's major league All-Star game.

Podres Hands Mets 3-Hit, 1-0 Blanking

New York (AP)—Johnny Podres' 3-hit, 11-strikeout pitching performance and an 8-inning home run by John Roseboro produced a 1-0 victory for the Los Angeles Dodgers Wednesday night as the National League leaders handed New York's last-place Mets their 11th straight defeat.

By winning for the 8th time in their last 9 games, the Dodgers climbed 4 games ahead of the second-place San Francisco Giants, who lost 10-2 at Philadelphia.

Roseboro settled the duel between Podres and Carl Willey when he drove one of the Met right-hander's pitches into the lower right field seats at the Polo Grounds with one out in the 8th. Roseboro's homer was his 5th of the season and the 5th and last Dodger hit of the night.

Podres, 7-6, recorded his second straight shutout and now has a string of 23 scoreless innings. The 30-year-old left-hander walked two and did not allow a Met runner past second base.

The New York hits were all singles - by Tim Harkness in the 3rd, Frank Thomas in the 7th and Ron Hunt leading off the 9th.

Thomas came up with one out in the 9th and belted a drive deep to left which Tommy Davis caught up against the wall and turned into a game-ending double play. Pinch runner Al Jackson, who took off from first when the ball was hit, easily was caught by the relay.

Services For Kearns Held

Miami, Fla. (AP) — Boxing figures of the past and present paid final tribune Wednesday to Jack (Doc) Kearns, a leading figure in the sport for half a century.

Some 200 trainers, fighters, managers, seconds and admirers attended simple funeral services in suburban Coral Gables for the 80-year-old retired manager of some of boxing's greatest champions.

Pallbearers were Jack Dempsey, Joe Sherman, Chris Dundee, Bill Daly, Ted Hayes and Joe Benjamin.

Among the mourners were Willie Pastrano, Bobby Dykes, Petey Sarron and Mrs. Archie Moore. Many had flown to Miami from New York and California.

3 Favored In State Men's Golf

Alliance (AP)—Two Omahans and a Lincolnite have the favored roles in the Men's Amateur Golf Tournament opening Thursday at the Alliance Golf Club.

They are Bob Astleford and Dean Wilson of Omaha and Matt Taber of Lincoln.

Astleford is seeking his 4th championship. Wilson was the champ in 1960. Taber is the state's ace lefthanded golfer.

The chief western threat is Paul Kunzman of Alliance, another southpaw.

Astleford, after touring the course in a practice round, termed it in excellent condition and offered the suggestion that par golf—72—would be needed to land in the champion's circle. Astleford's opening practice round was 75.

The 72-hole medal play tournament calls for 18 holes Thursday and another 18 Friday. The field will then be cut to about 125 for the final 36 holes on Saturday.

Those who fail to make the grade for the championship flight will compete in 4 lower flights. The lower flights will play 18 holes Saturday.

Bowling Meeting Eyes Youngsters

A new resolution at the Nebraska State Bowling Proprietors convention in Lincoln, if adopted, may prompt increased bowling interests in the state's youth.

The resolution calls for a youth bowling program to be initiated into the state's schools as part of the physical education program.

The program, which is said to have been accepted by the Omaha, Lincoln and Valentine school systems, will be financed by the proprietors association.

...NORTH WON'T DEFEND

By DAVE WOHLFARTH
Star Sports Writer

There will be plenty of new champions crowned when the city tennis tournament winds up this weekend at the Lincoln Tennis Club.

Bill North, defending men's singles champion, will not defend his title in the tourney starting Thursday and running through Sunday.

North, a graduate student at the University of Nebraska, is busy working on a thesis and will be unable to compete. He had won 3 of the last 4 singles championships and had shared the men's doubles crown for 4 years straight.

His absence leaves the field for the men's singles title wide open with University of Nebraska players Dick Gibson and Dave Wohlfarth the top threats.

Gibson, number one man at NU, is seeded first, followed by Wohlfarth. Lou Orloff, veteran LTC performer, is seeded 3rd and Don Grant 4th. Gibson and Wohlfarth are also top ranked in men's doubles with Orloff-Ed Rowley second.

The women's singles crown will be awarded to a newcomer also as Carol French, defending women's champ, did not enter. Miss French, has won 4 of the last 5 city tourneys and the girl who interupted her domination — Sherrill Geistlinger in 1961—is out of town this summer.

Top-seeded in the women's is Ellie Lee Beckman with Carmen Hill second.

New Vet's Champ

The veterans division will have a new champ too. The age limit for the senior men's division has been upped to 45 years or older, thus eliminating Jim Porter, who has won the vet's singles trophy the last 3 years. Porter, who snared many a men's title in the early 1950's and beat North for the men's crown in 1958, is not 45 yet.

Barry Jackman, who won two vet's titles before Porter took over, appears to be the favorite in the vet's chase.

The junior boy's singles (18 and under) will have a new champ. Kile Johnson, 1962 champ, is out of the junior class and last year's runner-up, Henry Cox, leads a tough field that includes Roger Galloway, number one man at Lincoln Northeast, Rob Hurlbutt, last year's boy's (15 and under) titlist, and Howard Mann, newcomer to Lincoln from Santa Monica, Calif.

Linda Wisen, last year's junior girls winner, is too old this year and will be competing in the women's division.

The tourney will begin with junior action today at 9 a.m. Seniors will begin play at 4:30 p.m. Friday and finals are slated for Sunday at the LTC's clay courts.

There are 50 total entries in the 4-day tourney. If it rains play will be switched to the university courts.

3 Favored In State Men's Golf

Alliance (AP)—Two Omahans and a Lincolnite have the favored roles in the Men's Amateur Golf Tournament opening Thursday at the Alliance Golf Club.

They are Bob Astleford and Dean Wilson of Omaha and Matt Taber of Lincoln.

Astleford is seeking his 4th championship. Wilson was the champ in 1960. Taber is the state's ace lefthanded golfer.

The chief western threat is Paul Kunzman of Alliance, another southpaw.

Astleford, after touring the course in a practice round, termed it in excellent condition and offered the suggestion that par golf—72—would be needed to land in the champion's circle. Astleford's opening practice round was 75.

The 72-hole medal play tournament calls for 18 holes Thursday and another 18 Friday. The field will then be cut to about 125 for the final 36 holes on Saturday.

Those who fail to make the grade for the championship flight will compete in 4 lower flights. The lower flights will play 18 holes Saturday.

Bowling Meeting Eyes Youngsters

A new resolution at the Nebraska State Bowling Proprietors convention in Lincoln, if adopted, may prompt increased bowling interests in the state's youth.

The resolution calls for a youth bowling program to be initiated into the state's schools as part of the physical education program.

The program, which is said to have been accepted by the Omaha, Lincoln and Valentine school systems, will be financed by the proprietors association.

Schwartzkopf Gals Enjoy Winning Day

...ALL 3 CAPTURE CITY GOLF MATCHES

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

A proud husband and father watched as his wife and two daughters finished their matches Wednesday in the Lincoln City Women's Golf Tournament—and all were victorious.

Wednesday was a big day for Sam Schwartzkopf and family at the Lincoln Country Club course as wife Dorothy and daughters Christie and Sue all scored victories in first round matches with Christie's win ranking high in the upset category.

"You think it was an upset?" Sam asked when he learned Christie had defeated Miriam Sanders, 2 and 1. "I knew she would do it all the time," he continued. But then the beaming father admitted that his optimism was triggered more by a father's pride than by any mystic powers.

Regardless of Sam's "I knew it would happen" attitude, his 14-year-old daughter's win over Mrs. Sanders was definitely an upset after Miriam had qualified 3rd Tuesday with an 83 while Christie came in with a 94 in qualifying for the championship flight.

Top-Notch Round

Christie had earned a spot in the regular tourney this year by winning last year's junior championship and she shot near-championship golf in winning Wednesday.

The young Lincoln golfer was only one stroke over her mother's score with a 41 for the front 9 in Wednesday's play and was only two over Dorothy's total at the end of 15 where Dorothy's match ended.

Christie's front 9 score was only 3 over par and only her mother, who is reigning state champion, had a better front 9 Wednesday as Mrs. Schwartzkopf turned in a 40.

Had Christie and Dorothy been playing each other in match play the younger Schwartzkopf would have been only one down after 15 holes which is where her mother's match with B. Jo Stiner ended with Mrs. Schwartzkopf a 5 and 3 victor.

Sue Joins Winners

Sue Schwartzkopf, the youngest of the 3 gal golfers in the family, scored a 5 and 3 win over Patsie Lynch in the junior first flight to join her mother and sister in the winners' circle.

And the 12-year-old Schwartzkopf has kept the rest of the family busy chasing her practice balls nightly.

"Sue has really gotten enthused over this tournament," Sam explained. "We have spent most of the past few evenings running down those plastic practice balls.

"She has been trying to correct her faults and is really working at it," Sam continued.

Sue then appeared and explained all the problems she had encountered with her swing during the match and after a comforting word from father was turned over to her mother.

"We'll let mother work with you this afternoon," Sam informed the 12-year-old who is taking the game seriously.

Other Winners

Joining the two Schwartzkopf's as winners in the championship bracket were Jean Hyland, Liz Murray, Mary Ann Liggett, Lou Vermass, Thelma Wood and Sara Lehman.

Two of the championship flight matches weren't decided until the final hole and another went 19 holes before ending.

Mary Ann Liggett scored a mild upset when she defeated Jane Dobson, 1-up, and Thelma Wood had to go to the final hole before winning a 1-up victory over Dorothea Gore.

Rachael Carveth forced Lou Vermass to go 19 holes before losing, 1-up.

Jean Hyland, defending champion, scored a 3 and 2 win over Vivian Black and Sara Lehman, a 3-time champion, had the easiest match of the day, taking an 8 and 7 decision over Margaret Wise.

Sisters Play

In the only match played in the juniors championship flight Wednesday, Kay Stiner won a 2 and 1 decision over her sister, Sue Stiner. The loss automatically gave Sue the consolation championship for the juniors.

Others in the juniors championship flight—Tish Walker, Pam Hilton and Barbara Hamilton—drew byes Wednesday.

The junior first flight championship will be decided today when Sue Schwartzkopf meets Melanie Bates, a 2 and 1 winner over Lynn Boyer.

Today's action starts at 8 a.m. with Jean Hyland and Liz Murray teeing off in the first match.

...PALMER FADES WITH 76

St. Anne's, England (AP)—Phil Rodgers, a wise-cracking former United States Marine, and Peter Thomson, a 4-time winner from Australia, tied for the first round lead in the British Open Golf Championship Wednesday with 3-under-par 67s—9 shots ahead of defending champion Arnold Palmer.

Palmer, a 2-1 favorite to grab his 3rd successive title, couldn't control his tee shots and wound up with a frustrating 35-41—76. This means he will be pressed to survive the second round cut Thursday when the field is reduced to the low 45 and ties.

Jack Nicklaus, the beefy U.S. Masters champion, remained in contention with 32-39—71, but the other 4 Americans, like Palmer, had trouble staying close to the par 34-36—70 of the 6,757-yard Royal Lytham and St. Anne's course.

Starting out in rainy, blustery weather and finishing in bright sunshine, Doug Sanders, the telephone-booth swinger from Ojai, Calif., and Herman Barron, U.S. seniors champion from White Plains, N.Y., each shot 75. Jack Isaacs of the Langley Air Force Base in Virginia matched Palmer's 76 and Bob Marshall, an outsider from Huntingdon Beach, Calif., shot a 79.

Potent Putter

Spectacular putting produced the brilliant pace-setting rounds by Rodgers, a 25-year-old regular of the U.S. tour, and Thomson, a diminutive stylist from Melbourne who won 4 British Opens in the space of 5 years between 1954 and 1958.

They had a stroke lead over Tom Haliburton, 48-year-old former English Ryder Cup player, and Bob Charles, a left-handed New Zealander who has won some $18,000 this year on the American tour, tied at 68.

Only two other players were able to beat St. Anne's rugged par on the wild day, which saw the weather switch abruptly from miserable rain and wind to almost absolute calm.

They were Kel Nagle, of Australia, the florid, husky Aussie who beat out Palmer by a stroke for the championship in 1960 at St. Andrews, and dark horse Ramon Sota of Spain, each with 69. Nagle shot 32-37 and Sota 34-35.

Player Has 75

Frank Phillips of Australia was even par 70 and Sewgolum Sewsunker of South Africa was close with 71. Gary Player of South Africa also had his problems and fired a scattershot 36-39—75.

Palmer's miseries were caused by a balky driver—the implement which has been principally responsible for projecting him to the pinnacle of the sport and producing all-time money-winning records.

Palmer, playing with a realigned driver, took a bogey 5 at the 4th hole, where he missed a 3-foot putt, and went over par again at the 6th. He got a stroke back with a birdie at the 8th but ran into all sorts of trouble on the tough incoming 9.

Rodgers, a sensation of the 1962 U.S. winter tour, used only 29 putts on his spectacular round.

He knocked in a 22-footer at the second hole, nailed additional birdies at the 8th and 11th with putts of 5 and 4 feet and saved his pars at the 14th and 15th with long, pressure putts. He sank from 20 feet on the 14th and from 9 feet at the 15th after scrambling to reach the green.

Leaders and U.S. scores in the first round:

Phils Bury Giants With 10-2 Setback

Philadelphia (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies, helped by loose San Francisco fielding, walloped the Giants 10-2 Wednesday night for their 3rd straight victory.

With Willie McCovey hitting his 23rd homer and Orlando Cepeda his 17th, the Giants led 2-1 after 4 innings—but their defense began to fall apart in the 5th.

Chuck Hiller missed a throw on an easy double play ball after a pair of walks, loading the bases. Roy Sievers then singled home two runs and Don Demeter singled in another, routing left-hander Billy O'Dell.

Then in the 6th, with two out and runners at first and second, McCovey dropped John Callison's high fly in left for a two-base, two-run error. Tony Gonzalez singled home Callison for a 3rd unearned run off relief pitcher Jack Fisher.

The Phillies completed the rout in the 7th off Billy Hoeft, with Tony Taylor singling home one run and Callison two more with a single.

New York (AP) — New York Yankee slugger Roger Maris will undergo rectal surgery later this week it was learned Wednesday and Manager Ralph Houk said the star outfielder will be out of action a week to 10 days.

"Gee, isn't this a terrible thing to happen at this time," Houk said in Los Angeles.

Maris is scheduled to be operated on Friday by Dr. John Donaldson, a specialist, at Lenox Hill Hospital.

Podres Hands Mets 3-Hit, 1-0 Blanking

New York (AP)—Johnny Podres' 3-hit, 11-strikeout pitching performance and an 8-inning home run by John Roseboro produced a 1-0 victory for the Los Angeles Dodgers Wednesday night as the National League leaders handed New York's last-place Mets their 11th straight defeat.

By winning for the 8th time in their last 9 games, the Dodgers climbed 4 games ahead of the second-place San Francisco Giants, who lost 10-2 at Philadelphia.

Roseboro settled the duel between Podres and Carl Willey when he drove one of the Met right-hander's pitches into the lower right field seats at the Polo Grounds with one out in the 8th. Roseboro's homer was his 5th of the season and the 5th and last Dodger hit of the night.

Podres, 7-6, recorded his second straight shutout and now has a string of 23 scoreless innings. The 30-year-old left-hander walked two and did not allow a Met runner past second base.

The New York hits were all singles - by Tim Harkness in the 3rd, Frank Thomas in the 7th and Ron Hunt leading off the 9th.

Thomas came up with one out in the 9th and belted a drive deep to left which Tommy Davis caught up against the wall and turned into a game-ending double play. Pinch runner Al Jackson, who took off from first when the ball was hit, easily was caught by the relay.

Roberts Wins Legion Thriller

Hoy's 10th Inning Blast Peps 11-10 Triumph Over Optimists

By DON SUMMERSIDE
Star Sports Writer

Terry Hoy's two-out line shot over the 3rd base sack with the bases loaded in the 10th inning gave Roberts a come-from-behind 11-10 win over the Optimists Wednesday night in a ragged intra-city struggle.

A 14-error defensive disaster by the Optimists allowed Roberts to wipe out a 9-2 deficit and come up with 11 runs on just 6 hits. Only two of the Roberts tallies were earned.

The Optimists began the game with a roar, scoring in each of the first 5 innings, and seemed to have things well in hand with a 9-2 advantage going into the bottom of the 5th. But Optimists starter Les Tyrrell ran into control trouble and his 3 walks combined with a single and a dropped fly for 3 more Roberts runs.

Roberts pulled to within two, 9-7, with two runs in the 6th and drove Tyrrell from the mound with a 3-run outburst in the 7th.

The Optimists retaliated by knocking out Roberts starter Rick Knapp with 3 singles and a run in the top of the 8th to knot the score again, 10-10.

Relievers Harry Leth of Roberts and Jerry Motz of the Optimists matched scoreless frames until the decisive 10th.

Roberts' Bill Rohrig opened the bottom of the 10th by gaining first on an error. Motz then juggled Mike Jennings' sacrifice bunt and both runners were safe. Jeff Kushner moved the runners up a notch with another sacrifice and, after Rod Stall had fanned, Norm Vant walked to load the bases and set up Hoy's winning blow.

Leth gave up one run and 3 hits in his 3-inning stint to even his season's record at 3-3. The loss was Motz' first decision.

Most of the hitting laurels went to the losers, who banged out 16 safeties. Stan Grell rapped a single, double and triple in 6 appearances and drove in 3 runs. Chuck Turek added a double and Dwayne Staberg a 3-bagger and Motz was 4-6 at the plate.

Roberts copped the contest without the aid of an extra-base hit. Doug Dworak and Knapp each plated a pair of runs.

Roberts is now 6-10 in Cornhusker Legion play; the Optimists stand at 5-7.

The Optimists return to action again tonight with an 8 p.m. contest at Sherman Field against Hastings.

Shrine Profiles

ROD MELROY

Rod Melroy, who split his high school athletic time between football and wrestling, is one of two Holdrege gridders on the South Shrine Bowl roster.

Melroy

Melroy was a two-time all-Southwest Conference lineman and earned all-state honorable mention.

He won 3 conference wrestling titles and was state Class B 180-pound king as a sophomore.

He carries 215 pounds now, however, and is expected to be a mainstay in the South forward wall.

He lists football as his favorite sport and is keeping in shape for the Shrine Bowl camp by spending the summer as a construction worker.

He'll wear No. 69 for the South team.

LeROY KOBZA

LeRoy Kobza, one of a long line of football standouts from David City, adds strength to the North line.

Kobza

Kobza was a two-time Class B all-star letter at Aquinas High School in David City, seeing duty both as a guard and end.

He was a 3-time letter winner under coach Eugene Pillen, an assistant coach on the North team last year.

The 6-0, 200-pounder is farming this summer.

Kobza is his school's only representative on the North team this year. He'll wear jersey No. 68.

Two Cincy Relievers Pitch Reds To Win

. . . CUBS' RALLY FAILS

Cincinnati (AP)—Al Worthington and Bill Henry put down a 9th-inning threat with a tight bit of relief Wednesday night, preserving the Cincinnati Reds' 3-1 decision over the Chicago Cubs and Joey Jay's first pitching victory in over a month.

Worthington replaced Jay with one out in the 9th after a walk and Dick Bartell's double. Andre Rodgers walked, loading the bases, before pinch hitter Leo Burke lined out. Henry then came on and fanned pinch batter Steve Boros for the final out.

Stuart Hits 2 Homers For Boston

Minneapolis-St. Paul (AP)—Dick Stuart's 3-run home run in the 10th inning, his second homer of the game, powered Boston to a 7-4 victory over Minnesota Wednesday night.

The first baseman drove in 5 runs with the two blows.

Stuart blasted a delivery by Twin relief ace Bill Dailey into the left field bleachers with two out in the 10th. It ended Dailey's string of scoreless innings at 24 and tagged the Twins with their 7th defeat in 8 games.

Dick Radatz, lifted for a pinch hitter in the top of the 10th, blanked the Twins on one hit in three innings of relief and picked up his 9th victory in 10 decisions. Jack Lamabe pitched the 10th for the Red Sox and preserved the triumph.

The homers were Stuart's 18th and 19th of this season, and his first in 21 games. He had not driven in a run for 11 games.

Good Quail Crop Expected In Fall

A continuation of favorable hatching weather will result in a good quail season this fall according to Game Commission technicians.

"Both conservation officers and game technicians are observing more singles and pairs in the field than were seen last year," said M. O. Steen, Game Commission director. The early indications, based upon the annual "whistle count" point toward a significant increase in the number of quail in certain portions of their range.

Colts Blank Pirates, 2-0

Pittsburgh (AP)—The Houston Colts jumped on Pittsburgh pitcher Bob Friend for two runs in the first inning Wednesday night and went on to defeat the Pirates 2-0 behind the combined pitching of Ken Johnson and Hal Woodeshick.

Woodshick, who pitched in the All-Star game Tuesday, relieved Johnson with the bases loaded in the 8th inning and struck out Smoky Burgess to retire the side.

Ernie Fazio opened the Houston first with a double. He moved to 3rd on Al Spangler's infield hit and scored on Pete Runnel's single to left, which also moved Spangler to 3rd. Carl Warwick then grounded to 3rd and Spangler beat Bob Bailey's throw to the plate.

Scottsbluff JC Official Affirms Athletic Setup

Scottsbluff (UPI) — Local concern over Scottsbluff Junior College's athletic recruiting program is real, a school official confirmed today.

Bernard L. Goerke, college treasurer, said a group of local citizens, mostly businessmen, have prodded the school board to de-emphasize athletics and drop the football program altogether.

But, Goerke said, the board has rejected the appeal and decided to continue football at the junior college "for another year at least."

Last week a group of businessmen complained to the board that out-of-state athletes on scholarships at the college were not paying their bills. The board said it would not ask athletic recruiting be curtailed and earlier approved a resolution sahing it would not ask for a change in policy.

Earlier this week, Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff said he understands the school is subsidizing out-of-state athletes from as far away as New York to the tune of $35,000 per year. He contended this was too much for local residents to pay for an "athlete factory" and that quality education was suffering as a result.

Goerke said he did not know to what extent out-of-state athletes were being subsidized.

"A group of citizens asked the board to take a look at the athletic program and specifically cut out football," he said, "but, to my knowledge, nothing has happened yet."

Goerke declined to give his opinion on the effect of the athletic program on the school's education program.

Scottsbluff and McCook Junior Colleges have gone in heavily for recruiting in recent years. As a result, they have outclassed their eastern rivals in the state junior college league — Norfolk and Fairbury.

Scottsbluff JC is known nationally as the school that produced pro football star Dick (Night Train) Lane.

Roberts Wins Legion Thriller

Hoy's 10th Inning Blast Peps 11-10 Triumph Over Optimists

By DON SUMMERSIDE
Star Sports Writer

Terry Hoy's two-out line shot over the 3rd base sack with the bases loaded in the 10th inning gave Roberts a come-from-behind 11-10 win over the Optimists Wednesday night in a ragged intra-city struggle.

A 14-error defensive disaster by the Optimists allowed Roberts to wipe out a 9-2 deficit and come up with 11 runs on just 6 hits. Only two of the Roberts tallies were earned.

The Optimists began the game with a roar, scoring in each of the first 5 innings, and seemed to have things well in hand with a 9-2 advantage going into the bottom of the 5th. But Optimists starter Les Tyrrell ran into control trouble and his 3 walks combined with a single and a dropped fly for 3 more Roberts runs.

Roberts pulled to within two, 9-7, with two runs in the 6th and drove Tyrrell from the mound with a 3-run outburst in the 7th.

The Optimists retaliated by knocking out Roberts starter Rick Knapp with 3 singles and a run in the top of the 8th to knot the score again, 10-10.

Relievers Harry Leth of Roberts and Jerry Motz of the Optimists matched scoreless frames until the decisive 10th.

Roberts' Bill Rohrig opened the bottom of the 10th by gaining first on an error. Motz then juggled Mike Jennings' sacrifice bunt and both runners were safe. Jeff Kushner moved the runners up a notch with another sacrifice and, after Rod Stall had fanned, Norm Vant walked to load the bases and set up Hoy's winning blow.

Leth gave up one run and 3 hits in his 3-inning stint to even his season's record at 3-3. The loss was Motz' first decision.

Most of the hitting laurels went to the losers, who banged out 16 safeties. Stan Grell rapped a single, double and triple in 6 appearances and drove in 3 runs. Chuck Turek added a double and Dwayne Staberg a 3-bagger and Motz was 4-6 at the plate.

Roberts copped the contest without the aid of an extra-base hit. Doug Dworak and Knapp each plated a pair of runs.

Roberts is now 6-10 in Cornhusker Legion play; the Optimists stand at 5-7.

The Optimists return to action again tonight with an 8 p.m. contest at Sherman Field against Hastings.

Two Cincy Relievers Pitch Reds To Win

. . . CUBS' RALLY FAILS

Cincinnati (AP)—Al Worthington and Bill Henry put down a 9th-inning threat with a tight bit of relief Wednesday night, preserving the Cincinnati Reds' 3-1 decision over the Chicago Cubs and Joey Jay's first pitching victory in over a month.

Worthington replaced Jay with one out in the 9th after a walk and Dick Bartell's double. Andre Rodgers walked, loading the bases, before pinch hitter Leo Burke lined out. Henry then came on and fanned pinch batter Steve Boros for the final out.

Stuart Hits 2 Homers For Boston

Minneapolis-St. Paul (AP) — Dick Stuart's 3-run home run in the 10th inning, his second homer of the game, powered Boston to a 7-4 victory over Minnesota Wednesday night.

The first baseman drove in 5 runs with the two blows.

Stuart blasted a delivery by Twin relief ace Bill Dailey into the left field bleachers with two out in the 10th. It ended Dailey's string of scoreless innings at 24 and tagged the Twins with their 7th defeat in 8 games.

Dick Radatz, lifted for a pinch hitter in the top of the 10th, blanked the Twins on one hit in three innings of relief and picked up his 9th victory in 10 decisions. Jack Lamabe pitched the 10th for the Red Sox and preserved the triumph.

The homers were Stuart's 18th and 19th of this season, and his first in 21 games. He had not driven in a run for 11 games.

Good Quail Crop Expected In Fall

A continuation of favorable hatching weather will result in a good quail season this fall according to Game Commission technicians.

"Both conservation officers and game technicians are observing more singles and pairs in the field than were seen last year," said M. O. Steen, Game Commission director. The early indications, based upon the annual "whistl' c unt" point toward a significant increase in the number of quail i certain portions of their range.

Colts Blank Pirates, 2-0

Pittsburgh (AP)—The Houston Colts jumped on Pittsburgh pitcher Bob Friend for two runs in the first inning Wednesday night and went on to defeat the Pirates 2-0 behind the combined pitching of Ken Johnson and Hal Woodeshick.

Woodshick, who pitched in the All-Star game Tuesday, relieved Johnson with the bases loaded in the 8th inning and struck out Smoky Burgess to retire the side.

Ernie Fazio opened the Houston first with a double. He moved to 3rd on Al Spangler's infield hit and scored on Pete Runnel's single to left, which also moved Spangler to 3rd. Carl Warwick then grounded to 3rd and Spangler beat Bob Bailey's throw to the plate.

Scottsbluff JC Official Affirms Athletic Setup

Scottsbluff (UPI) — Local concern over Scottsbluff Junior College's athletic recruiting program is real, a school official confirmed today.

Bernard L. Goerke, college treasurer, said a group of local citizens, mostly businessmen, have prodded the school board to de-emphasize athletics and drop the football program altogether.

But, Goerke said, the board has rejected the appeal and decided to continue football at the junior college "for another year at least."

Last week a group of businessmen complained to the board that out-of-state athletes on scholarships at the college were not paying their bills. The board said it would not ask athletic recruiting be curtailed and earlier approved a resolution saying it would not ask for a change in policy.

Earlier this week, Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff said he understands the school is subsidizing out-of-state athletes from as far away as New York to the tune of $35,000 per year. He contended this was too much for local residents to pay for an "athlete factory" and that quality education was suffering as a result.

Goerke said he did not know to what extent out-of-state athletes were being subsidized.

"A group of citizens asked the board to take a look at the athletic program and specifically cut out football," he said, "but, to my knowledge, nothing has happened yet."

Goerke declined to give his opinion on the effect of the athletic program on the school's education program.

Scottsbluff and McCook Junior Colleges have gone in heavily for recruiting in recent years. As a result, they have outclassed their eastern rivals in the state junior college league — Norfolk and Fairbury.

Scottsbluff JC is known nationally as the school that produced pro football star Dick (Night Train) Lane.

Shrine Profiles

ROD MELROY

Rod Melroy, who split his high school athletic time between football and wrestling, is one of two Holdrege gridders on the South Shrine Bowl roster.

Melroy

Melroy was a two-time all-Southwest Conference lineman and earned all-state honorable mention.

He won 3 conference wrestling titles and was state Class B 180-pound king as a sophomore.

He carries 215 pounds now, however, and is expected to be a mainstay in the South forward wall.

He lists football as his favorite sport and is keeping in shape for the Shrine Bowl camp by spending the summer as a construction worker.

He'll wear No. 69 for the South team.

LeROY KOBZA

LeRoy Kobza, one of a long line of football standouts from David City, adds strength to the North line.

Kobza

Kobza was a two-time Class B all-state letter winner at Aquinas High School in David City, seeing duty both as a guard and end.

He was a 3-time letter winner under coach Eugene Pillen, an assistant coach on the North team last year.

The 6-0, 200-pounder is farming this summer.

Kobza is his school's only representative on the North team this year. He'll wear jersey No. 68.

State Pension System OK'd

Nebraska's Legislature gave final blessing Wednesday to a state retirement system for all state employes not already covered by separate retirement systems.

Approved 37-2 was LB512, introduced at the request of Gov. Frank Morrison by Sens. Don McGinley of Ogallala, Michael Russillo of Omaha, Fern Orme of Lincoln, Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, Cecil Craft of North Platte and Richard Lysinger of Ravenna.

The retirement system takes effect next Jan. 1, and will be provided via a group annuity contract entered into with one or more life insurance companies authorized to do business in Nebraska.

State employes will contribute 3% of their monthly salaries until they have paid $144 in a calendar year, and thereafter will pay 6% of their salary into the retirement fund for the remainder of the year. An assessment of 1% to fund prior service benefits also will be made.

An employe may elect to retire at 65—or at 60 if he has 30 years of service—and retirement becomes mandatory at 68.

The pending budget bill contains a $631,500 appropriation to pay the state's cost of matching employe contributions of those employes whose salaries are paid from the State General Fund.

The list of bills passed Wednesday (E-emergency clause):

LB82 (Bridenbaugh, Hasebroock, (Brandt)—Recodifying laws dealing with activities of the Nebraska State Railway Commission. (41-0).

LB807 (Budget Committee)—Submitting to voters in 1964 constitutional amendments revising the duties of certain state executive officers with respect to issuing state warrants. (38-0).

LB512 (McGinley, Russillo, Orme, Carpenter, Craft, Lysinger, upon recommendation of the governor)—Establishing a state retirement system for all state employes not already covered by retirement plans. (37-2).

LB509 (Marvel)—Providing that a committee of 5 legislators, chosen by the Legislative Council, shall recommend persons for employment as legislative staff members and employes. (38-0).

LB639 (Stromer, Orme)—Revising the retirement system for firemen and policemen in Lincoln. (E). (40-0).

LB739 (McGinley)—Revising law regarding registration of trucks to base rates on gross weight instead of net load. (30-0).

LB261 (Education Committee)—Providing procedures for the formation of Class VI school districts and procedures for attachment to a school district of territory not included in any organized district. (E). (38-0).

State Office Space Study Is Proposed

The Legislature Wednesday approved 29-0 a resolution calling for an interim Legislative Council study of need for an additional state office building and uses of the present Capitol.

The resolution was introduced Tuesday by Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly and recommended for adoption by the Legislative Council executive board.

Lengthy Railway Commission Bill Passed

One of the current session's lengthier bills, an 84-page measure recodifying Nebraska State Railway Commission laws, was passed on final reading in the State Legislature Wednesday.

The bill, LB82, grew out of interim studies by a Legislative Council committee headed by Sen. Hal Bridenbaugh of Dakota City and was introduced by Sens. Bridenbaugh, W. H. Hasebroock of West Point and William B. Brandt of Unadilla.

The measure had to be read aloud in its entirety on final reading to satisfy constitutional requirements. Legislative Clerk Hugo Srb and his assistant, Duane Hubbard, alternated on the reading chore.

The bill received 41-0 approval and goes next to Gov. Frank Morrison for signature into law.

Israel Seeks Peace With Arabs

Jerusalem, Israeli Sector (AP)—Prime Minister Levi Eshkol aimed a peace offensive at United Arab Republic President Nasser Wednesday, saying he was ready to meet the Arab leader anytime or any place for peace talks.

In his first news conference since becoming prime minister June 24, Eshkol expressed Israel's preparedness "to discuss either an over-all peace settlement or solution of any specific problem that has arisen between ourselves and the Arabs."

Since he read from a prepared list of answers to questions submitted to him by newsmen several days ago, Eshkol's comments had the weight of an authoritative document.

Such peace overtures have been made before by Israeli leaders, including recently resigned Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion, but Israel and its Middle East neighbors have remained bitter enemies.

At the time he took office last month, Eshkol said his new government would "strive for peace and true cooperation between the peoples of our area."

His new statement went further.

"I am confident that if only we could meet face to face, the Arab leaders would soon find that peace is in the best interests of us all, and that differences can be ironed out by negotiation and discussion," said Eshkol.

Israel's conditions for meeting with Nasser or other Arab leaders, said Eshkol. would be that the talks be held "on a basis of mutual respect and recognition of the territorial integrity of the states of the region."

While saying it is his wish to see Israel and neighbors devoting their resources to peaceful development, Eshkol stressed: "It is still essential to keep Israel strong to deter any attack upon her."

Israel Seeks Peace With Arabs

Jerusalem, Israeli Sector (AP)—Prime Minister Levi Eshkol aimed a peace offensive at United Arab Republic President Nasser Wednesday, saying he was ready to meet the Arab leader anytime or any place for peace talks.

In his first news conference since becoming prime minister June 21, Eshkol expressed Israel's preparedness "to discuss either an over-all peace settlement or solution of any specific problem that has arisen between ourselves and the Arabs."

Since he read from a prepared list of answers to questions submitted to him by newsmen several days ago, Eshkol's comments had the weight of an authoritative document.

Such peace overtures have been made before by Israeli leaders, including recently resigned Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion, but Israel and its Middle East neighbors have remained bitter enemies.

At the time he took office last month, Eshkol said his new government would "strive for peace and true cooperation between the peoples of our area."

His new statement went further.

"I am confident that if only we could meet face to face, the Arab leaders would soon find that peace is in the best interests of us all, and that differences can be ironed out by negotiation and discussion," said Eshkol.

Israel's conditions for meeting with Nasser or other Arab leaders, said Eshkol, would be that the talks be held "on a basis of mutual respect and recognition of the territorial integrity of the states of the region."

While saying it is his wish to see Israel and neighbors devoting their resources to peaceful development, Eshkol stressed: "It is still essential to keep Israel strong to deter any attack upon her."

Farm-Labor Rally Slated Here July 27

Rural and urban representatives met in Lincoln Wednesday to firm up plans for a Farm-Labor Rally which is expected to draw 1,000 persons to the Capital City July 27.

Dean Gaskill, of Schuyler, farm representative, and Harry Marvin, of Omaha, labor delegate, head the Nebraska Farm-Labor Coordinating Committee, sponsored by organized farm and labor groups.

The 6:30 p.m. rally in Pershing Auditorium is geared to an educational pace, they said, and will feature 3 national speakers:

—Erhard Pfingsten, vice president of the National Farmers' Organization; native Nebraskan and Sergeant Bluff, Iowa, farmer.

—Bob Roberts, assistant director of the United Automobile, Aerospace and Agricultural Workers, Borg-Wagner department.

Marvin

Gaskill

—Dr. Neil Danberg, regional director of the National Conference of Christians and Jews in Omaha.

Common Problems

The co-chairmen stressed that while the rally is to be hosted by organized labor and farm groups, the meeting is directed entirely toward the theme of "Common Problems —Common Goals" of the urban and rural segments of our economy.

They said the committee was composed of a cross-section of rural and urban representatives who sought to break artificial barriers which have formed between the two groups.

A similar committee has been established in each state of this United Packing House and Allied Workers (UPAW) district, according to Martin Pardekooper Jr. of Des Moines, UPAW program director.

"This is to fill the need for an on-going relationship between the sporadic farmer-labor relation groups.

"This does not supercede any previously established and independent farm or labor organization," he stressed.

OTOE WOMAN CRITICALLY INJURED IN UTAH CRASH

Cedar City, Utah (UPI) — Eight persons were injured, two critically, Thursday afternoon in a 3-car accident resulting from a blown tire near here.

Trooper Gordon Farnsworth, Utah Highway Patrol, said a station wagon driven by 51-year-old Jean Lewis of Duarte, Calif., blew a tire and swerved into the line of oncoming traffic, crashing head-on into a car driven by Louis L. Tritsch, 48, Otoe, Neb. A third car, driven by A. L. Gault, 66, Los Angeles, also crashed into the Lewis car.

Farnsworth said Mrs. Lewis's husband, Macklain, was taken to the Valley View Medical Center in Cedar City where he was listed in critical condition. Also in critical condition was Ruby L. Tritsch, 47, wife of the driver of the second car.

Six other persons injured in the accident were listed in good condition in the Cedar City hospital. The Gault family was not injured.

The trooper said the Lewis car burned after the crash but no one was injured from the fire.

A 6-horse-power engine, inaudible 100 feet away, is being developed for the Army at Fort Belvoir. The engine will drive high-speed alternators in front-line areas.

SOUTH CAROLINA U. MUST INTEGRATE

Columbia, S.C. (AP) — U.S. Judge J. Robert Martin of Greenville ordered in separate rulings Wednesday the admission of Negro coed Henri Monteith to all-white University of South Carolina and the integration of state-operated parks.

Judge Martin ordered Miss Monteith admitted to the university "with the opening of the next semester and that she be treated as any other student . . ."

His order enjoined the university "from discriminating against the plaintiff (Miss Monteith) or any other Negro applicant similarly situated . . . solely because of his or her race."

Gantt Ruling

Martin cited rulings by the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals which, in January, ordered the admission of Charleston Negro Harvey B. Gantt to Clemson College.

Gantt was the first Negro to attend a previously all-white state-supported college in South Carlina since Reconstruction days.

Miss Monteith, 17, is the daughter of a Columbia school teacher. She applied for admission to the University of South Carolina last year, but was rejected and later enrolled at the College of Notre Dame for Women in Baltimore.

'Delighted'

The Negro coed could not be reached, but her mother, Mrs. R. R. Monteith, said she had left a statement saying:

"I am delighted to know the decision of the judge is favorable. Since this is a class action I hope that many Negro youths will avail themselves of the opportunity to attend any tax-supported institution in South Carolina."

Miss Monteith is a premedical student and plans to be a doctor—plans which could take her, after graduation from the University of South Carolina, to the state-supported medical college at Charleston. She works as a nurse's aid in Providence Hospital, a Catholic institution in Columbia which now treats only whites, during summers.

In the parks order, Martin stipulated that integration of state parks not become effective until 60 days from now. That would mean Negroes could not be admitted to the parks before mid-September.

Reverse 2 Convictions Handed Bearden

New Orleans (UPI) — A U.S. appeals court Wednesday reversed kidnpaing and airplane theft convictions handed Leon Bearden, 38, who hijacked a jetliner over New Mexico two years ago and tried to force the pilot to fly to Cuba.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld Bearden's conviction on charges of obstructing interstate commerce.

Bearden and his 16-year-old son Cody were captured aboard the Continental Airlines airplane at El Paso, Tex., Aug. 3, 1961, after a nationally-televised battle with federal, state and local law enforcement officers.

The court ordered Bearden's conviction on kidnaping and airplane theft reversed on grounds that the trial court judge failed to properly instruct the jury. A new trial was ordered on those two counts.

Bearden was convicted of boarding the airplane at Phoenix, pulling a gun on the pilot and ordering him to fly the jetliner to Cuba. He later said he intended to sell the plane to Fidel Castro.

The airplane landed at El Paso when the pilot insisted he would have to refuel before he could make the long hop to Cuba.

When the plane tried to take off, U.S. agents shot the tires out to keep it on the ground. Bearden and his son were eventually overpowered.

Ike Challenges U. S. Domination Idea

New York (AP)—Former President Dwight Eisenhower Wednesday sharply challenged the idea that the United States wants to dominate Europe. European leaders agreed with him.

Their remarks came on a televised "Town Meeting of the World," featuring statesmen of various countries, and relayed live to this country via Telstar.

In response to a question from a studio audience, Eisenhower declared: "The charge that one nation, the United States, although rich and strong," seeks to dominate Europe "is baseless."

Eden Agrees

Anthony Eden, former British prime minister, in London, concurred. "I don't believe the people of my country think the United States wants to dominate Europe, nor does anybody else."

From Bonn, Henrich von Bretano, majority leader of the German Bundestag, also agreed, saying that American help has "made German and European recovery possible" since World War II.

The program, marking the first anniversary of Telstar, featured a lively tiff between Eden and Jean Monnet, in Brussels, often called the "father of the Common Market" in Europe.

Britain Criticized

Monnet criticized the British government for maintaining nuclear power as a "national deterrent," and said that "no national deterrent is possible" in today's world.

Eden shot back that Britain had handed its nuclear strength to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

"But you can withdraw it," Monnet said.

Replied Eden: "Our position is exactly the same as the United States.' We placed our whole deterrent at the disposal of NATO. The United States has placed part of its deterrent."

'Certain Moment'

Monnet again pointed out that Britain retained the right to withdraw its nuclear strength, "if at a certain moment" it wished to do so.

That could happen "only in the greatest of emergencies," Eden said. Britain has "always pooled" its military strength with its allies, and "we aren't then going to go off on our own."

"Just the same, you can withdraw it," Monnet insisted, arguing that none of the free world allies should have such a unilateral right.

Eisenhower chipped in that he agreed with Eden, and said that Monnet's worries were not justified.

All the participants voiced hope for closer European union, in partnership with the United States.

Eden also urged that the richer free-world countries, faced with the problem of increasing food surpluses, launch a major consultation to plan how to channel these surpluses in the world where many people are hungry.

Ike Challenges U. S. Domination Idea

New York (AP)—Former President Dwight Eisenhower Wednesday sharply challenged the idea that the United States wants to dominate Europe. European leaders agreed with him.

Their remarks came on a televised "Town Meeting of the World," featuring statesmen of various countries, and relayed live to this country via Telstar.

In response to a question from a studio audience, Eisenhower declared: "The charge that one nation, the United States, although rich and strong," seeks to dominate Europe "is baseless."

Eden Agrees

Anthony Eden, former British prime minister, in London, concurred. "I don't believe the people of my country think the United States wants to dominate Europe, nor does anybody else."

From Bonn, Henrich von Bretano, majority leader of the German Bundestag, also agreed, saying that American help has "made German and European recovery possible" since World War II.

The program, marking the first anniversary of Telstar, featured a lively tiff between Eden and Jean Monnet, in Brussels, often called the "father of the Common Market" in Europe.

Britain Criticized

Monnet criticized the British government for maintaining nuclear power as a "national deterrent," and said that "no national deterrent is possible" in today's world.

Eden shot back that Britain had handed its nuclear strength to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

"But you can withdraw it," Monnet said.

Replied Eden: "Our position is exactly the same as the United States.' We placed our whole deterrent at the disposal of NATO. The United States has placed part of its deterrent."

'Certain Moment'

Monnet again pointed out that Britain retained the right to withdraw its nuclear strength, "if at a certain moment" it wished to do so.

That could happen "only in the greatest of emergencies," Eden said. Britain has "always pooled" its military strength with its allies, and "we aren't then going to go off on our own."

"Just the same, you can withdraw it," Monnet insisted, arguing that none of the free world allies should have such a unilateral right.

Eisenhower chipped in that he agreed with Eden, and said that Monnet's worries were not justified.

All the participants voiced hope for closer European union, in partnership with the United States.

Eden also urged that the richer free-world countries, faced with the problem of increasing food surpluses, launch a major consultation to plan how to channel these surpluses in the world where many people are hungry.

Rails Climb On Irregular Mart

New York (AP)—Rails advanced in the face of a threatened railroad strike and the overall stock market declined irregularly Wednesday. Airlines and selected issues were strong.

Not until after the close of trading at the New York Stock Exchange did the news come that the nationwide walkout had been postponed. Rail stocks, however, acted most of the day as if a reprieve were inevitable.

The list worked lower in the morning but was about on an even keel by midsession. It settled a bit lower later on.

The rail section of the list remained strong until the end. Airlines also staged a rally on their own. These stocks were buoyed by news that Trans World Airlines had broken all passenger records for the company in June.

Volume of 3.74 million shares compared with 3.83 million Tuesday.

The Dow Jones industrial average took a moderate loss of 1.97 at 712.12. The Dow Jones average of 20 rails advanced.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .3 to 272.3—a trifling decline—with industrials off 1.2, rails up 1.2, and utilities off .4.

Of 1,322 issues traded, 595 declined and 428 advanced. New highs for the year totaled 43 and low lows 24.

Chrysler was far and away the most active stock, losing ¾ at 60¾ on 140,200 shares. Second most active was Pennsylvania Railroad, up ½ at 19¾ on 91,900 shares.

Among other rails, Southern Railway gained 1 while Chicago & North Western, New York Central, Chesapeake & Ohio, Southern Pacific, were among fractional gainers.

As the airlines rallied, TWA gained ¾, Eastern ⅝, United ⅛, Pan American and American Airlines ¼ each.

American Stock Exchange prices worked irregularly higher. Volume was 1.47 million shares compared with 1.2 million Tuesday.

Corporate bonds were mixed in light trading. U.S. government bonds made their best gain in about seven weeks as a raise in the Federal Reserve Board discount rate seemed to appear less likely.

Grain Futures Post Small Gains, Losses

Chicago (AP) — Dull trading in the grain futures market ended Wednesday on a mixture of mostly small losses and gains.

Wheat posted the broadest losses, running to more than three cents on the 1964 crop contracts, and rye the best gains which amounted to more than a cent at the extreme.

Trade volumne probably was the smallest in several weeks as speculators were reluctant to extend commitments significantly either way in view of the threatened rail strike and issuance of the government's July crop report.

After the Board of Trade closed, President Kennedy announced that there would be no strike. He said rail and union officials had accepted his proposal to delay the strike over work rules until July 29.

At the close, wheat was ⅝-3¼ cents a bushel lower, July $1.82⅛; corn ⅝ higher to ⅛ lower, July $1.30; oats ½ lower to ⅛ higher, July 67⅞ cents; rye ⅝-1½ higher, July $1.27; soybeans ¾ higher to ½ lower, July $2.65½-¾.

Rails Climb On Irregular Mart

New York (AP)—Rails advanced in the face of a threatened railroad strike and the overall stock market declined irregularly Wednesday. Airlines and selected issues were strong.

Not until after the close of trading at the New York Stock Exchange did the news come that the nationwide walkout had been postponed. Rail stocks, however, acted most of the day as if a reprieve were inevitable.

The list worked lower in the morning but was about on an even keel by midsession. It settled a bit lower later on.

The rail section of the list remained strong until the end. Airlines also staged a rally on their own. These stocks were buoyed by news that Trans World Airlines had broken all passenger records for the company in June.

Volume of 3.74 million shares compared with 3.83 million Tuesday.

The Dow Jones industrial average took a moderate loss of 1.97 at 712.12. The Dow Jones average of 20 rails advanced.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .3 to 272.3—a trifling decline—with industrials off 1.2, rails up 2.2, and utilities off .6.

Of 1,322 issues traded, 585 declined and 428 advanced. New highs for the year totaled 43 and new lows 24.

Chrysler was far and away the most active stock, losing ¾ at 60¾ on 140,200 shares. Second most active was Pennsylvania Railroad, up ⅝ at 19¼ on 91,900 shares.

Among other rails, Southern Railway gained 1 while Chicago & North Western, New York Central, Chesapeake & Ohio, Southern Pacific, were among fractional gainers.

As the airlines rallied, TWA gained ⅝, Eastern ⅝, United ⅛, Pan American and American Airlines ¼ each.

American Stock Exchange prices worked irregularly higher. Volume was 1.47 million shares compared with 1.3 million Tuesday.

Corporate bonds were mixed in light trading. U.S. government bonds made their best gain in about seven weeks as a raise in the Federal Reserve Board discount rate seemed to appear less likely.

Grain Futures Post Small Gains, Losses

Chicago (AP) — Dull trading in the grain futures market ended Wednesday on a mixture of mostly small losses and gains.

Wheat posted the broadest losses, running to more than three cents on the 1964 crop contracts, and rye the best gains which amounted to more than a cent at the extreme.

Trade volumne probably was the smallest in several weeks as speculators were reluctant to extend commitments significantly either way in view of the threatened rail strike and issuance of the government's July crop report.

After the Board of Trade closed, President Kennedy announced that there would be no strike. He said rail and union officials had accepted his proposal to delay the strike over work rules until July 20.

At the close, wheat was ⅝-¾¢ cents a bushel lower, July $1.82¼; corn ⅝ higher to ⅛ lower, July $1.30; oats ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, July 67⅞ cents; rye ¾-1¼ higher, July $1.27; soybeans ¾ higher to ½ lower, July $2.65½-¾.
